U.S. Re-Examines Disarmament

Hope To Avoid Soviet Rejection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is re-examining its strategy for disarmament negotiations with Russia.

It hopes to avoid a new deadlock due to flat Soviet rejection of President Eisenhower's "open skies" approach to arms control.

President Eisenhower and his special assistant on disarmament, Harold E. Stassen, are reported to believe that the Soviet government also may be trying to find ways to keep disarmament talks fluid. They hope that Russia will move toward an eventual agreement.

Whether Secretary of State Dulles shares such hopes is unclear. Dulles has recently given evidence of disagreement with Stassen in estimating Russian behavior. Some informants say the "differences of emphasis" in recent public statements by the two men are reflected in the secret discussions among the President's advisers on foreign policy moves.

There also apparently have been differences of judgment between Stassen and military authorities. This situation is said to have made it necessary for Eisenhower personally to resolve disagreement within his official family by making presidential decisions on the course to be followed.

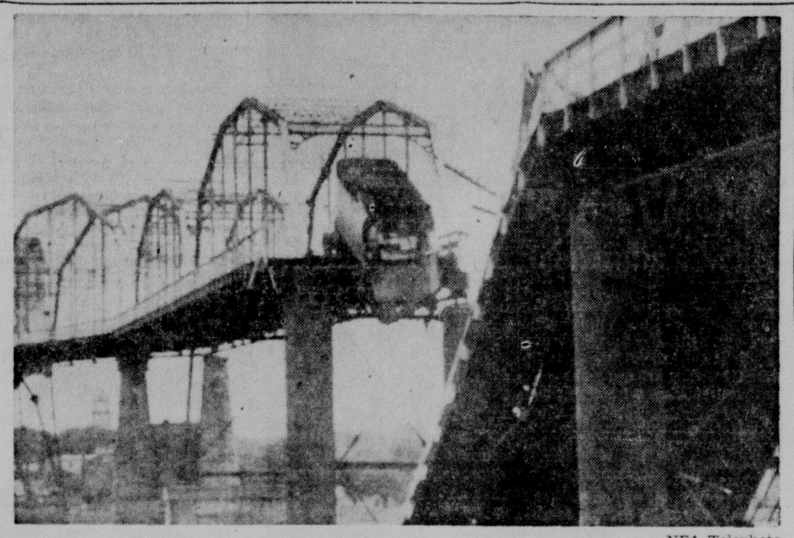

Decisions taken so far in preparation for further talks between the Western powers and the Soviet government on the arms issue were reported Saturday to represent a shift of American policy away from the "open skies" proposal and toward the concept of "bringing the nuclear threat" under control.

This concept was advanced by President Eisenhower in a letter to Premier Nikolai Bulganin three months ago. It means simply that Eisenhower believes it would be possible for the world's atomic powers to make a start on checking the development of atomic power by diverting new production of atomic materials to peaceful rather than military purposes.

Eisenhower and Stassen, Dulles and other officials all have agreed that new production of nuclear explosives—most of which may be diverted into peaceful nuclear fuels—can be inspected and controlled by techniques now known to the scientists. Explosives already produced, however, can be hidden so well that no inspection could find them. That is the reason for concentrating United States strategy on new production.

The "open skies" plan got its harshest blow, so far as Stassen was concerned, when he talked to Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev at London on April 24. Khrushchev told him bluntly that Russia would never agree to an exchange of military blueprints and aerial reconnaissance in advance of a complete disarmament program. Eisenhower had said such an exchange would create confidence.

After the Khrushchev talk and the breakdown of negotiations in London, the United States was faced with the need to take a new look at its policy and strategy to see what might be done to save the situation.

Tito: Communists Won't Split Again

In Moscow To Patch Up Differences

MOSCOW (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia, arriving for a triumphal state visit, declared Saturday the Communist nations would never again be split as they were when the Kremlin tossed Tito aside in 1948.

Tito, resplendent in his gold braided marshal's uniform and with cheers of thousands of Russians ringing in his ears, said in a speech broadcast from gaily decorated Kievsky railroad station:

"The spirit of Lenin's principles of collective leadership are such that I am sure there never again will be misunderstanding among the nations of the Socialist (Communist) camp."

Standing beside Tito in brilliant late afternoon sunshine as he spoke were Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, and President Klementi Voroshilov.

Others included newly appointed Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and the veteran old Bolshevik he succeeded, V. M. Molotov.

Tito came to Moscow to patch up what differences remain between him and the present Soviet leadership. There was wide belief that Friday night's naming of Shepilov, a friend of Tito, as foreign minister, had been timed to coincide with the arrival of Tito, who has little love for Molotov.

Thousands turned out to give Tito the biggest welcome Moscow had seen since the arrival of Indian Prime Minister Nehru last year.

Tito did not hesitate to refer to what he termed the "difficult" period after the 1948 break between Yugoslavia and the Communist countries led by the Soviet Union. Molotov, as foreign minister under Premier Stalin, played an important role in bringing it about.

Speaking in Russian with a heavy Yugoslav accent, Tito declared:

"We have come with the best wishes of our people. We were very happy to receive your invitation to see your wonderful country. It is not necessary to repeat that your efforts in constructing socialism have achieved great results. Since the days of the October Revolution and through the years of the great patriotic war the hearts of the Yugoslav people have been with you.

"Our history, old and new, has been full of suffering, and we can understand your suffering. Our ties have been strengthened in blood.

"Things were very difficult for us at one time, but we had faith the time would come when our friendship would be strengthened again."

Commonwealth Defense Strategy Gets Reappraisal

LONDON (AP)— Construction of two new naval bases on Africa's eastern seaboard and on Australia's west coast were reported under consideration Saturday to bolster British Commonwealth Far Eastern defense lines.

Authorized informants reported a high-level reappraisal of Commonwealth defense strategy in the Middle and Far East is now far advanced. It has been supervised personally by Adm. Lord Mountbatten, Britain's first sea lord, who toured the country's main naval installations in the Pacific and Indian Ocean areas two months ago.

The urgency of Mountbatten's task has been underscored by events in Ceylon, where a new nationalist premier, Solomon Bandaranaike, has said his government will demand Britain's withdrawal from her naval and air installations at Trincomalee.

Prime ministers of the other Commonwealth countries mainly affected—Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Central African Federation—will discuss the new strategic pattern later this month. They will be in London for a full-scale conference of Commonwealth premiers beginning June 27. Other countries attending are India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Canada.

Urges More Power For Vice President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the House Judiciary Committee, said Saturday congress should provide for these steps to be taken if a president becomes disabled:

The vice president on his own initiative declares the president unable to exercise his office and takes over as acting president.

Celler said in an interview he will ask the Judiciary Committee to approve a bill directing vice presidents to assume this responsibility. A special subcommittee which has made an extensive study of the constitutional problems raised when a president is disabled, but still alive, will meet Wednesday to consider the recommendation.

The subcommittee has sifted dozens of suggestions from constitutional scholars and former officials, including former President Herbert Hoover.

"There are disadvantages to all "This one seems to have the least disadvantages."

Basically, he said, his proposal assumes the vice president will be guided by his own sense of responsibility and respect for public opinion.

Celler said public opinion, for example, would not support a vice president in supplanting a president who suffered an illness like President Eisenhower's heart attack last year.

"The President was not unconscious, the outlook from the start was good, he was soon able to do a limited amount of work," Celler said. "If he had been confined to a hospital for a year, immobilized under an oxygen tent, it would have been different."

There have been two presidents much more gravely disabled: James A. Garfield, who lingered for 80 days after being wounded by an assassin in 1881; and Woodrow Wilson, ill for long periods in 1919-20.

In neither instance did the vice president step in.

Celler said he thinks Vice Presidents Chester A. Arthur and Thomas R. Marshall would have taken over if there had been on the lawbooks "a simple, brief, but mandatory" provision that the vice president "shall" determine when a president is unable to function and "shall" assume the powers and duties of the presidency temporarily in case of need.

Analysts Believe Sharp Edge Of Inflation Blunted

WASHINGTON (AP) —Government analysts Saturday expressed belief the "sharp edge of inflation has been blunted."

This doesn't mean, one economist stressed, that any general decline in business and the economy is under way. Nor does it mean, he added, that the threat of inflation has entirely disappeared.

It does mean, he added, that inevitable adjustments are taking place that were to be expected after the booming business of 1955, which carried over into the early months of this year.

And, this economist said, there is no reason for pessimism over certain downward trends that may well prove to be temporary. Generally, he said, the outlook is for a continued high-level economy but at rates in the immediate future below those of recent booming months. This may extend into the third quarter of the year but with a recovery anticipated in the last months of 1956.

On the bright side these factors were noted:

The continued high level of construction activity at a 42-billion-dollar annual rate, especially in commercial and industrial lines;

Expected expenditures of 35 billion dollars or more this year by business in expanding its plants and equipment;

High personal income, at an annual rate of near 315 billion dollars;

High government spending, including the usual cleanup in payments as the fiscal year draws to a close June 30;

Stevenson, Kefauver Running Close Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee appeared locked Saturday in a close battle for California's critical 68 Democratic presidential nominating votes.

In a campaign sharpened with bitterness, the two rivals left almost no part of sprawling California unvisited in their quest for votes in the last and most important of the nation's presidential primaries here next Tuesday.

But there were signs that the candidates themselves were much more concerned about the outcome than the average California voter. Street corner and supermarket crowds were generally small. The apathy spelled out the prospect of a relatively light turnout among the state's 3,059,873 registered Democrats.

By and large, Stevenson's crowds were bigger than those which came out to hear Kefauver, particularly after Stevenson's victory in the Florida primary last Tuesday. Kefauver's backers attributed this to better organization work than they could provide for their catch-as-catch-can campaign.

Both candidates expressed confidence about the outcome.

Stevenson, campaigning in the San Joaquin Valley, said he thinks he knows "what the outcome will be" when the voters answer what he called "personal attacks" against him by Kefauver that he said "hurt the Democratic party."

Kefauver said "I think I'm doing all right" in what obviously is his do-or-die effort to demonstrate to the forthcoming Democratic National Convention that he is the choice of the average voter.

F. Joseph Donohue, Kefauver's national campaign manager, called the contest "a horse race," but said he thinks the Tennessee senator will nose out his opponent.

James Finnegan, Stevenson's manager, was "cautiously optimistic." But Paul Ziffren, Democratic national committeeman, predicted a 100,000-vote margin for Stevenson, who he is support-

Paschen Would Aid Delinquents By State Works

WATERLOO, Ill. (AP) — A "rehabilitation corps" of borderline juvenile delinquents to reclaim wasteland in southern Illinois was proposed Saturday by Herbert C. Paschen, Democratic candidate for governor.

"The state can rehabilitate the land and the youth simultaneously," Paschen told a campaign rally.

He said in a speech that "delinquency springs from a lack of a sense of responsibility. And our current state administration is providing a very sorry example to our youth in its failure to assume its responsibilities."

Paschen said that the high school graduate of today senses no stability or security. He feels that "everything is up for grabs."

"He doesn't know where he fits. There is uncertainty, and a certain amount of fear," Paschen said. "Fear breeds recklessness. And recklessness breeds juvenile delinquency."

He said that a program to develop self-reliance and self-respect in youngsters who have demonstrated delinquent tendencies could be based with assignment to conservation camps.

"House them, feed them, pay them something," Paschen said. "Help them to regain their self-respect.

"Let the state provide the funds and leadership. Teach them to plant trees, design parks. Let them reclaim the land with no fences, no guards. Teach them good, healthy American citizenship."

French Claim Biggest Victory In Rebellion

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Two French divisions smashed through the "Gates of Iron" triangle Saturday in northeast Algeria. The French said they were already mopping up remnants of a big Algerian force trapped in the sun-baked gorges of the Biban Mountains.

Claiming its greatest victory in the nationalist rebellion now more than 1½ years old, the French army declared that its first estimates put rebel casualties at 290 killed and 110 captured. The French admitted losses of their own but gave no figures.

Some dispatches estimated the rebel toll would soar above 500 in dead and captured when full reports are in from troops still battling southwest of Bougie.

The French victory claims came at a decisive moment for French Premier Guy Mollet. The government is plunged into a debate in the National Assembly on North African policy that will wind up next week. A vote of confidence will then be asked.

THREE ANNAPOLIS GRADS WED SISTERS

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Three young men who were Navy midshipmen Thursday and won their officers' stripes Friday became brothers-in-law Saturday by marrying the Dougherty sisters of Annapolis.

The three couples were united in a colorful single ceremony in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Pronounced men and wives by the Rev. Bernard Powers were Ens. Jack P. Janetatos, Moosup, Conn., and Mary Theresa Dougherty; Ens. Douglas O. Osgood, Fallon, Nev., and Ann Louise Dougherty, and Air Force 2nd Lt. John F. Nelson, Great Falls, Mont., and Martha Dougherty.

Jean Hersholt Dies: Radio's Dr. Christian

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jean Hersholt, the kindly Dr. Christian of movies and radio, died of cancer Saturday after a year-long siege of operations and illnesses.

Had he lived until July 12, he would have been 70.

The onetime Danish immigrant, 50 years an actor, had received in his lifetime such honors as knighthood from his native land; two special movie Oscars, honorary degrees from four American colleges and, only last month, one of the biggest civic testimonials in Hollywood history.

He died in the nearby Beverly Hills home where he had lived for more than 30 years. With him at death was his wife, Via, to whom he had been married 42 years.

Dr. Maynard Bransma said death was caused by progressive cancer of the pancreas.

Hersholt's philanthropies earned him the love and respect of the film industry.

Hersholt served four years as president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. From the academy he received two special Oscars, in 1939 and 1941, for his activities on behalf of his fellow actors.

Hersholt was a founder of the Motion Picture Country Day Home and, for 18 years, headed the relief fund which took care of needy actors in their old age.

Veteran actor Charles Coburn said:

"Jean had a glorious knack of making actors who were broke feel they were not accepting charity—just the comfortable retirement that their work through the years had earned them."

The world, in recent years, had known Hersholt only as the beloved Dr. Christian. But his success as the villain with Mary Pickford in "Tess of the Storm Country" made him one of the most sought-after heavies of the silent movies.

After he had done Dr. Christian for several years, he tried to play a heavy again but his fans would not go for it.

"The complaints poured in," he recalled. "Even when I appeared in a beer ad, I got a flood of protests. People are very sensitive about Dr. Christian."

Hersholt was born to the theater. His father and mother were leading players in a Copenhagen stock company when he was born in

Probers Report U. S. Policy In Egypt 'Deficient'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators say the United States has financed farm projects in Egypt that failed of their goals, paid for still-unused industrial surveys there, and put a bigger program on its foreign aid officials than they were prepared for.

This report by the watchdog General Accounting Office also had some kind words for the U.S. aid program for Egypt in the 1952-55 period, which totaled nearly 60 million dollars.

It said there have been "noticeable improvements" in efficiency in the past two years.

But the bulk of the 73-page report was devoted to what it termed "deficiencies" such as unrealistic planning, conflicting policy decisions and "inordinate delays" by U.S. officials. In some cases the Egyptians "have shown reluctance in their cooperation," it said.

The report covered a period prior to Egypt's arms deal with the Communists, her recognition of Red China and reported coolness towards a U.S.-British offer to help finance the big Aswan Dam on the Nile.

The GAO study has been sent to Congress as a sequel to similar report on U.S. aid to Iran. A House subcommittee headed by Rep. Hardy (D-Va), which is now investigating the Iran program, received a copy of the report on Egypt.

Eight Russian Religious Leaders Arrive In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—An eight-man delegation of Soviet religious leaders, headed by Metropolitan Nikolai of the Russian Orthodox Church, arrived here Saturday. The Russians were greeted by their hosts, leaders of the National Council of Churches.

Outside the passenger building at Idlewild Airport, demonstrators who had been waiting all day held posters and placards attacking the visitors as Soviet agents.

One of the slogans—in Russian—read: "Judas was more honest than you. He hanged himself." Another asked: "Which of you are secret police?"

The protest group, carrying 31 picket signs, was led by Dr. Haroland J. O'Dell, president of the American Council of Christian Churches, a relatively small organization.

The original El Dorado was a non-existant city of fabulous wealth, supposedly located somewhere in South America.

Delay In Getting Soil Bank Plan Into Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are signs that President Eisenhower's approval of the new farm bill largely caught the Agriculture Department unprepared to put the soil bank into effect this year.

The President signed the bill, with its $1,200,000,000 annual soil bank program, Monday. Secretary of Agriculture Benson outlined in a general way Thursday how it would work on 1956 crops.

But department officials said Saturday it may be 10 days or two weeks before the agency's local agricultural adjustment and conservation committees will be able to tell individual farmers whether they are qualified for the program.

They said top officials had not yet decided on regulations defining eligibility because of a conflict of views.

The department had done much work on the soil bank—a system of paying farmers to take land out of the production of surplus crops. But that work was done on the assumption that the plan would be offered before the spring planting season.

As it turned out, final congressional action on a bill acceptable to the administration came late in the season, and not without administration criticism of what it called congressional delays.

Rioting Crowds Jeer India's Nehru

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Nearly 5,000 police officers and home guards Saturday battled hundreds of antigovernment rioters trying to break up a meeting of Prime Minister Nehru with his Congress party.

The demonstrations continued Saturday night. Crowds jeered Nehru.

A government statement said 1,375 demonstraiors were arrested and hauled off to overcrowded jails. Eighteen policemen, including two deputy police commissioners, were injured in the stone-throwing.

The Congress working committee will end its sessions Sunday. Police said the demonstrators will likely grow in number and special precautions again will be taken to protect the party members.

It was the worst example of mob violence in Bombay since the February riots against the state reorganization program under which New Delhi proposed to split Bombay into Marathi and Gujerati-speaking states while keeping the City of Bombay separate. Then police fired into mobs, killing between 100 and 400 people. The official figure of less than 100 is generally disputed.

6 Blind Students Hike Across Grand Canyon

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Six students at the state school for the blind here have accomplished a feat most outdoorsmen would give their eye teeth for—hiking across the treacherous Grand Canyon.

Led by their hiking coach and guide, Charles A. Thornton of Tucson, the boys felt their way into the canyon at dawn last Sunday.

Some 12 hours later they had conquered the great gorge, hiking from Hopi Point on the south rim to Bright Angel Point on the north a distance of 21 miles.

At places on the trail a single misstep might have resulted in a plunge of 2,000 feet or more.

Going down the trail they keep a hand on the shoulder of the man ahead. Thornton headed the line.

On the way up, Thornton fastened a rope around his waist and looped it back on both sides. The boys lined up between the ropes, like horses in a trace. They grabbed the ropes with both hands and responded to Thornton's movements.

Popularity Of Illinois State Parks For Camping Zooms

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — More Illinoisans are squeezing some of their outdoor living time into public campgrounds as well as private backyard patios.

State parks provide the space for overnight tenting out or trailer parking.

Though small in relation to overall state park visitations of about 10 million annually, these activities are zooming in popularity. About 50,000 camped out in state parks last year, compared to 45,000 in 1954.

David Abbott, state landscape architect who himself enjoys outdoor tent living with his family, figures an increasing population, better times and more leisure all add up to create the greater number of campers. He expects the demand to continue to rise.

Abbott said Saturday users of state park camping facilities include organized civilian groups like Boy Scouts and military units that want a bivouac while passing through.

White Pines Forest near Dixon and Apple River canyon park near Warren have four of five scout units camping out each weekend in season.

Among 26 parks that have fee camping privileges there are five that charge a dime admission: Illinois Beach near Waukegan, Mississippi Palisades near Savanna, Pere Marquette near Grafton, Starved Rock near LaSalle and White Pines.

Generally, the parks division policy seems to be that once a camper has paid admission at these five parks, he may use his camping permit for readmission when housekeeping chores force him to leave the park momentarily.

Permits are issued for one week. They are renewable for a second week by the park custodian.

Camping facilities are not equal at all parks. The object of officials is to provide parking, toilets and water. Electricity is not provided. Each camper is assigned an area and is responsible for its sanitation and fire controls.

Although the tent camper must take his own equipment, it may be sliced to pare needs.

A metal cheese box stove and wood are on hand, so gas stoves and charcoal burners are not required. A table also is ready at each family unit.

Abbott says the camper needs a tent, something to sleep on, blankets, a box of cooking utensils, a cooler and food. Most of the places where there is camping there is bank fishing.

Abbott suggests renting tents, two for a family of five. In one, the family eats and the children sleep. For bedding, an air mattre - is recommended.

A $100 bill would fix up the average family pretty well for equipment, he estimates, but nothing fancy is in mind.

Glasgow Carriers Of The Journal Stress Service

GLASGOW—The three Oswald brothers, Albert, William (Pat), and Arthur Lee, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oswald, have kept the delivery of the Jacksonville Journal to their Glasgow patrons in the family for approximately the past 15 years.

This long period of faithful service has been made possible by a sort of "hand-me-down" procedure from one brother to another, with nary a break in their daily routine of delivering the paper to their customers. This dependable service has resulted in their having a delivery list of 35 subscribers out of a possible 50 in the corporate limits of this village.

Starting the Oswald "line" of paper boys was Albert, who succeeded Daniel Clonninger, now residing in the Alton area. Young Clonninger had previously succeeded Wayne Fundel, now of Jerseyville, who served in that capacity for a number of years

Albert Oswald

Although the exact date that Albert launched his carrier career is not known, it was in 1940 or 1941, since he started while in the upper grades of grade school, and he is now 27 years old. He relinquished his job to his next brother in line, William (Pat), a short time before he enlisted in the Army in 1945 at the age of 17. He was discharged in 1947 after serving over a year in Korea, following World War II. He then was employed by the Caterpillar company in Peoria for several years. In August, 1953, he married Miss Marsha Johnson of Peoria, and they now reside south of Glasgow, where he is employed at the former Smith Orchards.

William (Pat) Oswald

Assuming the carriership from his brother, William, better known as Pat, carried on until shortly before he entered Army service in December, 1952. After serving for 18 months in Korea he received his discharge in September, 1954. Prior to his army service, he graduated from Winchester Community High School in 1950 and then was employed in Peoria until his army service period. In December, 1954, he was married to Miss Joyce Martin of White Hall, and they have since resided in Peoria, where he is employed at the Caterpillar company.

DEER TV

TALIHINA, Okla. (AP)—A year-old deer owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Boerner has taken a liking to civilization and many of its luxuries—including TV.

The Boerners found the animal when it was a day old after its mother was killed by dogs. They made a pet out of it and gave her the name of "Dipsy."

Motorists passing the Boerner ranch house are often startled to see the deer quietly standing on the front porch gazing intently through the picture window at TV. She won't move for hours, just standing and watching—even commercials.

The New York metropolitan area has 12,300,000 people.

Arthur Lee Oswald

Since Pat's retirement from carrier service, brother No. 3, Arthur Lee, has taken over the duties and is the current carrier in Glasgow. He is a member of the Winchester Community High School graduating class this year However his future plans are still indefinite, and he still remains the Journal carrier boy in Glasgow.

Relatives Named In Ranson Will

Several relatives were named beneficiaries of the estate of Edward H. Ranson, 233 Finley street, whose will has been filed at the office of County Clerk George T. Douglas.

Mr. Ranson bequeathed household goods and other chattel property to his wife, Mrs. Lela R. Ranson, and a life interest in real estate.

Cash bequests were made to grandchildren, including Beverly Ann Heaton, Stephanie Lou Drummon, Marta May Funk, William Edward Hopper, Cindy Lou Hopper and Ronald Hopper.

The remainder of the estate, subject to the wife's life estate in real estate, was bequeathed to three daughters, Harriet Josephine Funk, Frances Lucille Houchin and Bernice Robertine Hopper.

The will, dated July 19, 1955, appointed Mrs. Ranson executor. Witnesses to the will were Hugh Green, Betty M. DeFrates and Earl Grojean.

White Haven Motel Auctioned For $10,500

The White Haven motel, 2020 Mound avenue, was sold at public auction Saturday morning to Nelson C. Smith of this city on his bid of $10,400. It was formerly owned by Elizabeth Davis.

Consisting of eight complete units, the motel is situated on property with 171 feet, 6 inch frontage ond 140 deep. The motel faces a pavement formerly carrying traffic on U. S. Routes 36-54, which was relocated.

Sale of the motel was followed at the court house by another auction when a nine room house at 504 Hardin avenue, owned by Daniel J. Bahan, was sold to Oscar Meline for $6,500. The house includes two apartments.

Middendorf Brothers were auctioneers of both sales. Thomson & Thomson are attorneys for Mr Bahan.

94 Accidents Since First Of January On Jacksonville Streets

Jacksonville streets have been the scene of 94 reportable accidents during the first five months of 1956, the police department figures show. Although 22 persons have been injured, the city has not yet experienced a fatality this year.

The majority of injuries were minor and the victims were released after emergency treatment at hospitals or treatment at home.

In 1955 there were 81 accidents, one death and 11 injuries during the first five months. In 1954 the number of accidents after five months was 93, with one death and 23 injuries.

Police records show that automobiles accounted for 73 accidents since Jan. 1 this year; pedestrians 7; fixed objects 9; bicycles 3 and in 2 instances cars ran off roadways.

May was the most prolific month in accidents, 23 having been recorded. Nineteen accidents occurred in January; 10 in February, 21 in March and 21 in April.

More than half of America's 14 million people over 65 years old have some form of public or private retirement income available.

ASC Gives Greene Reporters Data On Corn Acreage

CARROLLTON — Carl Wright, manager of the local office of Agricultural Stabilization Conservation, and the members of the county ASC committee met with the farm reporters in the county Thursday in the Farm Bureau hall and distributed to them the corn acreage form sheets and explained the corn acreage plan in order that the reporters might visit the farms in their area and explain the plan in detail.

The work of the reporters must be completed in June in order that the farmers of the county might have an opportunity to bring their corn acreage into line with their allotment by July 15 as the final disposal date for excess corn acreage is August 1. To be eligible for loans farmers must comply with the corn acreage allotment.

Child Injures Arm

Deborah Henson, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Henson of Carrollton, injured her right arm and right side Thursday morning when she caught her hand and arm in the wringer of a washing machine while her mother was in the yard hanging clothes.

When Mrs. Henson stopped the machine the wringer had gone over the child's entire arm and was rolling off the skin at the arm pit. She was given medical attention at once and it is thought that no bones are fractured.

Car Demolishes Light Pole

A 1941 Plymouth driven by Carl Landon of Bunker Hill demolished a C.I.P.S. light pole in the early morning hours Friday as the driver lost control of the car and it careened over a ditch and overturned when it struck the pole.

Landon was taken to Boyd Memorial hospital and later released when he was found to be uninjured.

Miss Owens to Graduate

GROUND HOG SCALPS EARN VACCINATION FEE FOR BOY'S DOG

JERSEYVILLE — George Scott, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott of the Otter Creek township locality, came to Jerseyville Wednesday afternoon to claim the bounty on twenty ground hog scalps which he and his dog had caught in the vicinity of the premises where the Scott family resides.

The boy delivered his bale of scalps to County Clerk Thomas Lock and received the county check for $5.00 as bounty for the scalps.

"What do you intend doing with so much money?" queried Lock.

The boy pocketed the check after carefully inspecting it and then explained his intentions. "It's this way," he said. "They got a new dog law in this state that says your dog must be vaccinated by June first or you can get arrested and they can pick your dog up and do away with him."

"I got to thinking about what could happen, and several weeks ago my dog and I got busy on the ground hogs. We got enough to pay for vaccinating him and buying a license too."

ILLICIT TOW

DE WITT, Va. (AP) — A truck towing an automobile was stopped here for a routine traffic towing check. State Trooper said it contained 27 cases and 9 jars containing approximately 168 gallons of bootleg whiskey.

PARLIAMENTARY GUIDE

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Nobody fouls up parliamentary procedure in a meeting when Mrs. Marjorie Duncan is around.

Mrs. Duncan has invented a device she calls a "Slide-A-Rule" designed to guide the average club member on the "do's" and "don'ts" of parliamentary procedure.

Designed in accordance with Roberts Rules of Order, the device lists 27 motions most frequently used at meetings.

By setting an indicator to the motion wanted, the information revealed at a center window in the slide case tells how to properly state the motion, its rank and function.

Another window on the reverse side automatically indicates whether the speaker may be interrupted by such a motion, whether it requires a second; whether it may be debated or amended; whether a majority or two-thirds vote is required; and whether the vote may be reconsidered.

JHS Annual Picnic At Nichols Park For 1,000 Students

Sandra Ing, Doris Gustine, Barbara Scott and Sharon Wooldridge have just enjoyed a speed boat ride through the courtesy of David Tayman at the controls. Don Bonacorsi is offering a steadying hand for the girls to disembark.

The Journal Courier photographer caught one high school student in mid-air coming off the diving board Thursday afternoon. The more hardy took to the water and the less hardy "took" the sun.

Pike County Horse Show Will Be Outstanding Event June 13th-14th

PITTSFIELD—The tenth annual Pike County Horse Show will be co-sponsored this year by the Pittsfield Boots and Saddle Club and the Knights of Columbus Council 2967. The show is two nights, June 13 and 14, at eight o'clock (DST) at hte Boots and Saddle Club horse show ring, just north of the new high school. There will be ten classes each night and entries will be taken up to show time each night.

The general chairman of the show is Albert McGinnis. The Boots and Saddle Club committee working with him consists of—Noble Harrison, Otto Hoerlein, Ed Lowry, John Sutter. The Knights of Columbus committee is—Stuart Landess, Jr., Al Wuellner, Leo Hayes, Levi Morin

This year one of the most appealing and entertaining shows ever had here is planned for the audience without lowering the standards and variety of classes and appeal to good horsemen. A very competent judge has been secured, Temple Stephens of Moberly, Mo. He is widely known in the horse world. The announcer will be W. L. McGinnis of Beardstown, Ill. He helped to organize the Beardstown Horse Show so his acquaintance with horses will help the audience to know what to expect from each class. Otto Hoerlein of Griggsville will be the ringmaster again this year.

An added attraction is the Pittsfield school band. The Band Boosters Club is selling tickets in advance for the show for which they shall receive twenty-five per cent. In charge of ticket sales is Dr. L. J. Litvan, H. C. Winston, Gene Burbridge.

A pony will be given away to a boy or girl the last night of the show. The following committee is in charge of ticket sales for the pony, Levi Morin, Leo Hayes, Spud Orrill, Jr. Jennnigs, Dick Frazier.

The color guard will be presented by the Pittsfield American Legion Post No. 152.

The Grand Champion Arabian stallion, winner of the King Farouk Challenge trophy, presented by Arthur Godfrey at the Pennsylvania national horse show in 1955 will be shown both nights. The stallion is owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Emrick of Pittsfield, and shown by Victor Kerr of New Salem, Il'.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lowry's ponies will also be shown. They are widely known as they have been shown at national, state and county fairs for several years. In February of this year the Lowry family and three of their ponies were guests of the Cuban government for three weeks at an independence celebration. Both their ponies and costumes are quite attractive—especially their western outfits and fancy turn-out.

Tickets for box seats can be secured from Roy Donohoo at the DeWolf Motor company in Pittsfield after June 1.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO HONOR DIRECTOR

The district director, Mrs. Dale Smith, a member of the local American Legion Post 279 Auxiliary unit, will be honored at the meeting to be held by the Auxiliary at 8 p.m. Wednesday evening at the Legion Home.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Lawrence Ruyle of Meredosia and Phyllis Harris of Chapin.

Philip W. Jenkins of Dayton, Ohio, and Shirley Ogilvie, Sioux Falls, S.D.

John Williamson of Decatur and Mary Holt of Jacksonville.

WAR PROJECT CLOSED

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—In 1942 two $25 war bonds were presented Taft Junior High School by music students. They were promptly framed and hung on the band room wall as a sign of the school's war effort. The other day they were discovered by the principal W. B. Graham, who was looking over the wall decorations.

He opened the frames and found a letter from 145 contributors explaining they were presented by students of instrumental music and at date of maturity should be cashed with the money going to the music department.

The wishes of the donors are being carried out.

THELMA DICKERSON IS BRIDE

Thelma Dickerson Is Macomb Man's Bride

VIRGINIA — Miss Thelma Dickerson and Charles V. Woodworth exchanged nuptial vows in an impressive double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, May 27, in the Virginia Methodist church. The vows were received by Rev. Floyd Brewer, pastor of the church, in the presence of more than 100 relatives and friends of the couple. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

The altar decorations were ferns and tall candelabra from which white tapers shed a soft light.

Mrs. Lyle Turner played a short organ recital before the ceremony and Miss Jeanne Reed of Macomb, niece of the groom, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." During the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickerson of Virginia and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodworth of Macomb.

For her wedding the bride chose an imported lace gown of delicate ice blue. The fitted bodice of Chantilly lace over taffeta featured a yoke of nylon illusion with a tiny lace collar and push-up sleeves of shirred lace. The billowing waltz-length lace skirt was scalloped around the hemline and featured lace over tulle over taffeta. Her finger tip veil of ice blue nylon illusion fell from a dainty crown adorned with pale blue seed pearls. Her flowers were a white orchid showered with tiny white carnations.

Mrs. Jack Dickerson, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Her dress was a white cotton lace sheath dress over yellow taffeta with a yellow and white tulle overskirt. She carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

The groom was attended by Jack Dickerson, brother of the bride. Ushers were John and James McKee of Macomb, cousins of the groom; John Dickerson of Springfield, cousin of the bride, and H. B. Smith of Virginia.

Mrs Roy Dickerson, mother of the bride, chose a pastel pink dress for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Charles Woodworth, mother of the groom, was attired in blue. Both wore corsages of white feathered carnations.

Reception at Church

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was beautifully decorated in blue and yellow. The four-tiered wedding cake was flanked on either side by tall white tapers in crystal holders. The punch bowl and containers of nuts and mints were placed at the end of the table.

Those serving were Miss Kathleen Scalf, Miss Willa Bermel, Mrs. Lloyd Carnes, all of Springfield; Miss Lenabelle Thompson of Jacksonville, Mrs. David Halm of Alton was in charge of the guest book.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth left for a wedding trip to Chicago. Upon their return they will reside at 639 East Cass St. in Springfield.

Mrs. Woodworth is a graduate of the Virginia high school and attended Hines Business College in Springfield. She has been employed by the Franklin Life Insurance Co. in Springfield for a number of years.

Mr. Woodworth is a graduate of the Macomb high school and has twice served in the Armed Forces overseas. He is employed at the National Guard General Depot in Springfield.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Woodworth, Mrs. Frances Runkle, Miss Jeanne Reed, Jon Campbell, Mrs. Wilma McKee, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Runkle, Mr. and Mrs. John McKee, Mrs. W. E. Chandler, Miss Sally Chandler, Eddie Chandler, all of Macomb.

ELECTRONIC LEMON SORTER

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Lemons are contrary things. A green fruit, or a yellow one, or shades in between, may be ripe, but housewives just don't buy green lemons.

The industry has had the expense of sorting the fruit by hand, sending the green ones to storage for color correction. Now it has an electric eye that sorts the fruit into four color grades.

It does the work of 20 or more girls. Each lemon goes to one of four groups. Uniform yellows go to market. The others go to storage where they slowly change color to yellow. The grading is the key as to how long the fruit is in storage.

TELLING THE BEES

ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—A strange tradition, from the forgotten rural years when almost every family kept bees, was startlingly recalled after the death of John Zepka.

Throughout his life, Zepka had raised, worked with, and loved bees. He became widely known in the Berkshire Hills as a man who "had a way with them."

When the cortege reached the grave, mourners found the funeral tent swarming with bees—on the tent ceiling and clinging to floral sprays. They did not annoy the mourners—just remained immobile. Nothing like it had ever been seen here before.

Recalled was the tradition, "Telling the Bees," kept alive in the poetry of John Greenleaf Whittier and Eugene Field. It held that the bees must be told when a member of a family dies—and the hive draped with a shred of black — lest the bees leave their hive.

Greene Co. Wedding

WHITE HALL—Pictured above are Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mast and their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cook, after their wedding Friday, May 25, in White Hall.

The bride, Judy Kay Williams of Springfield is the daughter of Mrs Opal Williams of Belleville and Larry Williams of Springfield. The bridegroom is the son of Archie Mast of White Hall and the late Mrs. Mast.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs Paul Day, sister and brother-in-law of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kenneth Day, Sr. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mr and Mrs. Larry Cook of White Hall served as the couple's attendants.

For her wedding the bride wore an ice blue eyelet sheath dress with a matching color organdy duster. Her accessories were white and she wore a triple strand of pearls, owned by Mrs. Norman Degget of Springfield that have been worn by brides in three generations of weddings. A tiara of blue flowers completed her costume and she carried a white Bible topped with white daisies.

Mrs. Cook wore a coral pink street dress with white accessories and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Day home where Mrs. George Mast, an aunt of the bridegroom served cake and Mrs. Day poured punch.

The newlyweds left on a short wedding trip and are now making their home in Peoria where the bridegroom is employed by the Caterpillar Tractor company. Mrs. Mast attended schools both in White Hall and at Springfield. The bridegroom received his schooling in White Hall.

Bessie Riggs Bride

PFC. AND MRS. JAMES BOTE

In a formal ceremony read on May 27, Miss Bessie Riggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Riggs, Jacksonville route one, became the bride of Pfc. James Bote, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bote of Decatur. The vows were read by The Reverend Rose, minister of the Salem Lutheran Church of Jacksonville in the church at 2 p.m., in the presence of 50 guests.

Mr. Bruesehoff, organist, provided the musical program preceding and during the ceremony. Selections included various well-known hymns and the traditional Wedding Marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pink ballerina-length gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace and full skirt of nylon tulle. The hat was of white lace studded with rhinestones. She wore white lace mitts to match hat. The bride carried a bouquet of pink and white tea roses with ribbon streamers.

Miss Lois Komnick of Jacksonville was maid-of-honor, and appeared in a blue polished cotton street-length gown fashioned with a pleated bodice. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and ribbon streamers.

Jim Freitag, Jacksonville, was best man and guests were seated by John Riggs, brother of the bride

Mrs. Riggs chose for her daughter's wedding a printed nylon frock with a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Bote, wore a tailored beige dress with matching coat and accessories. She also wore a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony, Pfc. and Mrs. Bote greeted the guests at a reception held at the Dunlap Hotel. Decorations were pink and blue.

The following parties were given for Mrs. Bote: Miss Mary Hubert, Dianna Williams, and was entertained at the Country Club by Hanna Haneline and close friends.

The bride graduated with the class of 1956. Pfc. Bote at the present time is stationed at Ft. Benning, Georgia, where the couple will reside.

Summer Hobby Shop For Children At Y

A summer Hobby Shop, sponsored by the YMCA, will be open from June 4 to July 15 five days each week for all school-age children. There will be hobbies and crafts of all kinds taught by competent adult instructors. There is no charge made for attending. The only finance involved is in the minimum or less charge for the materials used in the making of a choice of articles. The Shop will be held at the Y's Youth Center on West State street.

Mrs. Jacqueline Hanback, art teacher at the David Prince junior high school and Miss Naomi Woods, faculty member at the Franklin elementary schol in this city, will be in charge. They will be assisted by junior high and high school students, who are interested in art and skilled in the crafts that will be taught. The student helpers are Rex Henly, Jerry Henly, Becky Lawson and Linda German.

Among the many crafts to be taught are: painting and drawing, ceramics, weaving, craft stripping, jewelry making, plate decorating, sunburst mats and others.

The hobby shop has a new kiln for enameling copper and has also ordered a kiln for firing clay. The latter will be the only kiln in Jacksonville where children under junior high age will be able to make permanent clay pieces.

The hours for the Hobby Shop are from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon. There is no set time a child must arrive and he or she may leave at their leisure. There will be constant adult supervision with junior help at all times.

Last year children kept occupied making very nice gifts and other articles including jewelry kitchen accessories, woven articles, leather craft articles, copper and other metal items, etc.

Beverly Krems And Max C. Beard Wed

ARENZVILLE, Ill. (AP)— Miss Beverly Joyce Krems of Beardstown and Max Carlton Beard of Arenzville were united in marriage at 6 o'clock in the evening on Friday, May 25, at the Arenzville Methodist church. Rev. Aubrey Dunning officiated at the donble ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Krems of Beardstown and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beard of Arenzville.

The church altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, daisies, ferns and candelabrae. Mrs. Farrell Cooper presented an organ prelude before the ceremony with the closing nummer, "Because." She also accompanied Mrs. Aubrey Dunning who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Sally Brubeck of Beardstown was the bride's only attendan and James Beard of Arenzville attended his brother as best man. The bride was given in marriage by Harlan Vallery.

Ushers were Bill Matthews and Bud Clark, cousin of the bride, both of Beardstown.

The bride wore an ankle length gown of white star lace over taffeta made with strapless bodice with which she wore a short lace jacket with stand-up collar. The skirt was very bouffant and worn over crinolines. Her shoulder length veil was of silk illusion and fell from a white headband. She wore long white gloves and carried a Colonial bouquet of white daisies tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Brubeck wore powder blue crystalette over matching color taffeta made with fitted bodice and low neckline. The bouffant skirt was over crinolines. Her accessories were white and she carried a Colonial bouquet of blue daisies with blue satin streamers.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of rose mesh with white accessories. Mrs. Beard, mother of the bridegroom, also wore a rose mesh dress with white accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white carnations.

Reception At Church

A reception was held for the newlyweds and families in the basement of the church immediately following the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake centered the serving table. The cake was topped with a small bouquet of colored daisies which also formed the floral centerpiece at the bride's table. Blue and white streamers emphasized a white wedding bell hung over the table. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Tom Baird, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Noel Clarke of Beardstown, an aunt of the groom, Mrs. C. H. Smith of Bloomington, sister of the bride and Mrs. Durette Workman, a cousin of the bride. Mrs. Nelson Thornton, sister of the bride and Mrs. Harlan Vallery were in charge of the gift table. Miss Jean Beets, cousin of the groom, registered the guests. Mrs. E. V. Stickler and Mrs. Floyd Crawford, also assisted.

When the couple left for a brief wedding trip the bride was wearing as her going away costume a blue linen suit with pink accessories. They are now making their home at 900 Clay street in Beradstown.

Mrs. Beard is a graduate of the Beardstown high school with the class of 1955 and employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone compay in that city. Mr. Beard graduated from the Arenzville high school in 1953 and is engaged in farming with his father near Arenzville.

Guests attended from Bettendorf, Iowa; Carlinville, Springfield, Jacksonville, Bloomington, Golden, Tallula, Peoria, Pittsfield, Beardstown and Chapin, Illinois.

I. C. Players Will Present Julius Caesar

For the annual Commencement Shakespearean play the Hilltop Players of Illinois College will present "Julius Caesar" on the Ames Woodland State on Friday evening at 8:30 p.m. This is the 109th major production of the college drama group.

For several Hilltoppers, this will be their last dramatic production on the campus. Among the graduating seniors in the cast are Mark Arroll of Long Beach, N. Y., who plays the title role of Julius Caesar; Harriet Lonegran of Jacksonville who portrays Portia; George Reilly of Libertyville in the role of Brutus; John Schmidt of Chicago who plays Casca; John Taratsas of East St. Louis, Decius; Betty Jacobson of Bartlett, Popilius; Frances Zollner of Bensenville, Publius; Barbara Mintz of Dayton, Ohio, Soothsayer; and Bob Curtis of St. Louis, Pindarus.

Jacksonville students also in the cast are Jim Symons, Cicily Carson, Irene Bonacorsi, Harry Heuston, Sharon Kelly, Barbara Munk and Carol Shaffner.

In case of rain, the play will be presented in the Memorial Gymnasium. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Foundation Gives Illinois College $1,000 Grant

The Chicago Title and Trust Co-Foundation announced Saturday a grant of $1,000 to Illinois College, one of 27 colleges in this state which received grants from the foundation totalling $80,000.

In most cases the gifts are unrestricted as to purpose and in every instance the funds are available for immediate use by the colleges.

Harold A. Moore, treasurer of the foundation board of trustees, said the gifts are in recognition of the need of the colleges in Illinois for financial assistance resulting from higher costs and the lack of former sources of endownment funds. He stated that the grants are an expression of the conviction that corporations have a responsibility to assist in the support of private higher education.

"Our communities are benefiting from the cultural values being acquired by an increasing number who are taking advantage of the oportunity for a college education," he said. "In addition business depends upon the colleges and professional schools for well-trained employees and benefits from the important supply made available by privately supported liberal arts and professional colleges."

Cream butter with a little crushed garlic and spread over the cut surface of halved tomatoes. Bake or broil. Delicious with chicken, meat or fish.

Jacksonville Man To Get Nursing Degree

Graduation will mean a return rather than a beginning to Roy A. Wright, who will receive the bachelor of science in nursing degree at Washington University's commencement exercises Wednesday, June 6.

Wright will return both to the position of instructor in psychiatric nursing at the Jacksonville State Hospital, which he left two years ago to go to St. Louis to work for his degree, and to his wife, a laboratory technician at the hospital, who lives at 328 Sandusky street.

One of about six men enrolled in the Washington University School of Nursing, Wright is the only one to receive the bachelor of science in nursing degree this year. He earned a diploma of nursing at Our Saviour's Hospital School of Nursing in Jacksonville before joining the staff of the State Hospital. He has also studied at Illinois College.

In September, 1954, Wright, then 40 years old, began work toward the nursing degree under the sponsorship of the State of Illinois. He spent the first year entirely in study, but during the past year, with fewer requirements to complete, he has found time to serve as night supervisor of nurses at Renard Hospital.

Announce Engagement

BETTY LOU PRUETT

Sunday, June ten, is the date chosen for their wedding by Miss Betty Lou Pruett and Frank Birdsell of this city. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride-elect, 48 North Johnson street.

Miss Pruett's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Pruett and Mr. Birdsell's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George G. Birdsell, Sr.

Chapin High Alumni Banquet Draws 200

Two hundred attended the annual Chapin high school Alumni banquet held May 26 at the school. Russell W. Hovey, former principal, now living at Rockford, Illinois, was the speaker. Special guests were members of this years graduating class, faculty and Mr. Wilson, retiring from employment at the school after 29 years.

A delicious baked ham dinner was served the group by the Mary Martha Circle of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Dining tables were decorated with pink candles flanking bowls of white peonies. White paper lace mats and pink programs at each place setting carried out the pink and white color combination. Recorded music was enjoyed during the dinner.

George Wallace, vice president of the Alumni Association officiated in the absence of the president, Carlton Shumacher, who was unable to attend.

The after dinner program opened with group singing of The Doxology, led by Harry Onken. After extending his personal greetings to the group Mr. Wallace read a formal welcome to the Alumni and an appreciation for the presiding committees for the 1956 reunion, from Mr. Shumacher.

Paul Blakeman, school principal, introduced faculty members and the graduating class members present. During the annual roll call representation of the class of 1897, the first to graduate from the school, was recorded. One member, Mrs. Kitterman from Chicago, '97, was the sole member of her class present. Four members of the class of 1903, Dr. Stewart McKinney of Minneapolis, Minn., Wilbur Williams, Jacksonville, Harold P. Joy of Chapin and Mrs. Gertrude Brownlow Funk, Jacksonville, responded. There were just six in the class with the others being Mrs. Neta Taylor, living in Texas and Grover Smith, deceased.

Honor Maintenance Man

Mr. Wilson was then presented with a farewell gift on behalf of the Alumni Association in appreciation for his 29 years of service as maintenance man at the school. Mr. Wilson will leave to take a position with the Jacksonville school system.

The Association's secretarial and financial report was made by Mary Etta Smith Goffinett.

Officers appointed for the coming year were: Virginia Brockhouse Goodrich of Chapin, president; Paul DeFrates of Jacksonville, vice president; Mary Gaddis Brockhouse of Chapin, secretary-treasurer.

Accordian selections, "Lady of Spain," "Peg O' My Heart," and "Ghost of a Chance" were played by Verne Hopper of Jacksonville. Mrs. Alden Allen of Chapin, former teacher at the Chapin high school, entertained with a clever monologue, "How to Guess Your Age," by Corey Ford.

Mr. Hovey, whose arrival at the banquet was delayed by air travel difficulties, was able to speak late on the program. He was warmly greeted by old friends and new. During the intervening time Dr. Stewart McKinney, Chapin alumnus, spoke informally and entertaingly to the assembly. He reviewed the early accomodations of the school in the 1900's and personalized with anecdotes in his professional life. He concluded with praise for the association and urged continued and more support by the alumni.

Former Principal Speaks

The guest speaker, who was principal at the school from 1924 to 1928, reminisced over his former days in Chapin and tales of his former pupils.

Mr. Hovey was affiliated in the field of education for a number of years after leaving Chapin and he is now a special agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company at Rockford.

Other than alumni from Illinois there were out-of-state members attending from Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Texas and California.

Add a little finely grated onion to a quarter cup of mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing, then beat a leftover egg white stiff and fold into the mayonnaise. Spread the topping over four servings of broiled fish and return to the broiler for a minute or two-just long enough to puff and brown the mayonnaise mixture.

MacMurray Trustees Approve Plans For $425,000 Dormitory

Acceptance of a maximum campus development plan, which contemplates doubling the present MacMurray College physical plant within the next ten years, and inauguration of a financial program to obtain 1,000 founders of MacMurray College for Men, were among items approved by MacMurray College Board of Trustees Friday in its annual spring meeting.

Mrs. Kathryn T. MacMurray, who had driven from her California home to preside over the meeting, and college president Dr. Louis W. Norris, announced that the first unit in the new expansion program is expected to be a dormitory for men, which will be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1957. The new dormitory will be designed for 125 students and will be constructed at a cost of approximately $425,000.

new member was elected to the Board of Trustees. He is Elgin P. Nickerson, head of the Fabrics and Finishes Department of the E. I. duPont DeNemours Company, Wilmington, Delaware. The new Board member is a brother of Miss Roma Hawkins, former Dean of Women of MacMurray College.

Plans for obtaining 1,000 persons as founders of the new men's college at MacMurray were outlined to the Board by President Norris. College officials expect to obtain founders in each of the 48 states. "This," said Dr. Norris, "will make the college for men a national institution and should place it before the eye of the public in a relatively short time."

$9,000,000 Program Planned

Founders will be those persons who contribute or pledge a minimum of $1,000 each to be paid over a period of four years. Approximately $9,000,000 will be necessary to realize the expansion of the two colleges visualized for the year 1965.

Other items approved by the Board were the resignation of Paul V. Trovillo, Director of Public Relations; Miss Marilyn Claire Anderson, instructor of Drama and Speech, and Mrs. Diane P. Gaumer, instructor of Physical Education.

The Board also approved the retirement of Dr. Frieda Gamper, Professor of German, and elected Dr. Gamper Professor Emeritus of German. President Norris paid special tribute to Dr. Gamper as "an inspiring teacher and one of the truly great members of our faculty."

New appointments to the staff which the Board approved were Dr. Daniel W. Unruh, to be Director of Athletics, Assistant Professor of Physical Education, and Admissions Counselor; Dr. Alexander E. Jones, Associate Professor of English, and Mr. Charles E. Moulton, Associate Professor of Mathematics.

Howard Sidman, who has been instructor in the Art Department, was approved for promotion to the rank of assistant professor. Dr. Robert H. Alexander, Associate Professor of Psychology, was approved as chairman for the Department of Psychology.

Mrs. MacMurray Heads Board

Newly-elected officers of the Board are as follows: Mrs. Kathryn T. MacMurray, President; Ann Marshall Orr, vice-president; Chester A. Hemphill, treasurer, and Richard Y. Rowe, secretary.

Board members in attendance at the semi-annual meeting were: Mrs. Kathryn T. MacMurray, president; Mrs. Ann Marshall Orr, vice-president; Chester A. Hemphill, treasurer; Richard Y. Rowe, secretary; Mrs. Louise Gates Eddy of Jacksonville; Mrs. Alice Finney Gabbard of St. Louis; Hugh P. Green, Jacksonville; Joseph W. Boyle of St. Louis; Mrs. Irma L. John G. Prickett, secretary of the Community Chest, is in charge of arrangements for the annual meeting.

BOY RAISES SNAILS

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Jimmy Paulk, 11, says a full-grown snail in good health can go about an inch in 15 seconds. And Jimmy should know. He's in the snail business—sells them for three for a nickel and he has about 400 of them.

Jimmy says snails are used by owners of fish bowls and aquariums because they eat the scum that fish leave.

"They're real easy to raise and no mess or bother," Jimmy said. "You put the male and the female together and they raise eggs."

High School Notes

JACKSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL NEWS
by Edna Mason

Last Monday and Tuesday were final examinations for JHS students. Monday morning regular classes were held until noon, then in the afternoon, semesters started and were continued all day Tuesday.

Thursday was the annual school picnic, held at Nichols Park. The swimming pool opened Wednesday so that students were able to enjoy swimming in the afternoon, and a picnic supper was held at 6:00 in the evening. The student council is sponsor of these picnics, and they served a delicious supper of ham salad sandwiches, potato chips, slaw and ice cream with Coco-Cola for a drink. The dance was from eight to twelve with Boots Brennan and his orchestra. The whole day was very much enjoyed with just a small sprinkle of rain now and then.

Peggy Gray was a visitor at high school this past week. Peggy moved to Weldon last year from this community, and will be a senior this fall.

Friday morning students attended school to receive report cards and other numerous articles. In a general assembly for all, letters and medals were presented to deserving students and athletes. Bronna Crabtree, president of the Sophomore class, presented a check to Mr. Agger for the use of building a glass enclosed bulletin board, in memory of Danny Denham, a sophomore boy who was injured in gym class and later died.

The last issue of the Herald was handed out Friday morning after assembly. It contained the senior class will and prophecy for the 1956 graduating class.

Friday night at 8:00 high school commencement was held in the gymnasium. A panel discussion was held by a group of students led by Sheryl Savage, this year's valedictorian. The topic was "Great Words."

SENIOR WINS RADIO

Last week while the Seniors were on their class trip, a representative from Burke's T. V. Center called the school for a list of Senior names. From this list of names, five were drawn and put into a registration box along with Jacksonville High students. When the drawing took place, one of our Seniors, Mary Sue Critchelow, was announced the winner. Mary Sue will receive an Admiral Portable radio with the new Roto-Scope Antenna.

SENIORS RETURN FROM CHICAGO

On Thursday night the Senior class returned from a wonderful trip in Chicago. All were happy and tired after their exciting trip.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BREAKFAST

This morning at 8:30 a.m. the Seniors met in their caps and gowns at Our Saviour's Church, where they attended mass and communion. Following, was the Annual Junior-Senior Breakfast held in the K. of C. hall.

COMMENCEMENT

Seniors now prepare for their Commencement Exercises, Wednesday evening, June sixth, at eight o'clock in the Church of Our Saviour. The Commencement speaker will be the Very Reverend Pius Barth O. M. M. Ph. D.

GRADUATES CELEBRATE

After Commencement Exercises, a party will be held at the country home of Margaret Cox. All Seniors, their dates, their parents and several members of the faculty are invited to attend the gala celebration.

HONOR DAY

The annual Honor Day will be on Monday, June fourth, at ten o'clock. On this day awards are given for the work that has been done during the past year. Cheerleaders will also be elected by the student body.

Home Bureau Activities

VIRGINIA—Three Cass County Home Bureau units will meet next week. The major lesson will be "Joint Tenancy;" the minor lesson will be "Quick Summer Desserts with Homemade Pastry Mix."

North Ashland unit will meet with Mrs. Dorsey Moles, Tuesday, June 5. Mrs. Moles and Mrs. Mary Goff will be leaders for the minor and major lessons, respectively.

June 8, the Ashland unit will meet with Mrs. Herman Jurgens. Mrs. W. R. Campbell will be the leader for the lesson on "Joint Tenancy" and Mrs. W. E. Jurgens will be the leader for the lesson on "Use Of Homemade Pastry Mix."

Philadelphia unit will meet June 8 with Mrs. William Dickey, with Mrs. Leo Devlin and Mrs. Elmer Jurgens as local leaders.

GLASGOW—The Glasgow Unit of the Morgan-Scott Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Evans May 17 with ten members and Miss Graves, home adviser, present.

Mrs. Neva Boester opened the meeting with the reading of a poem, "Quiet Places." This was followed by the pledge to the flag and the song of the month, "End of a Perfect Day." Roll call was answered by each naming her favorite flower.

The major lesson, "Fabric Designs," was given by Miss Graves, who showed samples of materials to bring out to the points of the lesson. Mrs. Hester read the minutes and gave the treasurer's report. Highlights were read by the chairman, and a short business session followed.

The selected subject, "Oven Meals," was given by Mrs. Dorothy Wilson Recreation period was led by Mrs. Hester Benton.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lela Hester.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence Adams June 21.

CONFIDENT HOLDUP

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)— Randall Bertram, 22, told police he was using a telephone in a sidewalk booth when a man in a slouch hat knocked on the door. When Bertram opened it, the man drew a pistol and took Bertram's watch and $2.85 in cash. As he turned to leave, he handed a dime back to his victim and said:

"Now get back in there and call the police."

Bertram did—but not fast enough to catch the thief.

New Supervisor For Child Welfare Office

Effective June 4, Miss Beatrice Lovette, Supervisor of the Morgan County Child Welfare Services, is being transferred to the Regional Office of the Department of Public Welfare in Springfield. Miss Lovette has been appointed Assistant Regional Supervisor.

Announcement of the change was made by Miss June Morettini, Regional Supervisor at the May meeting of the Morgan County Child Welfare Advisory Board at the Dunlap Hotel. Succeeding Miss Lovette as local Supervisor is Mrs. Marion Gant. Mrs. Gant received her Master's Degree in Psychiatric Social Work from the University of Chicago in 1953. She has had previous experience with the United Charities Agency in Chicago and also with the Department of Public Welfare in Indiana.

Announcement was also made of the plan to transfer responsibility for Child Welfare services to Pike and Scott counties from the Morgan County office back to the Springfield Regional Office, effective June 1.

Officers re-elected at the May meeting to serve the Child Welfare Advisory Board for another year were Mrs. Margaret Ferry, Chairman; Dr. John Brazelton, Vice Chairman; and Miss Isabel Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer.

Mr. Warren Flower, Director of the local YMCA, described to the Board the activities of the "Y" by outlining a typical week's schedule. A well-rounded program is largely concentrated on the Junior High and High School levels. Activities include dancing, roller skating, club functions, and hobbies, as well as swimming and camping in the summer. The "Y" also sponsors a young adult recreation activity.

Mr. Flower announced an addition to this summer's program, which will be the continuance of the Monday night dances for the Junior High group.

Old Jacksonville Paper Has Stage Coach Ad

Sibley B. Gaddis of Mt. Sterling, well known historian, has in his possession a copy of the Illinois Patriot printed in Jacksonville April 20, 1837.

Mr. Gaddis secured the paper from Glenn Jones of Augusta, Ill.

The copy of the paper is well preserved and has many interesting stories.

Of unusual interest is an advertisement of the Naples-Jacksonville Stage Coach Line operated by S. B. Morgan.

The stage coaches made one round trip from Naples to Jacksonville. The stage coach left Naples at 6 a.m., and arrived in Jacksonville at 10 a.m. On the return trip the stage left Jacksonville at 2 p.m., and arrived in Naples at 6 p.m.

The stage carried passengers between the two towns making connections with a daily steamboat to and from St. Louis.

At that early date before railroads in this area, river transportation was used by many residents of this area.

In the newspaper were also several advertisements of city lots both in Naples and Winchester, then growing villages.

Municipal Airport Activities

School children visiting the airport during the past week were from the Greenfield grade school, Bath grade school, and the seventh and eighth grade students from Patterson. Tours are conducted at the airport for any groups, where they are shown various models of airplanes, air craft servicing, operation of beacon, runway lights, radio communications, airway maps, and general airport operations.

Jack Geils, manager of the Municipal Airport, and other personnel are always glad to visit with visitors and answer questions.

Carmen Burgard, flight supervisor for Byerly Airlines, spoke recently at the Exchange club meeting. Burgard explained weather conditions to give a working knowledge of the movement of the elements so that the TV weather forecasts can be more clearly understood. Clouds, cold fronts, stationary fronts, occluded fronts, etc. were discussed, realizing that the average person is too busy nowadays to spend hours reading baout the weather.

Bill Houlihan, weatherman of WEEK-TV, Peoria, said the weather picture in a few words, "Whether its cold or whether its hot we're going to have weather, whether or not."

Larry Heinl, owner of Heinl's Florist Shop, visited Jacksonville again last week, flying from Toledo, Ohio in his modern twin-engine Aero Commander. Bob Orr, pilot for Mr. Heinl, is always a welcome visitor as he is a model airplane enthusiast and always has a new model to display.

A two-place Taylorcraft is being rebuilt by Bill Rees, Franklin, Ill., will soon be ready for it's initial flight. Rees, with the supervision of Max Wolke, A. & E. mechanic at the airport, is doing a good job in his rebuilding and the Taylorcraft will be one of the best in its class when finished. Credit should also be given to Judge Cogswell of Jacksonville for his helping hand.

A welcome visitor Friday was Rev. James J. McGourty of Chicago, who flew in to visit with Father Tracy of Our Saviour's church. Rev. McGourty enjoys flying very much and was getting some of the necessary cross-country flying that is needed for a private pilot.

Concord Bible School Will Be Held In Evening

Vacation Bible School will be held June 4 through 15 at the Concord Christian church from 7 to 9 p.m. (Central Standard Time) each evening. The course of study will be "Our Living Bible."

Pupils from the age of four years through the eighth grade will be enrolled.

Teachers in the beginners department will be Bernice Martin, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Crews; primary teachers, Betty Martin and Vashti Baise; junior teachers, Betty Whitler and Joan Martin; intermediate teachers, Arnold Whitler and Ruth Martin.

All children of the Concord community are welcome to enroll for the vacation school.

7 Jacksonville Residents Become Citizens Of U. S.

Seven Jacksonville residents were among 58 immigrants who took the oath of allegiance to the United States and were made citizens by Judge Charles G. Briggle in federal court Friday at Springfield.

New citizens from this city include: Irene Edna Sample, Great Britain; Dr. Kalman Vajna and Margit, changed name to Dr. Kalman and Margit Vaina, Hungary Juozas Taucas, changed name to Joseph Tauchas, Lithuania; and Stase Taucas, changed name to Stella Tauchas, Lithuania; Liile and Matilde Soomre, Estonia.

Dr. Kalman and Dr. Tauchas are members of the medical staff of the Jacksonville State hospital.

There are 1,000 lakes within 40 miles of Ely, Minn.

The program planned for the Luncheon is a display of hooked rugs made by local people.

Teachers' Sorority Has Installation

Alpha Delta Kappa (teachers' sorority) met with Miss Naomi Carnes on Sunday May 27. Although teaching in Morgan county Miss Carnes lives at Baylis, Ill. and it was at her home that Omicron chapter was entertained.

Mrs. Alvahlee McCarthy presided at the business meeting. At this time final plans for a reception honoring retired teachers, were completed. This reception to be held at the David Smith house on June 12.

The installation ritual for new chapter officers was read by Mrs. McCarthy as the following were duly installed for the coming year: Pres., June Brand; Vice-Pres., Loretta Seymour; Corresponding Secy., Estaleen Scribner; Secy. and Treas.; Christine Thomas; Sergent at arms, Esther White; Chaplain, Lucille Struetter; Keeper of archives, Minnie Marie Spires.

Games of an original kind of Bingo were played before the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Don't try to shine up that old tin pie pan. A dull pan gives a better baked bottom crust and a more evenly browned crisp top crust than a shiny pan.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged its long-awaited rally last Tuesday and held on to enough of its gains to push the averages for the week over to the plus side.

This followed three straight weekly declines and gave Wall Street a welcome breather from the irregular retreat that prevailed since the market reached its record high April 6.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.20 on the weekly to $178.60.

But its sparkling performance on Tuesday far outshone anything the market did on the other three trading days. Wednesday was the Memorial Day holiday.

On Tuesday the market made its greatest advance on average since Sept. 5, 1939, which was four days after Hitler launched World War II by invading Poland. On Sept. 5, 1939, the United States declared a policy of neutrality.

The Tuesday rally put the AP 60-stock average up $3.30. Based on this gain, the quoted value of securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange gained an estimated four billion dollars, recouping that much of the estimated 18 billion dollars lost during the long reaction.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were General Motors up 1⅝ at 42⅜ on 149,500 shares; Standard Oil (New Jersey) up 1¾ at 57¼; US Steel up 1¼ at 55, Alleghany Corp. off ¼ at 8⅝, and Royal Dutch up ¾ at 105.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were Kroy Oils off 1-16 at 2 9-16 on 150,700 shares; British Petroleum off ⅝ at 20⅛; U.S. Foil "B" up ¾ at 49; New British Dominion Oil off 7-16 at 2¾, and Byrd Oil up ¼ at 4¼.

ALL GRAINS LOSE IN WEEK'S TRADING, SOYBEANS DROP MOST

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP) — A majority of grain futures ended lower on the Board of Trade this week but only in July soybeans were losses very large. July beans dropped 8¾ cents.

The best gains were recorded in new crop corn, entirely as a result of a sharp upsweep on Thursday and Friday. New crop soybeans made small fractional gains.

Wheat advanced slightly but both oats and rye declined. Losses in rye were fairly large.

Wheat closed the week ⅜-1⅛ higher, corn 1½ lower to 2¼ higher, oats unchanged to 1 cent lower, rye 2¼-3½ lower, soybeans ⅜ lower to ½ higher and lard 40 to 65 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Old crop corn weakened on liquidation early in the week, recovering later. Cash prices held firm. The new crop months were bought late on the belief the new soil bank plan may result in some reduction in corn acreage and production.

New crop soybeans got support largely because of their wide discount under old crop months.

July soybeans fell under $3.00, touching $2.97¾ at one time. While recovering, July beans didn't show really impressive rallying power. Visible supply at Chicago increased and foreign countries held off expected purchases of soybean oil.

Goverment loan rates on wheat at Chicago are lower on this year's crop than last year's. No. 2 hard wheat is supported at $2.30 against $2.37 last year and No. 3 red at $2.28 against $2.35.

The implications of his lower support rate may be balanced by the fact production in Midwest states, which has considerable influence on Chicago quotations, will almost certainly be smaller than last year.

Production in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Missouri last year totaled 207,747,000 bushels. The latest Agriculture Department estimate for this year's crop in these five states is 176,394,000 bushels.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Unofficial estimated livestock receipts for Monday: cattle 22,000; hogs 10,000; sheep 2,000.

Mrs. Garrett Lee Melvin and Mr. and Mrs. William Meng attended the exercises and banquet. Dr. Melvin has located in Greenfield.

Mrs. Rueben B. Ellis has returned home after a several weeks' visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ray Norris, and family in Phoenix Ariz., and her son, Weston Roodhouse, and family in University City, Mo.

MOVE GRADUATION EXERCISES TO HOSPITAL

CHICAGO (AP) — Special graduation exercises for Durand (Ill.) High School will be moved nearly 100 miles Sunday to the hospital bedside of 18-year - old David Walsh.

Walsh was stricken with polio Sept. 4, but continued his studies in Illinois Research Hospital in Chicago.

Paul G. Norsworthy, superintendent of Durand High, will confer the diploma, and 23 of the senior class members will be on hand in Walsh's hospital room.

Durand is in northwestern Winnebago County, about 100 miles west of Chicago.

FIRST 17-YEAR LOCUSTS APPEAR

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — The first of the expected 17 year locusts has appeared near Henry, the Illinois Natural History Survey said Saturday.

Dr. Thomas E. Moore, survey technician, said the last brood in Illinois came in 1953, but the locusts occurred in smaller numbers than anticipated, possibly because of drought.

Moore and other entomologists are collecting data on this years population of locusts which come from eggs laid by the swarm in late May and early June of 1939.

FIRE DESTROYS SMALL SHED

A small shed adjacent to the residence of Wilson Watson, 1319 Tendick street, was destroyed by fire at 2:45 p.m. Saturday. A car parked nearby was scorched.

The fire squad used a booster line to confine the flames to the shed.

Good For Fight, Frolic —

Wilson To Take His Quarreling Military Family On 4-Day Picnic

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is going to take his quarreling military family to the annual four-day picnic where serenity is supposed to reign.

Perhaps the expected presence of the commander in chief, President Eisenhower, will help induce harmony at this fourth annual "secretaries' conference."

Or maybe it will be like other picnics, and the little ants of dissension will crawl over the table, while the Army and the Air Force and the Navy rehash their disputed claims to roles and missions.

The big Quantico, Va., Marine base 35 miles south of here — where the generals and the admirals and the shirt-sleeved secretaries of the Defense Department and the separate services meet — is a fine place for either fight or frolic.

The dates this year are June 21-24. The agenda follows the pattern of the three previous conferences called by Wilson—to provide a chance for golf and swimming and relaxation, combined with an opportunity for the civilian and military chiefs to talk shop. This year, the latter has interesting possibilities.

What about that good old question, now renewed in another controversial exchange:

If war comes, what service should do what with which weapons?

The 1956 model of the argument now is built around a dispute between the Army and the Air Force over air craft, missiles and missions in general. The Army is unhappy too over its shrinking share of the defense dollar. The Navy in the past never has been reluctant to join in.

Roles and missions assignments for the armed forces were supposed to have been pretty well pinned down and defined by the "Key West" and "Newport" papers. The first defense secretary, James Forrestal, succeeded in getting the Army, Navy and Air Force to agree, in the documents, on the general function of each. The documents are still in existence, but events have reduced their value.

Armed forces expansion in the Korean War, followed by shrinkages, new weapons of the jet-atomic-missile age, cutbacks under reduced national budgets—all these have sharpened the rivalry among the services.

Forrestal took the service officials to the Florida and Rhode Island naval bases to get them away from the atmosphere of Washington while they drafted the Key West Agreement. Wilson has the same idea about the Quantico conferences—to get his secretariat and military staff together around a conference table away from the Pentagon.

Wilson has made it plain he believes the Key West agreements aren't inflexible. (There were some comparatively minor amendments made within the framework of a congressional act about three years ago.)

The defense secretary says, "This roles-and-missions business is never a completely static, frozen thing and never will be."

And at his most recent news conference, flanked by an array of his high command, he asserted:

"We talked about roles and missions of the Key West Agreement as if that settled a lot of things permanently, forever. That is not what happens."

While Wilson didn't mention it then, one of the troubles is that the Key West Agreement on roles and missions was drafted before missiles, jet aircraft and nuclear weapons had come into operational use. For example:

1. The longest-reaching Army weapon was a conventional artillery piece which could lob a shell no farther than immediately behind an enemy line. The Army's scope of operation thus was entirely tactical, on the battlefield itself. Today the Army has guided and unguided missiles which, armed with nuclear warheads, can reach from 50 to 300 miles back of an enemy line. Is this tactical warfare or strategic, designed to destroy enemy capability? The Air Force looks upon it as strategic, and claims priority for that mission.

2. The Air Force has unmanned guided bombers—in the category of missiles—which can strike at targets hundreds or even thousands of miles away. It is working toward intercontinental ballistic missiles. A ballistic missile is basically a form of artillery—it is pre-aimed, it travels through a trajectory. The Army is the traditional user of artillery and bombardment rockets. Is the Air Force encroaching on an Army mission?

3. When the Key West Agreement was made, the Navy still was using planes of comparatively short range, capable of handling only conventional bombs, and operating from carriers which then could carry no bigger or heavier aircraft. Today, the Navy has the Forrestal class carrier and planes able to tote nuclear bombs. The radius of action of the new carrier aircraft is stepped up to over 1,000 miles. Is the Navy prepared to join in strategic warfare against targets well inland? The Key West Agreement said the Air Force was to be "responsible for strategic air warfare?"

This is where interservice argument gets really involved.

At least unofficially, the Air Force has indicated that the Navy should join in strategic air warfare only by invitation. Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, says there can be occasions when an individual target is in doubt, as related to who should attack, and that on those occasions the doubt would be resolved by the Joint Chiefs of staff. As if this argument wasn't already intricate, the Air Force presents two seemingly conflicting arguments. It has frowned upon use of carrier-based planes for strategic warfare. At the same time, it contends carriers couldn't get close enough to strategic targets for their planes to reach the targets.

At his news conference last week, Wilson insisted that the between the Army and Air Force was exaggerated, but conceded that it "blew up a bigger wind than I like." Then he mused:

"I have said—and I know it so well—that the price of progress is trouble. We are making a lot of progress and we are having some trouble."

DR. WILLIAM DYE DIES

TRYON, N. C. (AP)—Dr. William Vincent Dye, 80, active in the State Department for many years during and immediately after World War I, died at his home Saturday.

Dye was born in Flora, Ill. From 1917 to 1919 he was special assistant to the State Department, representing the War Trade Board in Norway. He was U. S. trade commissioner in London from 1921 to 1923.

His widow, a son and a daughter survive. Burial will be in nearby Fletcher, N.C. Monday.

Long Harvest Vegetables Yield Food for Months

To win a bonanza return from an investment of pleasant exercise, try growing long harvest vegetables in your own garden. From one sowing of seed they supply food of superlative quality all summer and fall.

Some, in fact can be harvested all winter. And the vitamin-rich greens are so productive that a home gardener must be careful not to plant too much.

Parsley, Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach stand at the top of the "green, leafy vegetables." Nutritionists say one of these should be eaten every day, to provide the vitamin A with which they are richly endowed. Instead of a row of each, to divide a row among all three will suffice for most families.

Parsnips are improved by freezing.

Parsnips and salsify can be harvested all winter; though a better way is to dig them in the fall, divide them into family servings each in a paper bag, and keep them outdoors in a box sheltered from the rain. Nature will freeze them, and you can bring in a serving when needed.

Sow seed of the hardy ones just as soon as the soil can be prepared. Plants, even of the hardy ones, should not be set out until the danger of frost is over, and that is also the time to sow, or set out plants of the tender varieties, tomatoes, eggplant, peppers and cucumbers.

It is not easy to determine how much to sow, because the harvest lasts from the time they are large enough to use, until frost kills the plants. This is an indefinite period, but in the northern states will usually average about 12 weeks.

Since all these crops are sown only once, your planting schedule is concerned only with the quantity your family can eat. The table herewith shows the length of row required for each family serving.

To estimate the space sufficient to supply the family for this period multiply the figure given in column two of the table by 12, then again by the number of times per week the vegetable will be served on your table.

To obtain the yields for tomatoes and cucumbers estimated in the table, both must be trained on stakes or fences, to reduce the ground space occupied. If vegetables are to be grown for canning, additional space must be provided. Where both early and late varieties of a vegetable are grown, space should be divided between them, to get both an early harvest and the heavier yield which the slow-maturing kinds usually give.

Stevenson, Kefauver Running Close Race

ing.

As the candidates boiled down the home stretch, both were bidding desperately for support of Negro and old age pension voters who make up two of the largest blocs among the Democrats.

Kefauver accused Stevenson of "civil rights equivocation," contending that in Florida his rival was presented as a "moderate" on the school integration issue while in California he was being pictured as a "crusader" for civil rights.

Stevenson said he would not answer this kind of attack because "I do not wish to degrade either myself or my opponent or hurt the Democratic party or demean the greatest office in the world."

Kefauver has made what political hay he could with statements that as governor of Illinois Stevenson vetoed a pension increase bill. Stevenson replied that he had vetoed the bill because the Illinois Republican Legislature refused to provide the tax money to meet the increase.

Kefauver has the backing of the National Institute of Social Welfare and the California Institute of Social Welfare, pension groups the Tennessee senator's leaders hope will be worth 60,000 votes to him.

Stevenson's best appeal to these groups came in a one-day flying campaign for him here by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

With defense industries stretched all over the state, both candidates have bidden actively for organized labor's vote. Generally, the labor leaders back Stevenson but Kefauver's friends said they are ahead with the rank and file.

Outward signs point to about an even break between them in the labor vote.

Jean Hersholt Dies: Radio's Dr. Christian

1886.

In 1906, he pioneered in Danish movies in a short comedy about an old man who sat on a painted bench. His pay was 10 kroner or about $1.40 a day in today's exchange.

His first American film role in 1913 was for $15 a week. Appearing in 453 movies, he became one of the screen's most distinguished character actors.

His better known films included "Abie's Irish Rose," "Greed," "Stella Dallas," "Grand Hotel" and "The Country Doctor."

In the latter, he played the part of Dr. Alan Dafoe, who delivered the famed Dionne quintuplets.

From that characterization evolved the Dr. Christian series which Hersholt performed for 18 years on radio, 52 weeks a year, for the same sponsor—a radio record.

SENATOR SUGGESTS MORE AID FOR INDIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) Saturday night suggested more economic help to India lest Red China dominate Asia and present a "dangerous" new threat to this country.

Mansfield, as chairman of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, made public a study of the economic development race between India and China. He said:

"A dispassionate review of the relative progress of India and Communist China today raises a serious question as to whether India's rate of development is fast enough to serve free world interests.

"It seems to me that Congress, the administration, and the American people might well reconsider our assistance to India from the point of view of whether it is, in fact, of sufficient magnitude to accomplish its objectives."

LORD AND MAYOR FORGIVE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Pennsylvania resident, worried about parking overtime in Knoxville 25 years ago, got a word of encouragement from Knoxville Mayor Jack Dance.

"I guess I have been under conviction and the Lord wants me to settle up," wrote the Blandburg, Pa., man. "I am sorry for that. Fine me or forgive me, whatever the Lord wants you to do."

Dance replied:

"The city has long since forgotten, and I feel sure the Lord will forgive."

ALARM AND EXCURSION

LITTLE FALLS, N. J. (AP) — Police believe that when they find the two men who held up a cleaning establishment here, they'll also find the person who turned in a false fire alarm.

They said the holdup men apparently sounded the alarm to lure the borough's two police cars away from the shopping district and the cleaners.

Then, unworried about police showing up, they carried out the robbery.

Neighbors Come To Aid Of Farmer Who Robbed Bank

FERGUS FALLS, Minn. (AP) — Neighbors from miles around rolled their tractors to the farm of confessed bank robber Vernon Richter Saturday to help plow his soybean and corn fields.

Overwhelmed with gratitude, Richter, 31, the father of six children, said he "couldn't understand why they are willing to help me after the mistake I made."

Fourteen tractors, operated by friends who refused to turn their backs on Richter, worked the 135-acre tract.

Sheriff Russel Broberg said Richter admitted robbing the Northwestern State Bank at Ulen, Minn., of $1,158 two weeks ago because his bills were piling up and he was desperate for money.

Richter is free on $10,000 bail posted by his parents and his wife's parents. Neighbors offered to furnish the bond if the family couldn't.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Dale Long had treated Brooklyn pitchers as though he were enjoying batting practice, when the Pittsburgh first baseman went on a program that follows games at Ebbets Field.

Don Newcombe was the Dodger answering questions by fans.

The quiz concluded, Newcombe turned to Long and said: "I just want to ask you one thing. Did Branch Rickey try to make a left-handed catcher out of you?"

Long replied in the affirmative.

Newcombe shook his head. Watching Long now, that seems as incredible as the first 11 years of his career. Other players staggered around for years before cracking the headlines in the majors, but none had such an extraordinary run as the big first sacker Casey Stengel found on Green Bay, Wis., sandlots after the Green Bay Packers offered to take him directly from prep school into professional football.

* * *

Long will never crash baseball's Hall of Fame, but he has put a baseball in Cooperstown—the one he belted for his seventh home run in as many consecutive games. None of the many giants of the game before him did that.

Even the St. Louis Browns at their worst turned Long back.

This in the same season that Rickey attempted to finally get some mileage out of Long as a left-handed catcher, and insisted it wasn't a gag. The Missourian had been around for seven years then.

What suddenly transformed Long from a spotty minor leaguer to the most respected batter in the National League, its leader in home runs and runs-batted-in?

"Dale just corrected a common ailment," explains Branch Rickey, Jr. "As Andy Seminick of the Phillies pointed out the other day, pitchers no longer get him out pitching high and tight. That pitch has bothered a lot of hitters."

* * *

Rickey, Jr., vice president in charge of Buccaneer branches, recalls that Dolph Camilli was retarded by the same fault, had to learn to lay off the high and tight pitch before starting a highly productive 10-year stretch with the Phillies and Dodgers.

"The pitch is usually a ball and they'd strike out," he recollects. "All Long has done is cut down his strikeouts. He quit overswinging, started to meet the ball. The sheer power was always there. It isn't exactly healthy for pitchers to come downstairs on him."

Making the slow "arrival" of Long, now 30, all the more unusual is the fact that he is no part of a Zeke Bonura at first base or a truck horse on the bases. His running speed is only a little below average. He is a good fielder with fine hands.

* * *

Long credits Bobby Bragan for his development with Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

It is a fact that Long never had much chance in the big leagues until Fred Haney started to string along with him on Memorial Day of last year.

Dale Long would like to have his break be an object lesson.

Looking at his record, players should never give up and magnates should give the hired hand a fair trial.

Ashburn's Three-Run Double Gives Phillies 6-4 Win Over Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Richie Ashburn's two-out double with the bases loaded followed four straight walks in the fourth inning Saturday as the Philadelphia Phillies stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 6-4.

Reliefer Bob Miller turned back a Redbird rally in the ninth inning by forcing third baseman Ken Boyer to hit into a game-ending double play with the bases loaded.

Philadelphia, with two out in the fourth, picked up all six runs as starter Herm Wehmeier lost his control after Elmer Valo beat out an infield roller. He walked four straight men, including pitcher Stu Miller, to force in two runs.

Dick Littlefield then took over on the mound for the Cardinals but was greeted by Ashburn's three-run double to right center and Marv Blaylock's double to the same spot.

Littlefield and Wehmeier came to the Cardinals in a trade that sent Stu Miller, Harvey Haddix and Ben Flowers to the Phils.

Stu Miller, a slow curve ball specialist, held his former mates at bay until the sixth inning when Red Schoendienst led off with a double. Boyer followed with an infield hit and Rip Repulski reached first on an error by Gran Hamner to load the bases. Bill Sarni followed with a three-run double to left center.

The Redbirds picked up their other run in the eighth.

Piersall's Bat Getting As Good As His Catches

BOSTON (AP)—"Never mind the catch, how about those hits!"

That's the motto of Jimmy Piersall, Boston's whipped-quick centerfielder whose spectacular defensive plays are his trademark.

Jim's right, too. He's become as tough on opponents at the plate as he always was afield.

Yet it was a classic theft of Jim Finigan's long drive in the ninth inning that sent the customers goggle-eyed from Fenway Park Friday night after the Sox' 5-0 victory over Kansas City.

Prior to that Piersall had set up one run, scored a second and driven in a third with two singles and a triple to back Tommy Brewer's five-hitter—his seventh triumph of the season against a single loss.

The batting feats were forgotten when Jim raced 40 yards from deep center, angled in parallel to the wall in left center, timed a fantastic jump perfectly, stabbed Finigan's inning-opening blast back-handed and somersaulted over clutching the ball when he landed.

"I don't think it was my best match—but then I'm a poor judge of that," Piersall said. "It was a lucky catch," Jim shrugged. "I don't think I had a chance for the ball and just happened to grab it.

"I was out there in center congratulating myself for my triple when Finigan hit the ball."

Piersall tripled to the 420-foot mark in right center in the eighth inning to score Jackie Jensen from first. In the second inning Jim beat out a bunt toward third to put Jensen in scoring position for Sammy White's single. Jim scored on Don Buddin's sacrifice fly.

Piersall, who conquered mental illness earlier in his baseball career, is off to the fastest batting clip in his major league career.

A notoriously slow starter and fast finisher, Piersall has a respectable .295 average. The nervous hustle-guy from Waterbury, Conn., doesn't lead the Sox in any one department but is near the top in almost all of them.

Piersall rates as his best his running grab off Fred Hatfield at Detroit last year because it prevented what would have been the winning run.

Tom Petty Of Pittsfield Inks Pact With Cards

PITTSFIELD—(Special)— Tom Petty, youngest of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hicks Petty of West Washington street, who is seventeen years old and graduated from the Pittsfield high school May 29, 1956, was signally honored by an offer from the St. Louis Cardinals of a year's contract, which he signed on Wednesday when the visiting scout, Joe Monahan of St. Louis, came here for the purpose of signing him. After signing the contract carrying a salary of $4,000 for the season, he was assigned to the Sioux City, Iowa, Class A ball club, and will leave on Monday to begin his training.

Petty is a southpaw and attracted the attention of the big leagues by his fine record in baseball during high school. In 1956 baseball he held a record of striking out 26 out of 9 batters who faced him. In the recent game in Jacksonville where Pittsfield won 3 to 1 he struck out 19 men in 10 innings of a fifteen inning game, striking out four men in one inning.

Several scouts have been here this spring and watched him as he played in games away from here, among them Cardinal scouts Freddie Hutchinson and Joe Monahan, and all were impressed, resulting in a try out with the Cardinals recently in St. Louis, and the contract signed Wednesday.

Petty was also offered a contract by the Chicago White Sox.

He will be in a minor league club, under pitching instructors, and will be advanced to higher class baseball as his ability becomes apparent. Joe Monohan seems very confident that Petty will make the big leagues in time, and his friends in Pittsfield, and his high school coach, Mel Kuethe, who has been greatly interested in his career, wish him success and will watch his progress with great interest.

Petty's high school record in athletics includes four years each of baseball, basketball and football, in all of which he excelled.

FIBBER MCGEE WINS FEATURE THRILLER

Official starter Russel Reed is shown presenting the checkered flag to Fibber McGee of Bushnell, Illinois after McGee's close win in the feature race of the evening at the Morgan County Fairgrounds speedway Friday night.

McGee's victory had track officials as well as fans buzzing minutes after the race was over how close the finish was. It was almost a photo-finish as McGee edged Dick Vance of Hannibal by a foot.

McGee led the pack throughout most of the race but Vance started making his bid on about the 20th lap to overtake the Bushnell speedster and almost succeeded. McGee and Vance, both driving beautifully overtook the tail-enders in the race and had to maneuver their cars through the pack and Vance was blocked out momentarily but saw an opening and once again was right behind McGee's blue racer.

On the final lap of the 30-lap race, it looked as though Vance was going to take the lead on the final run and as both boys came around the east turn they were running neck and neck on the straight away but at the finish marker it was McGee by a nose's length.

Eddie Freese of Quincy had a good night's run as he captured firsts in the semi-feature and the second heat events. Vance placed second in the feature and first in the first heat run with his P-38 Tiger Black won third heat honors and finished second to Freese in the semi-feature 15 lap race.

The results:

Feature: 1st, Fibber McGee of Bushnell 2nd, Dick Vance of Hannibal; 3rd, Jerry Blundy of Plainsville; 4th, Bud Kinzel of Canton; 5th, Paige Baker of East Alton 6th, Rusty Bell of Jerseyville.

Semi-feature: 1st, Eddie Freese of Quincy; 2nd, Tiger Black of Macomb; 3rd, Herb Glancy of Jacksonville; 4th, Floyd Yeager of Pittsfield; 5th, Johnny Scott of Jacksonville; 6th, Jean Rose of Pittsfield.

Consolation: 1st, Herman Hermier of Hannibal; 2nd, Fibber McGee of Bushnell; 3rd, Frank Cameron of Abingdon; 4th, Mac McGown of Hardin.

First heat winner, Dick Vance of Hannibal.

Second heat winner, Eddie Freese of Quincy.

Third heat winner, Tiger Black of Macomb.

Scat race: 1st, Bud Kinzel of Canton; 2nd, Rusty Bell of Jerseyville; 3rd, Chet Newberry of Quincy.

Best time was 15.71 seconds by Rusty Bell of Jerseyville.

Redlegs Score Four Runs In 8th Inning To Beat Giants 5-2

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, held to four hits through the first seven innings, scored four times in the eighth Saturday off Ruben Gomez to win a 5-2 decision over the New York Giants.

Gomez's first sign of weakness came in the seventh when a double by Ray Jablonski and a single by Ed Bailey accounted for the first Cincinnati run.

Then in the eighth the Redlegs clobbered Gomez quickly. Singles by Johnny Temple and Frank Robinson and an intentional walk to Ted Kluszewski loaded the bases with one out.

Wally Post singled Temple home Robinson also scored when Daryl Spencer let the relay get away from him as he tried to throw.

After Jablonski fouled out Bailey was walked intentionally to load the bases again and Roy McMillan singled to drive in the last two runs.

Tommy Jackson And Patterson Tangle Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing's wise guys used to laugh at Tommy Jackson and the unorthodox heavyweight still is the butt of their jokes, but on Friday night the Hurricane will get the last laugh when he collects $40,000 for meeting classy Floyd Patterson in a heavyweight elimination bout.

Patterson, the Olympic 165-pound champion of 1952, also will receive a minimum of $40,000. More important to both is that the winner may be one step away from fighting for the heavyweight title left vacant by retired Rocky Marciano. Patterson is a 2-1 favorite.

There is a strong possibility that the victor of the televised 12-rounder in Madison Square Garden (NBC-TV, radio, 3 p.m., EST) will take on Archie Moore in September with the heavyweight title at stake. That, of course, depends on how Moore, the light heavyweight champion, fares in his title defense against Trinidad's Yolande Pompey in London's Harringay Arena Tuesday night.

Hopalong Not Interested In Sports Career

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, formally honored Saturday as 1955's male "Athlete of the Year," said he has no intention of making a career in sports.

"That's the reason I have chosen to play professional football instead of baseball," the talented All America halfback from Ohio State added. "It's a means to an end.

"If I were to play baseball it would take nine or ten months a year and I wouldn't have a chance to do anything else. Football is more seasonal and much less demanding. I took a minor in business insurance, majoring in physical education.

"I hope to build up an insurance business in Columbus, Ohio."

Cassady was here to receive the first Frederick C. Miller memorial trophy emblematic of his selection in the Associated Press' annual poll as the male "Athlete of the year." The honor is based on a poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

A similar award was given Patty Berg, the red-haired women's golf star from Minneapolis, who because of previous commitments was unable to be present for acceptance.

The trophies in the name of a prominent Milwaukee business man and ex-Notre Dame football captain, killed in a plane crash, have been established by the Fraternal Order of Eagles. They will be given yearly to the top male and female athletes.

Presentations were made by Judge Robert C. Cannon of Milwaukee.

Cassady, a .300-hitting centerfielder in baseball, said he had received offers to play professional baseball but he had decided instead to sign a contract with the Detroit Lions football team after the college all-star game in Chicago in August.

"I can play football while getting myself established in the insurance business," he said. "If I played baseball, that would have to be it. I don't feel I have enough ability to make it a career."

Hack Surprises Dave Kaiser As Starting Pitcher

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Stan Hack's selection of Don Kaiser to start against the Brooklyn Dodgers Saturday came as a complete surprise to the 21-year-old bonus pitcher.

Kaiser, making his first start in pro ball, responded by holding the Dodgers to two hits for an 8-1 triumph.

Hack said he had planned to start Kaiser for several days but did not want to tell the youngster for fear he might lose some sleep worrying about it. He was told he was going to start only three hours before game time.

Kaiser, who has the standard fast ball, curve and change-of-pace, was signed for "a substantial bonus" a year ago after being scouted by Roy Johnson. He had an amazing 49-1 record in high school and hurled seven no-hitters.

The 6-5, 195-pounder pitched 18 innings of relief for the Cubs last season without record. He had hurled seven innings of relief this season, yielding only one earned run.

Before Saturday's game, coach Dutch Leonard flipped the ball to Kaiser and said: "Go out there and do a job, kid."

After the game, Leonard beamed: "He certainly knows how to follow instructions."

Dave Kaiser, Bob Rush Hurl Cubs To Double Victory Over Dodgers

CHICAGO (AP) — Righthanders Dave Kaiser and Bob Rush shackled Brooklyn's vaunted power Saturday and hurled the Chicago Cubs to a double victory over the world champions, 8-1 and 5-4, before 20,751.

Kaiser, a 21-year-old bonus pitcher from Ada, Okla., limited the Dodgers to two hits in his first major league start while Rush overcame a shaky first inning to post his fourth triumph in six decisions, although he needed help from Turk Lown in the ninth inning.

Carl Erskine and Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's top pitchers, were the victims. Erskine was chased in a four-run fifth inning in the opener. Newcombe suffered his fourth defeat against seven triumphs and was blasted for 10 hits.

It was the first time in five years the Cubs had taken a doubleheader from Brooklyn.

Brooklyn almost tied the second game in the ninth inning but Jim King's perfect throw to the plate nailed Gino Cimoli at the plate and PeeWee Reese flied out to end the game.

With the Cubs leading 5-2, Gil Hodges opened the ninth with a single. Roy Campanella fouled out but Carl Furillo was safe on Gene Baker's error. Newcombe doubled off the leftfield wall, scoring Hodges. Lown replaced Rush and Cimoli ran for Newcombe. Jim Gilliam then singled to left and King's strike to the plate caught Cimoli.

Kaiser, a 6-5 righthander who had a 49-1 record and 7 no-hitters at Byng High School in Ada and then was signed by the Cubs a year ago, was nicked for a scratch single through the box by Duke Snider in the first inning and a clean hit by Reese in the ninth.

Two of the four walks served by Kaiser came in the first and were combined with Snider's hit and Randy Jackson's sacrifice fly for the Dodgers' only run. He struck out 5 and retired 18 in a row until walking Hodges in the seventh.

It was the first complete game by a Cub pitcher against Brooklyn this year.

The Cubs backed up Kaiser with 13 hits, knocking out starter Erskine during a four-run, five-hit fourth. It was Erskine's third defeat since hurling his no-hitter against the Giants May 12.

Large Field Will Try To Qualify For U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP)—About 1,900 golfers will buck 13 to 1 odds Monday in an effort to qualify for the 56th U.S. Open golf championship.

The odds are a little better than they have been in some previous years, but the competition is tougher and there'll be a record number trying.

The Open, to be played at the Oak Hill Club, Rochester, N.Y., June 14-16, drew a record number of 1,934 entries. That passed the mark of 1,928 set two years ago when the championship was at Baltusrol. Of these, 16 were exempt from sectional qualifying and one other already has qualified.

Sectional qualifying rounds at 25 sites are scheduled next Monday with 145 places to be filled.

ASHLAND HOLDS LITTLE LEAGUE BOARD MEETING

Another meeting was held Thursday night by the Ashland Little League board in the Municipal building. The players were officially signed to their respective teams, based on age, brothers and neighborhoods in which they live. Committees for the 1956 season were also elected with the following participating:

Concession stand: Fred Hexter, Jr., chairman; Karl Hager and Richard Petefish.

Grounds and playing field: Herschel Reiser, chairman; Tom Edwards, Delmar Savage, Ward Petefish, Harold Stice and Bud Jokisch.

Lights: Ross Anderson, Jesse Bennett and Harold Ratliff.

Umpires: Pete Gutmann, chairman; Howard Senters, Robert Votsmier, Ivan Monroe and Jerry Price.

Insurance for the Little Leaguers was discussed and will be purchased from R. A. Newell at a cost of $25 per team with the policy covering $1500 blanket medical, $1500 dismemberment and $1500 death benefit.

Those who attended the meeting were Charles Forman, George Sudeth, Carl Orne, Harold Ratliff, Elmer Lee Beadles, Glen Hillen, Jim Riggs and Tom Price.

Nashua became the world's leading money winning horse when he scored in the Camden Handicap on May 19.

Slaughter And Groth Bat Athletics To 11-3 Victory Over Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) — Enos "Country" Slaughter and Johnny Groth both doubled in the seventh inning Saturday to account for the three tie-breaking runs that launched Kansas City toward an 11-3 victory over Boston.

Plucky little southpaw Bobby Shantz relieved Tom Gorman as the pair limited Boston to six hits. All the Sox runs came on Mickey Vernon's sixth home run in the first inning.

The triumph was Gorman's eighth in nine decisions with the Red Sox over a five year period.

Shantz—Making his third appearance in as many games after five weeks out with a sore back—got the call in the seventh when Gorman walked the first two men and had a 2-0 count on pinchhitter Dick Gernert.

Bobby got Gernert on a fly to short right and after Jim Piersall was hit by a pitch, loading the bases, pinchhitter Norm Zauchin lined into a double play.

With the score 3-3 in the seventh, Slaughter powered his double.

Vic Power had singled and been sacrificed to second prior to 'Mr. Dependable's" blow. After Jim Finigan's walked, groth doubled in his second and third runs of the game. He had singled for a tally in the second.

Kansas City dispelled all doubts in the ninth with five runs on three singles, Finigan's two-run triple and three walks.

Littler's 4-Under Par Ties DeVicenzo For First In Texas Open

DALLAS (AP)— Californian Gene Littler rolled in with a 4-under-par 66 late Saturday to tie Roberto De Viceno, the hot-putting Argentine, for first place at 36 holes in the $70,000 Texas International Open.

De Vicenzo, professional at Mexico City's country club picking up vacation expense money, shot a 65 five hours earlier and his 130 for 36 holes stood up until Littler birdied the 18th hole with an 8-foot putt.

Just before Littler pulled his stretch drive, Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist-golfer, posted a 67 for a 2-day total of 131. Cary missed a birdie by two inches on the 18th or he would have tied for the lead, too.

Big Bill Casper of Chulavista, Calif., who had been tied with Littler and Middlecoff for the opening round lead, took a 69 Saturday and fell to fourth.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., still the biggest gallery draw and the pre-tournament favorite, had another 67 for 134 and stayed in strong contention for the $14,000 first money.

Snead was tied with Bill Trombley, Dallas professional, for fifth place. Trombley shot a 66 Saturday. In sixth place was Tommy Bolt of Houston, who had 69 for 135.

Tied at 136 were Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Ted Gwinn of Tulsa, Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., Harry Todd of Dallas, Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, and Don January of Abilene, who won last week's $30,000 Dallas centennial open. January had a 68.

150,000 Golfers Will Try To Beat Fleck, Crocker

CHICAGO (AP) — Approximately 150,000 golfers will swarm over 3,300 courses next Saturday in an effort to beat Jack Fleck and Fay Crocker, last year's national men's and women's open champions, on the fifth annual National Golf Day.

The event is sponsored by the Professional Golfers' Assn., which Saturday disclosed it had 20,000 fancy "I Beat Jack Fleck" and "I Beat Fay Crocker" medals ready for distribution.

The nation's duffers, who must ante $1.00 each in this "all golf charity for golf" feature, can use their club handicaps in the competition against Fleck and Miss Crocker.

Jack and Fay will play their rounds Saturday at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N. Y., site of the 1956 U.S.G.A. open championship.

Parnell, Rudolph Meet In Western Amateur Finals

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A pair of young Tennesseeans, Mason Rudolph of Clarksville and Jack Parnell of Nashville, advanced to the finals Saturday of the Western Amateur golf tournament.

Rudolph, 22-year-old former national junior champion, defeated young Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., 1-up to gain the finals. Parnell, at 20 one of the youngest players in the tournament, walloped Dale Morey, Indianapolis veteran, 3 and 1.

Both semifinal matches were close, although a fresh wind ran medal scores higher than on previous rounds. Rudolph, former Memphis State golfer and Tennessee open titleholder, turned in a 74 on the morning round, when he went ahead 1-70.

Parnell, an Oklahoma A & M student, had to come from behind during the afternoon to defeat Morey, a former pro and veteran of many tournaments. The Indianapolis shotmaker was 1-up after the morning 18, when he shot a 74 on the par 72 Belle Meade Country Club course.

The college boy went to work in earnest in the afternoon round and evened the match on No. 19. He went ahead two holes later. Parnell birdied the par 5 17th to win the match.

The two play 36 holes Sunday for the championship now held by Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., who failed to make the match play bracket.

MRS. KNUTE ROCKNE, WIDOW OF FAMED COACH, DIES

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)— Mrs. Knute Rockne, widow of Notre Dame's famed coach, died Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Rockne, in her middle sixties, entered the hospital two weeks ago at which time it was stated she was suffering from "complications."

Her husband, who was head football coach at Notre Dame from 1918 through 1930, was killed in a plane crash, March 31, 1931.

The Rocknes met at a summer resort in Cedar Point, Ohio, and were married in 1915. Mrs. Rockne was born Bonnie Skiles in Kenton, Ohio.

She is survived by four children, Mary Jeanne and Bill who lived with Mrs. Rockne in South Bend, Knute, Jr., of Chicago, and Jacke Rockne of South Bend. She also left a half sister, three half brothers and five grandchildren.

Funeral plans were not announced immediately.

Bradley Rolls Over N. Dakota 11-2 In Playoff

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Bradley University won its way into the NCAA baseball "world series" Saturday by downing North Dakota State 11-2 in the association's district 5 playoff final.

The iMssouri Valley champions belabored North Dakota (16-5) with five runs in the third inning and six in the fifth, assisted by five errors.

Bradley (22-6) took charge behind pitcher Wyman Carey (9-2), sophomore left-hander from Blue Island, Ill., who settled down after being rapped three times in the first two innings, but gave up two more in the eighth.

The losing pitcher was Clarence Niskanen who was replaced by Don Worner in the sixth after the six-run Bradley spree in the fifth.

Bradley's win sends the Peoria team to the national NCAA finals next weekend at Omaha. North Dakota State bested Oklahoma 8-3 Friday in the three-way district showdown.

Merchants Win 9-7 On Homer By Don Hazelrigg

The Jacksonville Merchants tripped the visiting Griggsville Nite-Hawks 9-7 Friday night at the Nichols Park diamond on a seventh inning home run over the left field fence by centerfielder Don Hazelrigg with two teammates on base.

Hazelrigg's homer broke a 6-6 deadlock. Bob McEvers toiled for the Merchants and allowed only six hits but several walks and three hit batsmen kept him in hot water throughout the tilt.

Glenn Willard paced the visitors' hitting attack with two hits in three trips, one of these being a double. Gregory, Woodward and Ezard collected two hits apiece for the Merchants.

John Landy Has Five Of The 10 Fastest Miles

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Bannister's historic breakthrough of the four-minute mile barrier no longer can be included among the world's 10 fastest miles.

So common have sub-four-minute miles become that Bannister's first effort, 3:59.4 on May 6, 1954, little more than two years ago, now is 11th on the list. He later did it in 3:58.8.

The latest runners in the four minute club were Ron Delany of Ireland with 3:59.0 Friday night at Compton, Calif., and Gunnar Nielsen of Denmark, with 3:59.1 in the same race.

3 CHISOX PLAYERS GO TO PRISON—FOR A VISIT

BALTIMORE (AP)—What do baseball players do when a game is rained out in a strange city?

It happened to the Chicago White Sox Saturday and three of them went to prison.

Jim Rivera, Billy Pierce and Walt Dropo toured the Maryland penitentiary and later answered questions from the inmates at an impromptu interview in the prison auditorium.

Notre Dame Ends Season With 11-2 Win Over Navy

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)— Notre Dame ended its baseball season Saturday with an 11-2 victory over Great Lakes, giving the Irish a 10-9 record for the campaign.

Tom Bujnowski, junior righthander, yielded 10 hits but kept them well spaced in going the distance for his sixth victory against three losses.

Third baseman Tom Jaeb contributed Notre Dame's big hit, a three-run homer in the eighth inning. The Irish picked up 13 hits off two Great Lakes pitchers.

Saxton Tries New Fight Weapon--- A Baseball Bat

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Saxton, welterweight boxing champion of the world, got into a baseball-bat-swinging street fight early Saturday that landed him and his opponents in jail.

Saxton, 25, was later released in $1,000 bail for arraignment Sunday on a felonious assault charge.

Also charged with felonious assault were two waiters, Wade Nance, 29, and Samuel Wyatt, 34, who were treated for cuts and bruises after their bout with Saxton.

The boxer apparently required no medical attention, although police said Nance attacked Saxton with a lug wrench after Saxton had belabored the two waiters with his baseball bat.

The fight, police said, started when the waiters' car blocked Saxton's on a narrow street, and the waiters refused to move after much horn-blowing by Saxton.

After the fight Saxton went home and called police, claiming he was assaulted. At about the same time Wyatt and Nance were lodging a complaint with police that Saxton had assaulted them.

BUSY SPARTAN

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Charlie Bates qualifies as the "busiest athlete" at the University of Michigan.

On one weekend, Bates accompanied Michigan's gymnastic team for a match against Illinois in Champaign on a Friday night, then hopped a plane to Chicago and took an overnight train ride to Iowa City, where he won first place in a swimming meet against Iowa.

WRONG YEAR

BLOOMFIELD, N. J. (AP) — Bloomfield College's basketball team showed up for a game with Pace College of New York the other night, but Pace failed to arrive.

A telephone call produced the reason: Pace had the game scheduled for 1957.

Mexico City was the first Latin American city to operate a television station.

American Legion Play Gets Underway Today

The American Legion baseball program gets underway today with all ten teams seeing action. So many teams entered this year's race that two leagues had to be formed. Teams entered in the 20th South-East Division are, Jacksonville, Jerseyville, Greenfield, Pittsfield, Carrollton and Beardstown.

Barry, Bluffs, Meredosia and Winchester compose the opposition in the North-West division. The Jacksonville Legion will play some of their games at night since new lights have been erected at the Nichols Park diamond this season and will also play matched games outside of league competition.

All games will be played at 2:00 p.m. (DST) unless otherwise arranged by the managers of the teams involved. The district playoffs will be held on July 7, the site to be named at a later date. The district winner will play in the 3rd Division playoff that will be held at Nichols Park on July 14 and the winner here will advance to the down state finals to be held in East St. Louis on July 21. The two teams in the finals of the playoffs at Nichols Park in July will meet under the lights instead of an afternoon ball game.

The Jacksonville club travels to Quincy this Thursday for an encounter with the Quincy Legion at "Q" stadium and on June 23 the local team plays host to the South-West Kiwanis Club from St. Louis at the southside park.

The schedule for Sunday, June 3:

Jacksonville at Jerseyville
Greenfield at Pittsfield
Carrollton at Beardstown
Barry at Bluffs
Winchester at Meredosia

John Beharrell, Age 18 Beats Taylor To Win British Amateur Title

By TOM OCHILTREE

TRON, Scotland (AP)—John Beharrell, told to quit school this year to protect his health, Saturday won the British amateur golf championship — one of golfdom's greatest titles — at the record-smashing age of 18.

The chunky, blond youngster, hailed as a budding Bobby Jones, defeated 32-year-old Leslie Taylor, 5 and 4, as gales howled across the Firth of Clyde with such fury that they drove putts off line as they rolled toward the cups.

No golfer so young ever before has won either the British or American amateur titles. The immortal Jones reached the U. S. finals at 17 back in 1949 but was defeated. Francis Ouimet of Boston took the U. S. crown in 1914, the year he became 21.

Beharrell, poised and unsmiling, took up golf seriously only a year ago for the sake of his health. He had never touched a club until four years ago.

But Saturday he won by playing impeccable shots around the gale-swept greens and drilling his drives through the screaming winds.

Beharrell succeeds Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., who was eliminated in Thursday's quarter final round. He is the first Englishman to win the British amateur title since Alex Kyle did it in 1939.

Beharrell saw a 6-up lead melt to only two up and shook his head in amazement as the wind whirled his ball out of line time after time and even altered the course of his putts.

But he had great shots when disaster threatened. The Birmingham teen-ager, playing nervelessly, holed a remarkable 70-iron shot at the 368-yard 25th for an eagle two. Under the prevailing playing conditions it was little short of miraculous. Even more important for him was a 15-foot putt he sank at the 30th hole to halt Taylor's last gasp bid.

The Glasgow insurance man had won the four preceding holes and for the first time looked like he had a chance to take the title.

Twelve times during the 36-hole match over the 6,583-yard seaside course Beharrell got down with a chip and a putt after missing the green with his approach. That was the difference. When Taylor missed the green, he almost invariably lost the hole.

Score Hurls 3-Hitter Against Nats To Give Cleveland 15-0 Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herb Score struck out 13 and allowed only three hits and Jim Hegan smashed a bases-loaded homer Saturday night as Cleveland mauled Washington, 15-0.

Vic Wertz, Rocky Colavito and Sam Mele also hit home runs for the Indians as the Senators were handed their first shutout of the season.

Score struck out 13 while rationing the Senators to three singles.

The Senators hit only four balls beyond the infield against Score and only one after the first inning.

In absorbing their first shutout of the year the Senators approached record proportions. Three times in their history they have been blanked by 17-0 scores, but despite missing a mark they considered themselves well whipped.

Score, a lefthander who will be 23 years old Thursday, notched his sixth victory. It was his third three-hitter of the year and his second against the Senators, 15 of whom he fanned in a previous meeting.

The Indians pounded Dean Stone, Truman Clevenger and Connie Grob for 14 hits, with Chico Carrasquel and Sam Mele supplying three each.

Litchfield Nips Redlegs 1-0 In Ten Innings

The Jacksonville State Hospital Redlegs participated in one of the greatest games ever seen on Ray Schath field in Litchfield Friday night. Jack McNeeley and Bernie Rappe hooked up in a tremendous pitching duel that was ended in the bottom of the 10th when the Redlegs were guilty of two errors which let the winning run score.

Only one runner reached first for either team in the first 8 innings and he was safe as a result of an error. Rappe, in his 10 inning stint, fanned 18 Redleg batters and Jack McNeeley, while only getting 10 strikeouts was superb as he pitched one of the best games of his career. McNeeley pitched an 11 inning game just two nights previously and in his last 27 innings has allowed only two earned runs.

The regulation number of innings for softball is seven innings and the amazing fact in the game at Litchfield was that both pitchers threw no-hit ball for eight full innings and not one runner received free transportation to first base throughout the game.

The Redlegs next game will be against Macomb there Tuesday, June 5.

HUNTERS' CRITIQUE

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—The Wyoming game and fish department sent questionnaires to out-of-state hunters asking for criticisms and comments on big game hunting.

Most hunters expressed satisfaction with Wyoming conditions. But here's a couple of complaints received:

"We had to hike too far to elk hunting country."

"There wasn't enough entertainment provided at night."

TROUT STEPS

HUNGRY HORSE, Mont. (AP)—To build a mountain highway, a creek was guided into a culvert but it was ttoo steep for spawning trout to make the grade up Flathead River's South Fork. Steps were built along the 138-foot culvert for the trout to climb. Five series of three sheet metal baffles in each series provide slack water, from which the trout can leap.

YOUNGEST JUSTICE

Justice Story, who served from 1811 to 1845, was the youngest man ever appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States, being appointed just after his 32nd birthday.

The Grand National steeplechase was established in England during 1837.

Guy Smith Hasn't Missed A Grid Game Since 1904

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Back in 1904 as a freshman at the University of Colorado Guy Smith missed a football game. He vowed he'd never miss another home game.

Now known as Dr. Guy W. mathematics professor at the University of Kansas, he says he has broken the vow only once. He has mathematics — er, figures — to prove it. Smith's retirement from teaching this month prompted him to review his football record.

In the 52 years of studying or teaching at Colorado, Illinois, Beloit (Wis.) College, Kentucky and Kansas, Smith has seen 220 games.

The best season's record seen by Dr. Smith was that of Illinois in 1914. That's when Potsy Clark paced the Illini to an undefeated season.

Smith says the most lopsided game he saw was Kansas' 83-0 defeat of Washington in 1923. That's when Potsy Clark coached Kansas.

Smith has been at Kansas the last 36 years and on the K. U. athletic board since 1939. And if you think these are a lot of figures, you should see his scrapbook.

PITTSFIELD

PITTSFIELD — Three Pike County students will graduate from Illinois State Normal University June 9: Miss Ann Sowers Stanley of Pittsfield and Kathryn Joan Moyer and William Dale Furniss of Barry.

Dr. William G. Kraybill and his son, Bill, left this week for a visit in the east. Dr. Kraybill will enroll at Cornell University Medical College for a short course on fractures. His son will visit his grandparents in Philadelphia.

The Girl Scout day camp will be held for two weeks in June, the 12th through the 15th and the 19th through the 22nd. Brownies will attend the first week and Intermediates will attend the full two weeks.

The camp will be directed by Mrs. Violet Shulman and Girl Scouts from Barry, Griggsville and Pittsfield are eligible to attend. The camp site will be on the Earl Hoos farm a short distance northeast of Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike L. Smith have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Catherine, to Mr. Wayland Willard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Willard, which will occur at 8 o'clock June 16 at St. Mary's Catholic Church. The bride to be is employed as receptionist and assistant in the dental offices of Dr. C. E. Galloway. Mr. Willard is employed at Benson's Standard Station.

Gene Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ray, has been accepted for the Air Cadets and will report to Lackland Air Force Base June 19 to be in his training. He hopes to become a jet pilot. He has had some work at Western Illinois College in Macomb and a year at Parks Air College. He has been employed at the Trio Manufacturing company at Griggsville the past few wteks.

MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER — Mrs. Rose Rousey and Mrs. Carl Rousey of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. T. Beadles of Murrayville were dinner guests last Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heaton. In the afternoon all visited Mrs. Paul Drennan of Roodhouse. Mrs. Drennan and children are moving to Joliet, where her husband is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Whewell and sons attended a birthday dinner in Alsey Sunday, May 27, honoring Wilburn's mother, Mrs. Walter Whewell. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Whewell and children of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Band, Dale and Darlene of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. William Whewell of Nortonville.

Mrs. Stanley Copley attended a shower Sunday at the home of Mrs. Frank Clayton, honoring Miss Claudine Stone, who will become the bride of David Daniels.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Witty and family of Mt. Sterling spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ruyle, Mrs. Leo Ruyle and two daughters of St. Louis visited Sunday with Mrs. Ida Whitlock. Mrs. Whitlock later accompanied them as far as Alton, from where she went to New Douglas to visit her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Whitlock.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl William Kerstein of Anchorage, Alaska, have spent the past three weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kerstein, and with Mrs. Lula Ruyle. They will leave Thursday for Detroit, Mich., where he will be stationed.

'We Might Go All The Way With Some Help,' Says Pirates Skipper

By CHUCK CAPALDO

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The rollicking Pirates of Pittsburgh, in second place a half game behind Milwaukee and enjoying the view, eyed the top o' the mast today, but that's not all—

Manager Bobby Bragan thinks his Corsairs can get there and stay there if he can get more hitting at second base and a strong left-handed pitcher for late inning relief.

The Pirates crept to within half a game of the Braves Friday night by taking the opening game of a four game series—4-1, behind homers by rookie Lee Walls and Dale Long and the steady pitching of Bob Friend. Walls opened the scoring with a three-run homer, his fourth of the campaign, and Long smacked his 15th and ninth in 13 games. Friend posted his ninth victory against two losses.

Asked how it felt to be so close to first place, Bragan, a reformed catcher, said:

"Those 154 games that loom in the background kind of temper any exuberance you might have. We're like a race horse at the quarter post still in the pack. We hope to draw out ahead at the half post, but we can't let over-confidence set in."

Then Bragan, referring to the weak hitting Curt Robers at second, said he'd like to get more power in the infield and a southpaw pitcher—through trades.

"If we had those two," he added, "we might go all the way."

There have been rumors that the Pirates might be considering a deal for infielder Don Zimmer of Brooklyn, possibly for a pitcher. Zimmer, though not a consistent hitter in the past, does stroke for power.

Bragan credits the Pirates' surge mainly to five players: Long, Walls, Frank Thomas, Friend, whom he rates as the best pitcher in the National League bar none; and Ronnie Kline. But, he said, "everybody has had a hand in it."

Whatever it is the Pirates are a changed club. Last year at this time they were entrenched in last place, 19 games behind.

Back in '48—the last time the Bucs say the light of first place—they finished fourth. That was the year the Braves won the pennant.

ENTITLED TO EVERY HOMER

DETROIT (AP)—General Manager Herold (Muddy) Ruel of the Detroit Tigers was praising Charley Lau, a 22-year-old catching prospect.

"He's a good hitter," Ruel said. "He hit 18 home runs for Durham in the Carolina League last season."

"Er, excuse me, Mr. Ruel," said Lau shyly, "I really hit 19. I wrote to the League about it. One got lost in the shuffle."

HE WAS THERE!

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Registrars at the permanent registration office were certain they had caught an error. The birth date of William Edward Davis was listed as Dec. 25, 1838.

A form letter, asking the voter to "straighten out the error," brought a personal appearance by Davis himself, a former slave who submitted affidavits to prove he really is 117 years old. Davis said he remembers being sold in slavery at the age of 12 in Winston-Salem, N. C., where he was born.

Walls Paces Bucs To 4-2 Victory Over Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The prancing Pittsburgh Pirates drove to within eight percentage points of the first place Braves Saturday night as rookie Lee Walls scored one run and drove in two more in beating Milwaukee, 4-2.

It was the second victory in two games for the Pirates over the Braves who now trail Pittsburgh in the games behind column by half a game. The Pirates can take over first place in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader, but need a victory in the nightcap to hang on.

It was also the second night in a row that Walls was more than the Braves could handle. His three run homer pased the Pirates Friday night. Saturday night he also made a spectacular catch in center to keep his fielding on a par with his hitting.

The Pirates hung the loss on big Gene Conley who was making his first start since Aug. 15, 1955. Conley lasted five and two-third innings, was hit for all four runs and seven hits. It was his first defeat against one victory picked up in relief. Three other Milwaukee hurlers saw duty.

The victory went to veteran righthander Red Munger and was his first triumph in the major leagues since 1951. He returned to the majors this year after a stay in the minors and lost his only other decision.

The Pirates scored their first run in the third inning when Walls opened with a single and was walked in by Conley after the bases were loaded.

The Pirates added three more in the sixth with Walls sending two of them across with a single, again after three Pirates were on base.

Conley scored the first Milwaukee run in the third when he went home on a force play that came with the bases loaded. The Braves got their last run in the sixth as Jack Dittmer singled to score Chuck Tanner who had doubled.

A crowd of 27,650 saw the game in 47-degree weather.

PARLIAMENTARY GUIDE

MUSKEGON, Mich (AP)—Nobody fouls up parliamentary procedure in a meeting when Mrs. Marjorie Duncan is around.

Mrs. Duncan has invented a device she calls a "Slide-A-Rule" designed to guide the average club member on the "do's" and "don'ts" of parliamentary procedure.

Designed in accordance with Roberts Rules or Order, the device lists 27 motions most frequently used at meetings.

By setting an indicator to the motion wanted, the information at a center window in the slide case tells how to properly state the motion, its rank and function.

Another window on the reverse side automatically indicates whether the speaker may be interrupted by such a motion; whether it requires a second; whether it may be debated or amended; whether a majority or two-thirds vote is required; and whether the vote may be reconsidered.

United Nations Executive Will Speak At MacMurray Today

Collection Of Taxes Begins Tomorrow

Collection of taxes will begin Monday morning at the office of Sheriff Jack Andrews, ex-officio collector of taxes.

Personal taxes and the first installment on real estate are due and payable before July 15 without a penalty. The second installment on real estate may be paid any time before Sept. 1 without penalty.

Sheriff Andrews said the amount of 1955 taxes payable in 1956 that have been turned over to his office for collection is $2,931,902.18. This is $130,250.45 more than 1954 taxes extended payable in 1955 which was $2,801,641.73.

This year the collector has in his file 15,286 real estate tax bills and 10,770 personal property tax bills.

The collector's office has been modified to expedite time required for the taxpayers to wait while paying their taxes. The taxpayers will enter one door and go to the tax counter to one of four windows which are marked alphabetically according to the taxpayer's last name. They will receive their tax receipts and will make out their check if they intend to pay by check and then go to one of two cashiers who will receipt their tax bill. They will then leave by a different door than the one entered.

The most important thing for the taxpayer to remember is to go to the window alphabetically marked the same as his last name.

The increase in the amount of taxes collectable this year is due to an increase in the number of personal property assessments and an increase in the number of commercial and residential buildings constructed the collector said.

Dr. Frank A. Norris Increases Gift To Our Saviour's Hospital Building Fund From $25,000 To $75,000

Dr. Frank A. Norris, distinguished Jacksonville citizen and noted surgeon, informed leadership of the Our Saviour's Hospital campaign Saturday that he will increase his previous gift of $25,000 by another $50,000. This means Dr. Norris will have pledged and willed a total of $75,000 to the campaign.

He said he was "taking this step in the interest of fulfilling the complete hospital need of the community."

Dr. Norris is one of nine men who comprise a special committee concerned with the successful conclusion of the late stages of the second phase of the campaign.

The announcement of Dr. Norris' gift was made to this special group at a closed committee luncheon held at the Dunlap Hotel last week. The committee, an extension of the leadership planning of the steering committee of the campaign, is comprised of Attorney Leavitt Arnold, Chairman; Chester Colton, Frank Flynn, Dr. Morris Greenberg, Clarence Lukeman, Gordon May, Dr. F. A. Norris, Lawrence Oxley, Earl Spink and Maurice Walsh.

To Be Named In His Honor

Immediately upon disclosure of Dr. Norris' gift, the committee passed a resolution to the effect that the new wing to be constructed at the hospital would be named in honor of Dr. Norris as a "tribute to his long years of dedicated service to this community." It was further decided the solicitations in the immediate future would emphasize heavily the tribute aspect.

Dr. Victor H. Sheppard, President of the Advisory Board of the Hospital, and Chairman of the second phase of the campaign, said:

"By this heartwarming action Dr. Norris has displayed a great civic consciousness. The success of the campaign is now virtually assured."

Attorney Leavitt Arnold disclosed that the special committee plans to talk with other outstanding citizens and thus assure an over-the-top campaign. He gave the dollars need as approximately $50,000 still to be obtained through public subscription. Building Fund staff members clarified the apparent discrepancy between previous production announcements and the present status by disclosing that some estate gifts which had previously been counted upon have now been reduced through shrinkage due to estate taxes.

Sisterhood Very Grateful

Sister M. Magdala, C.S.C., Administrator of the Hospital, commented:

"The Sisters of the Holy Cross share with the community of Jacksonville deep gratitude for the benevolence of Dr. Norris." She pointed out that from time to time over the years Dr. Norris has bestowed numerous gifts and assistance to the institution—the most recent gift was nine air conditioner units a few days ago. Sister M. Magdala also emphasized that this key gift, coming at this crucial time, means the new wing at Our Saviour's can be constructed adequately to meet the needs of the Jacksonville area and community.

Dr. Sheppard said: "There will be no fundamental change in the plan to continue a long range development effort, since it will still be necessary for the Sisters of the Holy Cross to borrow upwards to half a million dollars." The importance, he stressed, is that now the original $400,000 sought at the start of the second phase of the campaign, should be reached with-

Commencement To Be At 4 O'Clock; Several Get Honorary Degrees

Commencement events will attract a large crowd to the MacMurray College campus today, where baccalaureate services will be conducted at 10:45 o'clock, followed in the afternoon by commencement exercises at which Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, executive assistant to the secretary-general of the United Nations, will speak.

Four honorary degrees will be conferred upon distinguished guests, including Mrs. Spencer Tracy, wife of the motion picture actor, in recognition of her service as director of the John Tracy Clinic.

A large class of graduates will receive degrees, including a number of post graduate candidates.

The baccalaureate address this morning will be delivered by Dr. Rockwell C. Smith of Garrett Biblical Institute, Chicago. His subject will be "Stretch Out Your Hand."

Sermon To Be Broadcast

The baccalaureate address will be broadcast by Radio Station WLDS.

An hour of music is scheduled at 2 o'clock in the Music Hall and the academic procession assembles in MacMurray Hall at 3:15 p.m.

Commencement exercises will be held at 4 p.m. in the Chapel, when Dr. Andrew W. Corider, Executive Assistant to the Secretary-General of the United Nations address graduates, parents of students, faculty, and friends of the college.

Dr. Cordier has taken as the title of his address "On Being An 'Answer' to Life's Problems."

The speaker, who has been chief adviser to each of the Secretaries-General of the United Nations since the inception of this organization in San Francisco, is expected to comment authoritively and forcefully on the significance of the cold war and of atomic developments and atomic controls.

Four Honorary Degrees

Those who will receive honorary degrees at the commencement exercises the Reverend Leslie C. Archer, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Monticello, Illinois, who will receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity; Mrs. Spencer Tracy, director of the John Tracy Clinic in Los Angeles, who will receive the degree of Doctor of Humanities; Charles Nagel, director of the City Art Museum of St. Louis, who will receive the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts; and Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, the commencement speaker, who will be presented with the degree of Doctor of Laws.

The principal address will be broadcast later at the hour of 6 p.m. over Jacksonville radio WLDS.

FINDS ORIOLE NEST IN TREE OUTSIDE HOME

PATTERSON — Emil Kettel, who resides in Alton with his wife and two children, Jack and Jill, spend occasional weekends and holidays at the family home in Patterson. He recently discovered a Baltimore Oriole nest in a tree at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilkinson, south of Patterson.

Being a bird lover and interested in the study of nature, he immediately became interested in these birds, and set up his camera equipment for pictures.

The nest, a very compactly woven one and about six inches deep, hung suspended from a limb in a box elder tree, about fifteen feet from the ground. Being out of camera range, Kettel sawed off the limb and wired it to a lower branch. In changing the nest he found it contained several eggs, two from a different kind of bird, which he believed belonged to a cowbird.

The Orioles were not many minutes in finding the new location of their home and Kettel soon was taking pictures of the birds at the nest. He took them by remote control seated in his car, with the camera about five feet from the nest.

On Memorial Day he was back again and found that the eggs had hatched and with patience in his camouflaged 'bird blind' he was able to get several more pictures of the birds feeding their young.

As a reward of his patience in this hobby he has won prizes with his pictures, which he says makes it more interesting.

ANIMALS BANNED

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The City Council has proposed an ordinance making the city off limits to cows, horses, mules, goats, sheep, hogs, chickens, geese, turkeys and pigeons. Too many farm animals in the city, the council says.

Dogs, cats and song birds won't be affected.

Party Marks 5th Birthday Of Roodhouse Boy

ROODHOUSE — Stevie Bandy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bandy, celebrated his fifth birthday anniversary Saturday afternoon with a party. Prizes at games were awarded to Jan Harp, Shawn Denney and Mary Ardys Manning.

Mrs. Bandy was assisted by both grandmothers, Mrs. Bob Bandy and Mrs. Bill Israel, in serving refreshments of ice cream, cupcakes, and punch. Favors of candy in nut cups and suckers were presented to all present.

Present were the guest of honor, Stevie Bandy; Steve Brooks, Ricky Hatcher, Judy Day, Lynn Ann Harp, Jan Harp, Shawn Denney, Mary Ardys Manning, Jeff Strang, Doug Israel, Sharon Bandy and David Israel.

To Wed In June

Invitations have been received in Roodhouse to the wedding of Elsie Mae Ballard, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Meckley, and George Richard Beckey of Springfield, at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 10. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. H. L. Janvrin at the First Baptist Church here. A reception will follow in the church fellowship room.

Miss Hester Barry, Indianapolis, Ind., is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. John W. Roberts and son. Also a guest in the same home is Miss Ada Howell of Springfield.

Edna Jo Thompson, who resides with her sister, Mrs. Sarah Hodge of St. Joseph, Mo., is visiting her father, Howard Thompson, and others here.

Dennis Hagen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Hagen, left Sunday in company with his aunt, Miss Eleanor Ring of Jacksonville, to visit in the home of another aunt, Mrs. Herman Schowe and family of San Marino, Calif. He expected to leave Monday for a fishing trip in the high Sierras with his uncle.

Mrs. John Henderson, who has been a surgical patient at Passavant Hospital in Jacksonville, returned to her home here Sunday.

Judy Walker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. Earl Walker, returned home Tuesday from Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James McCartney Sunday, a daughter, at Passavant Hospital, Jacksonville.

THIEF REJECTS TV

CUSHING, Okla. (AP)— Cushing police are looking for a thief who doesn't like television.

The culprit broke into a downtown billiard parlor and stole a television set. Later, it was left at the depot with a note "this belongs at the Broadway pool hall."

Not satisfied, the thief then wrote a letter to the manager of the pool hall telling him where he left the set.

However, he did not mention what he did with the two cases of beer, eight cartons of cigarettes and a box of cigars he also took.

More On-Farm Grain Storage Encouraged

URBANA—Farmers may find it desirable to increase their on-the-farm corn storage space for 1956 because of three government measures reports L. F. Stice, extension marketing specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

A new government incentive is the price support for non-allotment corn.

Government loans to buy or build farm storage and condition equipment and to reseal price support corn now on farms are two already established government measures.

Additional construction of on-the-farm storage space will be encouraged by the new price support measure on non-allotment corn because many producers do not have approved facilities for the corn from harvest until loan maturity. Right now there isn't enough crib space on many Illinois farms to store even one year's crop.

Two Important Factors

Whether it is wise to build permanent new corn storage space merely to get the government loan is debatable. Two important factors to consider are (1) the difference between the market and support price for corn at harvest and (2) the duration and nature of supports on corn while present supports are in force.

"We cannot know how long the government price support program on corn will continue," advises Stice. "However, past experience indicates that farm income and support measures, once adopted, are not easily withdrawn."

4% Loans

Some farmers may be encouraged by the financing possibilities of government loans for the purchase and construction of new storage facilities. These loans are at 4% interest with five years to pay.

The corn reseal program is of greatest benefit to farmers who already have storage for more than one year's crop, reports Stice. Other farmers whose existing space will soon need to be replaced may earn some income to pay on new facilities through the reseal program.

Payments for resealing 1955 corn or extending the reseal on 1954 corn until July 31, 1957, will be at least 15 cents a bushel. The final rate, yet to be announced, will probably be a cent or two higher than this figure.

If the corn is redeemed prior to July 31, payments are made on a prorated basis. The 1955 loan corn may be resealed in the ear, but 1954 corn must be shelled.

Because damage by the angoumois moth is likely in stored corn located in the southern third of Illinois, the reseal program is not available for this area.

You can get details about these three programs from the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

WHEAT OUTLOOK IS LIKE LAST YEAR

Carry-Over Exceeds Year's Production

The wheat situation and outlook is about the same as it was a year ago. Most farmers have complied with their acreage allotments. They have several choices in disposing of their wheat: They can sell it at harvest time on the open market, or they can store it on the farm, in a local elevator, or in a terminal warehouse and obtain a price-support loan or a purchase agreement, or they may hold it without either type of price support.

Price-support rates at farm and local elevators will average at least $2.00 a bushel across the country, but will be higher in Illinois. Rates for individual counties will be announced by the USDA in July. It seems likely that the loan rates will be close to $2.10 in most Illinois counties.

Slightly lower rates apply to the southeastern counties along and near the Wabash and Ohio rivers and in the most western counties along the Mississippi River. Highest price-support rates will be in counties around East St. Louis. The rate for wheat stored in approved warehouses at St. Louis, Chicago, and Cairo will probably be around $2.30 a bushel. These rates apply to Grade No. 1 wheat of approved varieties. Other grades and varieties will be supported at lower rates.

Farmers who have grown more than their acreage allotment of wheat, but not more than 15 acres, are not eligible for price support. They can, however, feed or sell it without any penalty.

Farmers who have more than 15 acres of wheat, and also more than their acreage allotment, must pay a penalty of about $1.07 a bushel (45 percent of the parity price) on all production in excess of their allotment. They cannot obtain price support on any wheat.

For the past four years wheat prices have followed a fairly consistent seasonal pattern. They dropped about 30 cents below the price-support rate in July, then gradually recovered, and leveled off at around ten cents under the support rate. Such a pattern is probably normal when most of the wheat is eligible for price support and production is greater than use and exports.

Our carry-over of old wheat increased from 256 million bushels in 1952 to 1,022 million last July 1. It is expected to be up to around 1,065 million on July 1 this year. Almost all of this amount will be owned by the government.

The new crop seems likely to be around 900 million bushels, 4 percent less than last year and the smallest since 1943. Such a crop would be just about equal to expected use and exports. Thus we may stop adding to our surplus stocks, but there is not yet any prospect of reducing them during the year ahead.

This marketing year we are using around 485 million bushels of wheat for food and 64 million for seed, exporting 275 million bushels, and feeding about 75 million. Similar rates of use are probable for the coming market year.

Some people say that we should give our surplus stocks of wheat "to hungry people in foreign countries." This may be a high ideal, but it is not practical. We have, in fact, given away and sold at cut rates most of the billion bushels exported during the past four years. When we give wheat away, or half give it away at cut-rate prices, we injure competitive friendly exporting countries — Canada and Australia. Then, too, most important importing countries also produce wheat, and the wheat growers in those countries strongly object to the United States dumping its unwanted wheat in their markets.

Advisers To Meet At Dixon Springs

More than 250 Illinois county farm advisers, assistant advisers and extension specialists from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will hold their summer conference next week at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station in Pope county.

W. G. Kammlade, associate director of the Agricultural Extension Service in charge of the program, says that 2½ days of concentrated tours around the Station to see research work in progress is in store for the advisers and specialists.

Summer conference is held every five years at Dixon Springs. Other years the advisers meet on the College of Agriculture campus in Urbana.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

Student Visitors

Dramatic productions, baseball, examinations, spring proms and graduation may spell May to high schoolers. With all of this year-end activity, we wonder how they manage to squeeze in field trips. But they do, and the Station is numbered among the trips for agricultural classes.

We observe that these boys are well taught and that their knowledge and ideas tempered with experience from Dad may be applied at home for better farm living.

Groups of students this past week have seen pastures at their best, they have learned how to produce these pastures and, most important, they have learned that producing top pastures is just the beginning. Satisfactory returns depend upon proper grazing with disease- and parasite-free livestock having the bred-in ability to consume and efficiently convert forage into quality meat, milk and fiber. They have learned that a pasture is only as good as the pounds of meat and gallons of milk taken from it.

Good Pasture Is An Art

As the Ag boys watch the careful weighing of livestock and the meticulous sampling of forages for yield and quality, they must realize that the art of pasture-making is not easy and that findings of experimental work are only relative and never final. Learning is never finished.

This past week, in the process of learning, the boys saw how a machine operating in a sod field prepared a mulched seedbed and fertilized and planted corn, all in a once-over trip. How different this is from the old, time-consuming, soil-losing, soil-compacting method of separately plowing, disking, harrowing and planting. They saw demonstrations of strip-cropping and the unplowed buffer strips of sod in newly emerging corn which help to cut down the soil-losing risk of hill-corn production. These boys know the importance of winter cover crops and the market and feeding value of small grains. They saw plots of variety trials on oats, wheat, barley and rye and learned the better standing, higher yielding varieties for their area.

Boys Get Sound Ideas

If, after reading this, you are afraid that your son is going to come home from a trip to the Station with a head full of impractical, scatterbrained ideas, cease your worrying. In the first place, your son and the other boys we have dealt with are too wise for that. In the second place, we try to teach what has been learned to be sound, and only point out future possibilities. The mulch corn planter, for example, is not without its imperfections. Some grazing practices, fertility treatments and methods of production may be impractical today, but who can say what they will be tomorrow under different social and economic forces. Teach what is sound today and know what may be done tomorrow. That is the role of the Station.

4-H FEDERATION TO MEET JUNE 6

A regular meeting of the Morgan County 4-H Federation will be held at Farm Bureau hall Wednesday, beginning at 8:30 p.m., daylight time.

Important issues to be discussed are the refreshment stand at the fair, the Share-the-fun contest and dairy month. All members are urged to attend.

WAVERLY HUSTLERS PLAN PROJECT TOUR

The members of the Waverly Hustlers 4-H agriculture club will spend Sunday afternoon on a tour of inspection. The members will visit the farms to see how the projects of each member are coming along.

Many of the members are grooming livestock to be shown in the New Berlin and Morgan county fairs.

Donald Woods is the club leader.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

NEW YORK (AP)— Every year some 50,000 persons are on exchange between United States and foreign colleges, universities and research organizations.

Last year, says the Institute of International Education, about three fourths of these were foreigners coming to the United States.

Officials of the Institute, founded in 1919, believe that persons with international training are of such value to business, government and professional groups that it has established a Central Index of Educational Exchangees covering 210,000 persons who have had contact with it in the past 36 years.

"Information on an estimated 25,000 to 30,000 new exchangees will be added annually," says Kenneth Holland, president of the Institute.

World Of The Future

Most of the talk about the huge population growth occurring in America and other parts of the globe is pretty gloomy stuff. Usually the warning goes out that we won't be able to feed and serve those billions at adequate living levels.

But now some scientists have come along with a different slant. They predict that within a hundred years world population will zoom from the present 2.6 billions to 6.7 billions or more. But it doesn't worry them.

They think there'll be plenty of food for all, and ample supplies of metals, minerals in general and other useful materials.

In their view, what we called "machine cviilization" will be spread over the entire globe, embracing even the most backward peoples. By the time 2050 rolls around, they figure we'll be drawing our necessities from the commonest sources we know: air, sea, water and ordinary rocks which today are considered unproductive.

Naturally enough, they envision utilizing sunlight for power. Experiments in this direction already are numerous, and many scientists feel the sun one day will make nuclear energy look like small potatoes as a driving force for modern civilization.

The hopeful forecasts come fom a report made by scientists at California Institute of Technology. The work was not lightly undertaken, and is no idle dreaming. Some measure of the report's status may be had from the fact that its findings have been soberly discussed in the board rooms of 27 of this country's leading corporations.

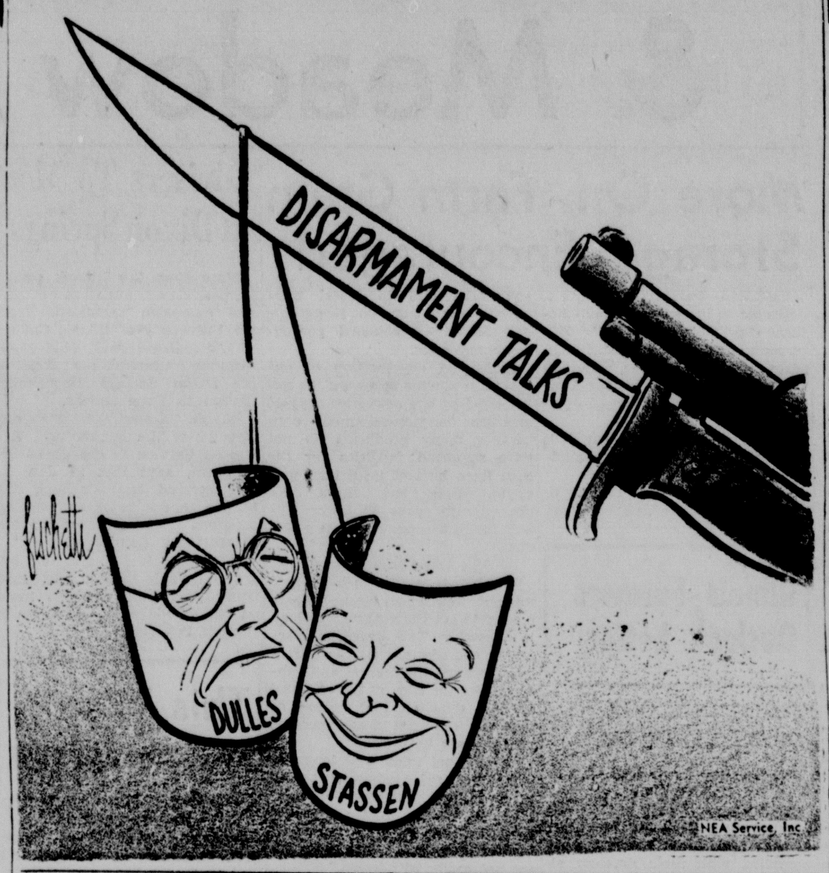

The one warning note the scholars strike is this: they do fear a shortage of brain power, of men with the ability and imagination and training to understand the possibilities that lie ahead and find means of realizing them.

A world such as these scientists foresee for the 21st century cannot come about without vast effort. Above all, that effort must have direction. Only the best brains this nation and the world can develop will give us that guidance.

And of course the authors of the California report made it abundantly clear that all bets are off if the world is plunged again into the catastrophe of war.

With peace, the 21st century may offer a bright new world. But should war intervene, the 21st century is more likely to resemble the 10th, when man still lived in relative darkness. The choice lies with us.

The World's a Stage . . .

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's nine justices must be glad their long summer vacation soon begins. They've been getting their hair mussed in the worst clobbering handed the court in 20 years.

Southerners are the loudest complainers. There are others.

The complaint: that the court is invading states' rights—for example, in outlawing public school segregation—and that the court is making laws rather than interpreting them.

There are now perhaps 50 proposals in Congress—bills, resolutions, constitutional amendments—to curb the power of the government or the court, undo what the court has done, or otherwise rebuke it. Most of them, if not all, seem headed nowhere.

The court has been a target from the beginning of the government. Each time the source of the attack depends on whose ox is gored.

In this period it has become a regular occupation for Southern Democrats in Congress to denounce or wag a warning finger in the direction of the justices one block away.

It's the decisions handed down since Chief Justice Earl Warren took his job in March 1954 which have sparked most of the attacks. These were the main ones:

1. Banned public school segregation (May 17, 1954).
2. Forced federal regulation of natural gas sales (June 7, 1954).
3. Banned segregation in public recreation places (Nov. 7, 1955).
4. Ruled in effect that since the government has laws against sedition the states can't have such laws (April 2, 1956).
5. Struck down 18 states' "right-to - work" laws — laws banning union shops—as they apply to railroad workers (May 21, 1956).

In some cases Congress can undo the court's rulings. This year Congress sought to undo the court's decision in the 1954 natural gas case by voting to remove natural gas producers from direct federal control. President Eisenhower vetoed this.

Now there is pressure in Congress to let the states have their own sedition laws. Such a bill has been approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

These proposals don't seem to have a chance: a constitutional amendment to let the states have segregated schools; a bill to require every future justice to have at least five years experience as judge in some lower court; another to make all justices—who are now appointed for life and can be removed only through impeachment—retire at 75.

The last big attack on the court was made in the last half of the 1930s when the justices were roadblocking the legislation of President Roosevelt's New Deal.

The result was Roosevelt's "court-packing" plan to enlarge the court. Congress turned Roosevelt down.

The Travels of St. Paul

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

In these days of airplanes and autos, it is a fascinating thing to realize how extensively people travelled in the days when all forms of transport were slow, difficult, uncomfortable, and often dangerous.

When the Riel Rebellion broke out in Western Canada in 1870 the greatest problem confronting Colonel Wolesley was to get his regular troops and militia from Ontario and Quebec to the scene of action. From the lake head at Port Arthur onward, six hundred miles of untracked wilderness intervened. In the American Revolutionary War General Washington must have travelled enough to tire a hardy man. During the Civil War, railroading and telegraphy had advanced enough to make travel and communication easier. But in recent reading I have been impressed with the immense distances covered by political and military leaders on slow and uncomfortable trains.

It is not easy to picture all this when one considers the great advancement of today. But travel in the more ancient times is all the more impressive and among the ancient travellers one of the greatest and most intrepid undoubtedly was the Apostle Paul. It would take much time to figure the approximate mileage of St. Paul's journeys. In a rough survey I estimate that he must have travelled at least five thousand miles, and I am not sure but the figure would be nearer ten thousand.

We can trace much of Paul's going from place to place. But it is somewhat remarkable that, of all that travel the only vivid account is of the sea journey and shipwreck, in Acts 27. How otherwise did Paul travel? On foot? Or on horseback? By camel? In caravan with other travellers, as on the famous journey to Damascus, when he saw the vision that transformed his life?

The story of all that happened to Paul, and much concerning his Master as well, would fill many New Testaments.

But the important thing concerning both Paul and his Master is what they did. Concerning Paul the great questions are not of the how, why,or where; the important thing is the purpose — the Gospel urge that sent Paul from place to place, and that brought him through Asia Minor to Europe as the first great missionary to give Christianity its worldwide heritage of truth and grace.

Yet the most impressive thing of his greatest achievement, in concerning Paul is his unfinished task. It is unfinished in the areas the Middle East where interracial, interreligious and sectional strifes belie the reality of that life and society in which as Paul proclaimed, "there is neither Jew nor Greek, barbarian Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all and in all" (Col. 3:11).

It is unfinished, too, in the world at large. Despite all Christian progress, evil and violence, fostered by ignorance, confront the Christian gospel of love and grace with aggressive and persistent power. The world needs new Pauls, and many of them.

Don't Make Country Friends Yell for Mercy This Summer

It's a little early for a certain type of letter to start coming in. Even so, the first one arrived today.

It was a letter from a "country cousin" saying "please write something about city friends and relatives who descend on us weekend after weekend expecting to be bedded, fed, and entertained."

Every year as vacation time approaches, a raft of such letters comes to this column.

It seems that a lot of city folks think it is no trouble, no work, and no expense for people who live on a farm or are year-round residents of a summer resort to play host to their friends and relatives.

Many of them don't even announce their plans. They just drive up, expecting a big welcome.

They usually get it. But they might be surprised at how often the welcome is forced and the hosts actually groan when they see a city car turn in the drive.

RECIPROCATE WITH ENTERTAINMENT

So this is a relayed plea. If you haven't a special invitation don't invite yourself or descend unannounced on your country friends just because it is hot in the city and you think it would be nice to get away from it all for a weekend.

And if you are lucky enough to be urged to visit a country-dwelling friend or relative, don't think that a box of chocolates or some toys for the kids will repay the hospitality.

Just as you like to get away to the country in the summer, so your country friends may long to get into the city in the winter. Arrange to pay back hospitality with hospitality.

—If your country friends can put you up for a summer weekend surely you can manage somehow to put them up for a city weekend.

—If you can't, perhaps you had better stay home.

At Wit's End Over Work? Organize Family to Help

"I've go so much to do I don't know where to begin" is a frequent complaint of housewives.

When you reach that stage the best thing to do is to sit down and make a list of all the jobs that need to be done indoors and out.

Then divide the long list into three lists: 1. Those things that will have to be hired done. 2. Those that can be family projects with everybody working together. 3. Those things that you will have to do yourself.

Show the lists to your family so they can see for themselves the necessity for everyone's pitching in on the family jobs.

Then get busy on the jobs that are yours alone and check them off as you finish them.

A housewife can worry and stew and fret for months when too many jobs pile up ahead of her. But in just a short time she can accomplish wonders if she gets the jobs well organized and enlists her family's help.

CREATE PRIDE IN ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The feeling that there is more to do than she can possibly accomplish usually comes to the housewife who tries to do everything herself, who treats her family like star boarders and never attempts to organize family work projects.

It doesn't hurt husband and children a bit to help with special jobs. In fact, work shared gives the whole family a feeling of pride in their accomplishments and in their home.

Besides, a family that knows how much work is involved in maintaining a house and yard is apt to be less careless than are members of a family where mom tries to do everything herself.

So get busy with your lists. Put your family to work helping you get out from under the load of too many waiting jobs.

Manners Make Friends

Even though the man on your right at dinner is hard to strike up a conversation with and the man on your left is easy to talk to you should divide your attention between them. Never ignore one of the persons seated beside you at table.

Your hostess will expect you to entertain them both.

Anti-Inflation Measures Bring Brickbat Barrage

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Automobile and home building industries are taking the lead in criticizing the April 14 Federal Reserve banks' increase in discount rates on loans to their member banks. But both industries are having a hard time proving that they have been hurt by the FRB tight money policy.

General Motors President Harlow M. Curtice declared recently that Federal Reserve's "very restrictive" current credit policy was a major factor in reduced auto sales. But this last Federal Reserve rise in interest rates has not been passed on to GM customers, and no further increases are contemplated now.

The last increase in General Motors Acceptance Corp. interest rates was in December. Wholesale interest rates on loans to dealers were then advanced from 4 to 4½ per cent. Retail financing charges were advanced at the same time by 50 cents—equivalent of one-half per cent—to $6 on each $100 borrowed by the new car purchaser. But this increase was made only in a few areas—not country-wide.

EVEN THOUGH the last FRB interest raise has not been passed on, the point which Curtice makes is that a tight money policy goes right across the country, reduces business confidence and so retards consumer spending.

The Federal Reserve's answer to this philosophy is that if money were made available to everyone wanting a loan, the country would soon have runaway inflation.

The Washington angle is that the auto companies' present distress is largely their own fault for overselling the market last year. And few buyers have a large enough equity in their cars at the end of a year to trade in every year.

Making much the same kind of argument as Curtice, President Joseph B. Haverstick of National Assn. of Homebuilders blames Federal Reserve policy for the recent turndown in new housing starts.

Pinned down by reporters, however, Haverstick admitted that a rising interest rate on mortgage loans was not the most appreciable factor in any housing price rise.

FEDERAL HOUSING and Veterans Administration mortgage loan interest rates are fixed by law and have not advanced. They cover most of the new housing built.

The N.A.H.B. president reported some evidence that mortgage companies are being more selective in their loans. They are charging a higher discount rate to borrowers wanting low down payments and longer terms. But the increased costs of building materials and labor and the greatly increased cost of land were admitted to be the principal causes of higher prices.

Furthermore, Haverstick admitted that sales might pick up at the end of this summer. Supply and demand for new housing are now about in balance. The vacancy rate is just about stationary at 2.3 per cent. There is great interest reported in housing for new families and only a few areas are overbuilt.

SO IN JUMPING on Federal Reserve Credit policies, the auto and housing industry leaders are judged in Washington as possibly whipping the wrong boy.

Actually, there is considerable misunderstanding on the Federal Reserve action. Adjustments in interest discount rates are not dictated from Washington. They are made in 12 separate Federal Reserve District cities. The board of each bank is required to meet every two weeks on 'interest rates.

The Federal Reserve Board of Governors, meeting in Washington, has power to veto actions of the 12 regional banks. But the last time Washington overruled a regional bank—Chicago—was in the 1930's. So all the talk about political pressure being applied to make the Federal Reserve change its credit policy is meaningless. The bank is completely independent.

Try Melton Mowbray Pie, Direct From Old England

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Chef Phillip Harben of London, England, is now here in the United States. The British Travel Agency is sending him to various cities to demonstrate how good English dishes can be. Melton Mowbray Pie is one of his recipes. These pies are eaten cold and out of hand in England. Want to try a few?

Here's an American version of Chef Harben's recipe, simplified a little and not so time consuming.

Melton Mowbray Pork Pie

Crust: 5 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1¼ cups shortening, 1 cup water.

Filling: 1½ pounds lean pork, ¼ cup diced onion, 1 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1½ cups well-seasoned meat stock, 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin.

Glaze: 1 egg, 1 teaspoon water.

Sift flour and salt together. Blend fat into flour with pastry cutter until fat is finely cut. Add water a little at a time, mixing lightly with a fork until flour is moistened. Press dough into a ball. Reserve ¼ of the dough. Divide remainder of dough into 12 pieces. Roll these into 5-inch circles and fit into a deep 2½-inch muffin pan. Roll the larger piece into a circle about ⅛-inch thick. With a 3-inch cookie cutter, cut out six circles to use as tops and with a leaf-shaped cutter cut 18 leaves about 1-inch long to use as decorations. With a very small cutter or knife, make a hole about ½ inch across in each circle.

Cut the meat into ½ inch pieces and place in bowl. Stir in onions and drained mushrooms. Add seasonings dissolved in mushroom juice. Fill the shells to within ½ inch of the top, using about ¼ cup of the meat mixture for each pie. Place pastry cover on top of the meat. Pinch edges of shell and cover together, fluting them by using the thumb and forefinger.

Blend together the well-beaten egg and water and use to brush the top of the pastry. Place 2 pastry leaves on each pie and brush these with the egg glaze. Bake in 425 degree F. oven for 15 minutes, then lower heat and bake another 1½ hours at 375 degrees F. Remove pies from oven. Cool and then refrigerate until chilled.

Meanwhile, soften gelatin in ½ cup of cold meat stock. Melt over hot water and add remaining stock. Chill until the consistency of egg white. Pour about ½ cup of the gelatin mixture into the hole of each pie, using funnel or small pitcher. Refrigerate until gelatin is set. Serve cold.

MONDAY'S DINNER: Browned canned corned beef hash, pickled beets, buttered broccoli, rye bread, butter or margarine, radishes and celery, apple pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

Two Ways to Reassure Child Upset By Fear of Atomic Age

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

My guest was a psychoanalyst of wide experience and I was telling him about an upset mother who came to see me.

The previous day, her daughter had come home from school, terrified of what she'd heard in a social studies class. Apparently the teacher had read part of a speech by an Atomic Energy Commission member who warned that there is no end to the after-effects of an H-bomb explosion.

"What did you tell the mother?" my guest asked.

"To go home and ask the child to make the evening meal," I answered, "ordering her favorite food and inviting her best friend in to share it. I told her that the only way I knew to cancel out fear of destruction was to perform our own loving act of production."

"My guest nodded and I added, "Perhaps what really terrifies us in the H-bomb is that we share the same earth with people who could drop it on other people."

"Yes," agreed my guest. "I also think that this is what frightens the children." Then, reaching into his pocket, he said, "So when one of my patients recently brought me a story of how her little boy had been frightened by an air raid drill at school, I gave her one of these . . ."

The pamphlet he handed me is titled "Work and Study Projects." It is a publication of the American Friends Service Committee illustrating a number of the cooperative programs it sponsors.

There's a photograph of young people sawing logs together in a work camp—and another of a group discussion in an international seminar. A teen-age volunteer worker in a settlement house is pictured giving guitar lessons to slum children. From another page, a college girl squints in the sun beside the Mexican village family she lives and works with on summer vacations.

Said my psychoanalyst guest, "I asked my patient to show these pictures to her frightened little boy and say, 'So you see, though some people have found new terrible ways to destroy us, others have found new wonderful ways to help us live. These are pictures of people who are so busy building up love and understanding with other ones that they haven't got time to be afraid of being killed. These are the people we are glad we share the earth with.'"

The American Friends Service Committee will send this pamphlet to parents who want to use it to reassure children. Just write the committee at 144 East 20th Street, New York 3, N.Y.

The auditorium of the David Prince junior high school was filled to capacity May 24 with parents and friends of the Home Economic students for a style show and tea sponsored by the department.

This was the first time such an endeavor had been attempted and it proved an outstanding success. There are 133 girls in the 7th grade and they were required to study foods the first semester and clothing the second. These classes only meet two times each week. They studied the basic construction stitches for hand sewing first, the first project for using a sewing machine was making a draw string bag large enough for many purposes. Their last project was the choice between a sleeveless blouse and a gathered or soft pleated skirt which were shown in the style show.

Clothing is an elective subject in the 8th grade and over three-fourths of the girls in the class chose it as an elective. The classes meet three times each week. Before making a garment a study is made of the becoming colors and lines for the individual girl. The girls may choose between a skirt and blouse, jumper, pajamas, shorts, pedal pushers, dusters or a simple dress for a project.

One student, Eugenia Frazier, wanted to put in extra time and after completing her dress made dresses for two of her small neighbor girls. Cottons are used for all garments. Kathryn Beemer of the 8th grade was announcer for the style show. Fonda Siegrist, Jean Sorrells and Linda Wright played for the 7th grade girls. Ann Angel, Susan Beggs and Ann Gray played for the 8th grade. The clothing classes are taught by Mrs. Marion May and Mrs. Lona Olson teaches foods.

'Candyland' Is Theme Of School Prom At Virginia

VIRGINIA—The annual Junior-Senior Prom of Virginia High School, given by the junior class in honor of the graduating seniors, began Tuesday evening and ended after a 4:30 breakfast Wednesday morning.

Members of the classes and guests assembled at the Dunlap Hotel in Jacksonville at 7:30 p.m., and started an all-night prom with a dinner, followed by a program and dance.

The theme was "Candyland" and decorations and the dinner menu were in keeping with "Candy."

The program was opened with a welcoming address by the president of the junior class, Gary Sweatman. Jeannie Cox, senior class president, gave the response.

Then followed "News From the Candy Kitchen" by Sally Terwilliger; guitar solo, Patsy Turner; humorous reading, "Tipping Off Teacher," Judy Terwilliger; piano duet, "Oh Lady Be Good," Loretta Hughes and Jennie Tucker; "Dreams Sugar Coated," by Oh Henry, Glenn Mullen; vocal solo, "Three For 'ack," Wayne Walter; imitations, Bill Ellsworth, M.C.; vocal and piano, Norma Sittler; vocal medley, "The Flat Tops," Pat Dooling, Bob Shields, Wayne Walter, Gary Sweatman and Bill Ellsworth; "Ye Old Candy Shop of V.H.S.," by the "Candy Shop Keeper," Ruby Sittler.

After the program, the group danced to the music of Lou Hahn's orchestra in the ballroom at the Dunlap. About 1:30 a.m. they returned to Virginia and were entertained at the Joy theatre with a movie in color.

Breakfast at the American Legion Hall was served at 4:30 a.m.

Commencement Driven Indoors By Wind Storm

JERSEYVILLE — A rain and wind storm which gathered about an hour before time for the open air Commencement exercises of the Jersey Community High School Tuesday evening, necessitated a last minute switch from the athletic field of the school to the Jerseyville Elementary school auditorium.

The platform and seats had all been placed on the field in readiness for the program when the threat of the storm became apparent and Principal Louis N Heider and other faculty members made a change in plans. Announcement of the commencement took into consideration the possibility of a rain-out and patrons knew what to expect when the storm came.

Diplomas were presented to 153 students at the Commencement and special honors were announced.

Sylvia Kruse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Kruse, with a five-point average, topped the group of 32 students who were graduated cum laude. Fifteen of these members were elected to the National Honor Society and they were recognized at the program. Miss Kruse has maintained a five-point average during her entire four years in high school.

Barbara Morrison, selected for the Daughters of American Revolution Award this year, was also recognized, and Gary Brown was presented a Student Council President's Pin.

The Bausch - Lomb Company award for outstanding science work was received by James Steckel. The Danforth "I Dare You" awards were received by Cynthia Windrup and Gary Brown on basis of leadership and good citizenship as determined by their classmates.

The cum laude graduates were as follows: Sylvia Kruse, Margaret Ann East, Noreen E. Guntren, Vera Dean Flowers, Larry Snyder, Natalie Powers, Cynthia Mindrup, Carol Mae Wagenblast, June Hutchcraft, Eliazbeth Lou Smith, Rosemary Cates, Gerda Lendr Link, Jane Marie Wooster, Evelyn Marie Beierman, Mary Joanne Killion, James Leland Harp, Ruth Ann Skinner, James William Steckel, Myrna Kay Mandorca, Carl Lren Isringhausen, Richard Francis Roth, Kay Eileen Snyder, Sonya Jean Mayhall, Grayce Ellen Fry, James Arthur Mielke, Barbara Tillie Morrison, Jo Ann Powderly, Mary Jane Sears, Nancy Miller, Robert Eugene Downey, Marjorie Christine Ringhausen, Theresa Roth.

Grace Chapel W.S.C.S. Elects Officers For Year

The Grace Chapel Women's Society of Christian Service elected officers for the coming year at its May meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Vivian Wiswell. Mrs. Ella Wiswell was assistant hostess.

Mrs. Hannah Brockhouse, president, called the meeting to order and read a poem, "Dear Mother." She also conducted the worship service, in which Mrs. Frances Hymes and Mrs. Mallicoat assisted her.

Mrs. Grace Ater led the program, "Why We Give," in which Ella Wiswell and Minnie McFadden also took part.

Officers named during the business meeting are: President, Hannah Brockhouse; vice president, Eulah Standley; secretary, Grace Ater; treasurer, Margaret Jones; and spiritual life chairman, Ella Wiswell.

Plans were made for the June meeting, which will be a basket dinner at the home of Frances Hymes. Members are asked to bring table service for themselves and their families.

The meeting will open at noon, standard time, Wednesday, June 7.

Members are also asked to bring two feed sack tea towels, contributions to the group's missionary program, to the June meeting.

WILL DONATE COOKIES TO HOME FOR BOYS

Members of the Woodson Household Science Club are asked to take or send two dozen cookies to the American Legion home before 2 p.m. Wednesday, June 6. The cookies will be sent to boys at the Marquette Home.

They tell the story, and I think it's quite true, of the justice of the peace in a sleepy western town who devised a most unusual and profitable Sunday sport.

A main highway went past his house, and on Sunday afternoon he'd sit in his rocking chair on the front porch and hail passing motorists. When they wheeled around to come back, he'd soak them $10 for making an illegal U-turn.

This was his version of the speed trap and the bad reputation of that name has become so widespread the State of Maryland has posted big signs on its highways beside radar equipment. They say, in bold letters: This is a traffic counter, not a speed trap.

The disgrace of the traps is that they are usually enforced at the expense of proper traffic education, they bring the law into disrespect and they can make a motorist so mad he'll probably go and break the law somewhere else.

It's tough on the shoe leather when you're shopping around for a used car, and it's sometimes tough to make up your mind too. It's hard to go wrong, though, when you keep in mind that the used car lot of a franchised new-car dealer is known in the business as the safest and best place to buy a used car. The franchised dealer has been in business a long time, he has his good name to protect. He's known for reliability, that's how he got his franchise in the first place, and you know he's going to be around next week, next month and next year.

SHIP IN SPACE
A Roy Parker Rocket Ranger Story
By RAY BROEKEL

Chapter 3: MYSTERIOUS SHIP

Synopsis—The cargo ship Roy Parker is piloting, has received an S.O.S. from a ship in space. Jack Baines, the navigator, reported no signs of life visible on the ship.

"What do you think, Jack?" said Roy worriedly. "No sign of life on board yet Fred got a steady S.O.S. on the radiotone."

Jack replied that it could be they had an electronic code sender set up.

Yes, that's possible," came from Roy. "Guess we'll have to send a boarding craft over to inspect it. Something could have happened to the crew."

Just then Fred called to say that he still had not gotten any reaponse to his call to the ship. "Their sender is transmiting, but they aren't receiving."

Prepare To Board Ship

"Okay then," Roy answered. "Jack, you and I and Tony will go in the boarding craft. They were helped into their space suits, escorted to the midget sized rocket called a boarding craft, and then propelled into space.

Roy directed the power director away from the life-less ship. The recoil of the power blast sent them towards it.

Grappling hooks were then cast out as they approached it. Jack directed an electric eye opening beam towards the propelling chamber door lock.

It slid open noiselessly and the little boarding craft came to a stop on the inside.

What's Inside?

"We'ed better keep our space suits on. No telling what we'll find inside. Keep your disinterblasters handy too," said Roy as he edged cautiously towards the crew quarters.

Jack and Tony came behind him in single file. They walked slowly up and down the corridors of the ship. Nothing was in sight.

"This is certainly a strange one," muttered Jack.

"I think someone is trying to pull a joke on us," said Tony in a grim voice. "Let's go to the radiotrone room. There must be someone or something there if S.O.S. messages are being sent out."

"Good idea, Tony. Keep your eyes open though."

They crept slowly to the radiotrone room. Roy peered around the corner very cautiously. "There's nothing living inside, nothing at all."

Sudden Voice

As he stepped into the room a loud voice suddenly filled the ship.

The three Rocket Rangers backed themselves quickly against the wall and whipped their disinterblasters into a handy firing position.

The voice said,

"Greetings from the modern Blackbeard, space pirate. You have walked into our trap just as we thought you would. It won't do you a bit of good to look for me since there is no living thing on this ship."

"This little talk you are hearing has been recorded. Now listen to my directions. Your life depends upon the following of them to the letter."

"Your crew members in the main ship are also hearing this. What happens to them and to you depends on whether or not you follow directions. If you want to blow yourselves as well as your fellow crew members up, that is your privilege."

(To be continued next week)

THE MERRIE THEATRE-
The Red Lantern Moon
By Hugh Jones

Part 25: WILL FINDS LIN

Now one of my favorites was a great man with a short name—Al Jolson. He put his heart and mind and body into show business. He opened up his heart and let those wonderful tunes come out, "Mammy," "Swanee," "Rosie," and "Sweet Sixteen," says Sir Olan Actbow.

HISTORY OF THE THEATRE

If you've been following this little history of the American theatre, I think you'll agree that in the beginning, theatre in America wasn't very noteworthy.

First—Richard Hunter petitioned the governor of New York City for rights to put on a play in that pity, but there isn't any record that the play was put on.

Second—Anthony Aston ("Gentleman, Lawyer, Poet, Author, Soldier, etc.") wrote a play—"on the subject of the Country"—but there isn't one copy of this play on record, nor do we know if it was even produced in America.

As if this early record was not pitiful enough, in May, 1709, the Governor's Council of New York banned "play-acting and prize-fighting."

The first two bright spots in the history of theatre in America occurred in 1716 and 1736, when . . . (more to follow next week).

The Red Lantern Moon

(The story thus far: Lin's little paraquette has been lost and Lin goes into the storm to find it. Will Mayor Te, and Mr. Pokang go to find her. This is very difficult because a severe storm is raging. Finally, Will finds her in the temple of the rainbow god.)

Lin: (Drenched by the rain, shivering, and almost in a state of shock.) Shimbere ahi. Kama Te A Lang, tu' he sa ku, Te Oh rainbow god, maker of dreams and melodies, bring back my little bird!

Will: Shouting) Lin! Lin! (She turns and sees him.)

Lin: (Pathetically) Mr. Will.

Will: Lin! We thought we'd never find you!

Lin: I tried to find my bird, but I couldn't find him.

Will: We've got to get you home.

Lin: But I don't want to go home until I find my bird. (She grasps the lantern post firmly.)

Will: You can't stay here in front of the temple. Your mother and everyone is worried about you.

Lin. But I'm worried about my bird. I've looked everywhere but I can't find him. (Ominously) Maybe I'll never find him.

Will: Listen little maverick (Impulsively) I'll find that bird for you, even if I have to go to the rainbow. But now you've got to go home.

Lin: You'll get my bird even if you have to go to the rainbow?

Will: Even if I have to go to the rainbow!

Lin: When will you go?

Will: First I've got to get you home . . . then I'l go.

Lin: You promise?

Will: I promise. (Will firmly grasps her around her shoulders and the two walk against the wind until they are at stage left.)

Mr. Pokang: (From a distance) Lin! Lin!

Will: (Shouting) Mr. Pokang! Can you hear me? (At this point the curtain starts to close.)

Will: Go on back to the house . . . I've found her. (Will and Lin exit stage left.)

The Story Of Bunny Boy
By Melba Rolf

Bunny Boy lived in the yard where Jack and Jane lived. He played with the children every day.

One day the children went away in the car. Bunny Boy decided to go away too.

The children didn't know Bunny Boy could open his door. Out went Bunny Boy. Hop hop! Hop hop hop!

Away he hopped. Where he went I can't tell you right now.

But when Jack and Jane came home, Bunny Boy was not in his house. Bunny Boy was gone all night.

But the next morning he came back. Jane said:

"Where have you been?"

Bunny Boy did not answer. He just hopped around.

Words! Words!

KNOW THESE WORDS?
By Bonnie English

Read a book of fiction,
Read a book of history,
Read a book of mystery,
And add to your diction.
Read some non-fiction,
Read some biography,
Read autobiography,
And add to your diction.

How about it? Do you know all of the words in these two stanzas? Oh, you don't! Then begin to work right now upon these strange words.

1. If you have no dictionary, guess at the meaning of each unknown word.
2. If you have no dictionary and are with someone who knows the meaning, ask him the meaning.
3. If you have a dictionary, look up the meaning of the word yourself.
4. Watch for the word in your further reading.
5. Use the word in your conversation.
6. Use the word in your writing.
7. When you know the word and can use it, call it your own.

Is It Needed?

You say that you will not need such words? Yes, you can exist without them; but you can live more successfully with them.

When you are telling your mother what you are reading, tell her you have finished a book of fiction; that's saying more to her than if you should say that you have finished a book.

Suppose your history teacher has asked you to find out something about Abraham Lincoln. When you go to the library, ask for a biography of Abraham Lincoln, not a life of Lincoln. That's what you want anyway—the written history of Lincoln's life—not his life.

Do you know the meaning of the word fiction? No? Then that's your word for the day. Begin now.

SERENDIP PRINCES

Have you ever looked through a book for some information and found something else by accident? Or, have you ever gone for a walk in the woods to watch for birds and discovered a new nature trail you had never seen before?

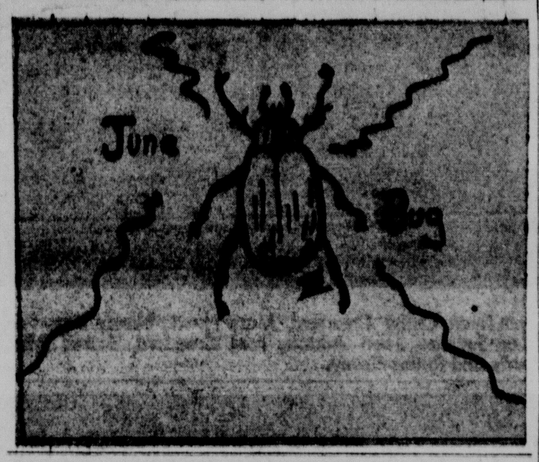

Then you are like the Princes of Serendip. As these princes traveled, they were always making discoveries of things for which they were not looking.

One of our most famous Serendips was Columbus. He was not looking for America but he found it. He did not even realize the value of his discovery.

Many of our greatest scientists make their most important contributions to science by finding information for which they were not looking. However, they are smart enough to see the value of the discoveries and put them to use. A good Serendip keeps his eyes open!

June Birthday Parade

By Dorris Walsh Hendrickson

Heads up boys and girls, the JUNE BIRTHDAY parade is starting!

Russel Ray Printy, Glendale Arizona, June 2, age 6.

Howard Raymond Crum, Jr., Roodhouse, June 16, age 1.

Gordon Ann Winters, 1603 Hardin Ave., June 24.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to each one of you! Howard is getting an early start as a parader, isn't he?

And are you wondering why Russel came all the way from Arizona to march with us? Well, Russel (and his brother Steven) used to live in White Hall, and now their grandmother sends them the Junior page. Isn't that nice?

Of course you know Gordan Ann from the fine picture of the park that was in the Junior page some time ago. (How about another drawing, Gordan Ann?)

Hurry up June Birthday boys and girls (July Birthdays too) and send in your name, address, age and birthdate to—

How Billy Gray Helped The Dentist
By Loella Sloan Young

Billy Gray was a five year old boy. He lived with his mother and father and his brother, Georgie, in a shining white house on Maple street in the town of Centerville.

Billy's daddy was a dentist. He worked in an office on the 16th floor of the bank building, which was the tallest building in all the town. Daddy wore a white coat and spent the whole day fixing teeth for boys and girls and men and women.

One day as the whole family sat around the lunch table, Mother said,

"Daddy, today is the day Georgie and I must go to the church, and I was wondering if you would like to have Billy spend the afternoon with you at the office?"

Daddy smiled and put down his fork,

"Why, yes, I think I could use a good helper today. Would you like to do that, Billy?" he asked.

Billy's eyes gleamed with delight.

"Oh, yes, Daddy. I'd like to help you!"

So after lunch Billy combed his hair and washed his face and put on his very best suit.

Billy Goes With Daddy

Oh, what fun this will be, he thought as he called goodbye to Mother and Georgie.

"We'll see you about suppertime" called Daddy, as they went out the door.

Daddy drove the big red car into the parking lot. There was one space with Daddy's name on it. Carefully he slid the car into it and drew to a stop.

"Gee!" said Billy, as he looked up to the top of the big gray building. "I'll bet my airplane would go a long, long way, if I sailed it from the top up there," he cried pointing toward the window of Daddy's office.

"Yes," agreed Daddy, "I expect it would go so far you'd never find it!"

He took Billy's hand and together they entered the building. Inside the elevator girl smiled as she closed the door and the car began to rise.

"Good afternoon, Dr. Gray. Is Billy going to the office today?" she asked.

"Yes," replied Daddy. "I'm going to have an extra helper this afternoon."

Swiftly the car rose and stopped at the 16th floor. Quietly the door slid back and they both stepped out.

Nurse Greets Them

Miss Brenner, Daddy's nurse, greeted them as they entered the office.

"Hello, there Billy! I'm so glad you could come down to help us today," she said. "We've been mighty busy and could use an extra hand. I'll tell you what you can do to help. As the patients enter the office, you can come tell me their names, and I'll enter them on this chart."

Daddy put on a clean white coat and scrubbed his hands. In a little while the door opened and in walked little Barbara Young and her mother.

Bargara had golden curls and big blue eyes. She had come for first visit to the dentist. Billy already knew her name, and he went to tell Miss Brenner at once.

Miss Brenner asked Barbara to come right in and climb up into Daddy's white shining chair. Billy pressed a button on the floor, and the chair slowly raised Barbara to the right height. Miss Brenner then placed a clean white towel around her neck.

"Now," said Daddy to Barbara, "Open your mouth very wide."

"Ah-h-h-h-h!" gurgled Barbara.

"Well, well," said Daddy after a little while. "You just need a little brushing." He put some tasting pink paste on a little brush, and the motor hummed, making it go around and around very fast.

What Pretty Teeth

"Br-r-r-r-r, Br-r-r-r-r," it said, and soon Barbara's teeth were shining bright.

"Thank you, Dr. Gray," she said, as she hopped down from the chair. She put on her hat and called goodbye to Billy as she went out the door.

The next patient was a big man in a checked suit and a red tie. When Daddy had examined his teeth, he found the man had two little cavities. Soon Daddy had filled the little holes with shining silver fillings.

It was a lady in a green dress who came in after the man had gone. Billy was amazed when he saw Daddy take her teeth right out. He smoothed off a little rough spot, and said to put them back in her mouth,

"Now, Mrs. Black, they will be all right."

Jimmy Brown came into the office after school. Jimmy wore braces on his teeth. Daddy showed Billy all the little wires which would someday make Jimmy's teeth nice and straight.

At last when the day's work was done, Miss Brenner put on her hat and coat and said:

"Goodnight, Billy. I hope you can came see us again soon."

Miss Brenner had no more than gone out the door, when Billy heard the door open again in the reception room.

Dog Has Toothache

"Oh, Doctor," wailed a woman's voice. "Oh, Doctor! Sweetums has a toothache! I know it is late, but you must help her," she continued.

Billy was so surpised, for there stood a very fat lady with a sad looking little brown dog in her arms.

Daddy smiled and shook his head.

"But Mrs. Jones, I am a dentist for people, not dogs. You should take Sweetums to see a Veterinary."

"Oh, Dr. Gray! No! Sweetums! Oh, no! She would be so frightened! She knows you, Dr. Gray. Please, please, won't you help her," she cried.

Daddy chuckled. Mrs. Jones was a good neighor who loved her little dog very much.

"Well- - - all right. Put Sweetums over here on this little table. And Billy, you come hold her feet still."

Sweetums, who was not sure she liked this sort of thing, was placed on the little table.

"Now, I'll open her mouth. You hold her still," said Daddy to Billy.

Billy held on to Sweetums back legs and her bushy tail, while Mrs. Jones patted her reassuringly to let her know she was among friends.

"Well," said Daddy. "Sweetums is losing one of her baby teeth and another has come in behind it. Well take out the baby tooth and then she'll feel fine."

Out It Comes

Daddy took a little pair of pliers, and with a twist of his wrist, out came the offending tooth!

Sweetums gave a little yelp of relief, and though Billy thought he was holding her tightly, she jumped up, put her paws on Daddy's shoulders and licked his face.

Mrs. Jones gathered the little dog into her arms, and with many thanks disappeared out the door.

"Now, said Daddy as he put the instruments into the sterilizer, "let's go home."

That night as the family sat around the supper table, and Billy related the events of the day, he added, "Someday, I am going to be a dentist like Daddy. Everyone seems to be so grateful when you have helped them."

"Ha, ha, ha," laughed Daddy "I know there have been lots of times I have taken the ache out of a tooth, but this afternoon, when I helped Sweetums, was the first time a patient has been so grateful that I have been kissed."

JUNE BUGS
By Ray Broekel

June Bugs are also called May Beetles, which is a much better name, since these insects are true beetles, not bugs.

True Bugs have piercing beaks and sucking mouthparts. An example of a true bug would be the Tree Hopper.

June Bugs are large, dark brown and sometimes almost black insects with very hard wing covers. They don't walk too well or crawl too well, but they are experts when it comes to flying around in the air. Their long, rather scratchy legs makes it somewhat difficult to walk.

June Bugs are most often seen on warm, summer evenings, when they gather around lighted areas. Outside light bulbs often attract these members of the beetle family.

Worm Stage

The larva, or worm stage of this insect is called the White Grub. You might have found these underneath the surface of the ground in your garden or in your lawn.

While they are grubs they push along slowly underneath the surface and eat mostly small pieces of decaying or spoiling plants. Occasionally they will eat the roots of young plants.

The adult June Bugs feed on soft leaves of trees and bushes. They feed mainly during the night time. During daylight hours they generally hide in clumps of tall grass.

Remember the next time you see a June Bug to identify it correctly as a beetle.

Priscilla's Safety Club

There are three more members of Priscilla's Safety Club.

Gene Whewell, RR 3
Richard Shewmaker, Alsey
Carol Jean Williamson, 648 So. West St.

All these, and the other names that have been published, have had their slogan entries sent in to the national contest. Good luck!

All of you have sent in slogans, may come in to the Journal-Courier office any time now for your Safety Club membership cards.

It is too late to enter the Safety Club slogan contest, but IT IS NOT TOO LATE to join the safety club. Just write, "I promise to look both ways before I cross the street. Always cross at the proper place: Watch out for cars," and sign your name.

Bring or send this to the newspaper office, and you are then a member of the Safety Club and eligible for a membership card.

Let's Go Birding

FIELD SPARROW
By Emma Mae Leonhard

There are so many kinds of sparrows that look so much alike that it is hard for beginning birders to know the one kind from the other. It's somewhat like those lazy observers who say that they—whatever they may be—all look alike to them; maybe they're trees or frogs or sheep or even children.

However, if we look carefully and listen attentively, we can find something that makes one kind quite different from another kind.

That can be so about a little sparrow that is always found in brushy pastures in spring, summer, and fall. It's called the Field Sparrow, although it doesn't live in open fields.

It's misnamed just as some of us are sometimes. Haven't you known a naughty little girl who was named perhaps Donna? Or a cowardly boy called David? This little sparrow might be more appropriately called Pasture Sparrow, but that's not his name.

Song Gives It Away

Even if the Field Sparrow may sometimes be rather hard to find, it soon gives itself away by its song which is a clear and sweet series of notes that seem to say "tseee." These notes aren't at all monotonous, for the first ones are given slowly; then as the song runs on, the notes are shorter and roll out faster and faster into a clear trill.

One June morning, as I was walking along the edge of a pasture and heard the Field Sparrow's song drifting over the high grass, weeds, and blackberry briars, all at once I thought of boys and girls blowing soap bubbles.

You know how you give a hard slow blow at first when you have plenty of breath, and a bubble swells out bigger and bigger until it floats away slowly. Then the smaller clear bubbles dance out more rapidly. The notes of the Field Sparrow were the bubbles I imagined boys and girls could blow.

When you hear the trill—and you can't miss it—look for the singer of the trill. It will probably be sitting on the top of a bush or low tree.

Its bill will be pink; its upper parts, reddish. Listen for this song; its soap-bubble notes will run right to you, whether it's hot or cool; early in the morning; at noon when many birds are quiet; or in the dusk of the evening as the cows are going home from the pasture. When you once learn the song, you'll never let it go.

Stars

LYRA, THE LYRE
By Ray Broekel

During the summer months this constellation can be seen almost directly overhead. The very bright star Vega is located in the upper right part of the constellation.

The Lyre was a musical instrument used in ancient times. It's shape is somewhat similar to that of a harp.

The constellation, itself, is rather small, but the blue-white star, Vega, the fourth brightest star in the skies, makes it rather easy to pick out.

The story behind this constellation is rather a long one, so only the high spots will be told here.

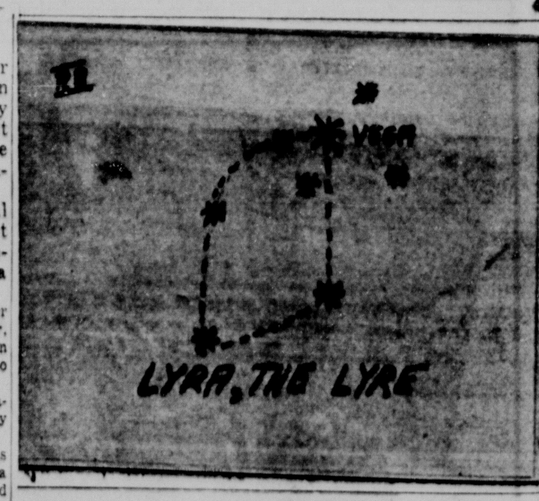

The god Mercury, when he was a small child, once picked up a little turtle. He carefully removed the shell and made it into a lyre. He then gave it to Apollo, the sun god, as a present. Apollo, in turn gave it to his son, Orpheus.

Orpheus Plays Lyre

Orpheus became quite a famous musician, because he could play music upon his lyre which even charmed the wild beasts.

Now it happened that Eurydice, the wife of Orpheus, was bitten by a snake whose poison was deadly. Her death caused Orpheus great grief.

The king of the land of departed spirits took pity on Orpheus and said that he could bring his wife back to the land of the living providing he did not turn around to look at her while he was leading her out. Orpheus, just as he was about to leave the land of the departed spirits, decided to take one small, quick look to make sure that Eurydice was following him.

Of course you know what happened. His looking back caused him to lose his wife forever.

The gods then, because of the wonderful music that had been played on the lyre of Orpheus, placed it in the skies for all to see.

Cooked foods which are easy to chew reduce the work of the jaws and teeth. Some scientists believe that is why modern man has a small jaw bone.

Riddles

Ronnie Leavell, of Winchester, has sent us some more good riddles. Here are some of them. (We'll print more another Sunday.)

1. What kind of umbrella does the president's wife carry on a rainy day?
2. What word do most people like best?
3. Why does a milkman have a white horse?
4. What should you do if you find a horse in the bathtub?

ANSWERS —

4. Pull out the plug.
3. To pull his wagon.
2. The last word.
1. A wet one.

Could you guess Ronnie's riddles? Maybe you know some good riddles, too. If you do, write them out and mail or bring them to —

GIVE AWARDS AT BLUFFS COMMENCEMENT

Roberta Ellison

Nancy Mains

Virgil Huseman

Fred Barnett

Janis Meier

BLUFFS—Commencement exercises for the Senior Class of Bluffs High School were held Tuesday evening, May 28, in the School Gym. The address was given by William Skaddens.

The awards were presented by S. L. Murdock, superintendent of the Bluffs school, as follows: The athletic award was given to Fred Barnett for outstanding athletic participation. He has a total of fifteen letters out of a possible 16. Four years in football, basketball, track and three years in baseball. He was co-captain of football in his senior year.

The music award was presented to Roberta Ellison who has been a member of the Band, Chorus, vocal ensemble all four years and has entered a saxophone solo in the music contests and in her senior year went to the state contest.

Miss Ellison, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Major Ellison, was the valedictorian of her class. Besides participation in the music program of the school she has been a cheerleader for four years, section officer for F.H.A., a member of the National Honor Society and of the Yearbook staff.

Miss Nancy Mains, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mains, was salutatorian. She has been a member of the band, chorus, vocal ensemble all four years, cheerleader for four years, a member of F.H.A., a member of the National Honor Society, the yearbook staff and other activities. Her point average was very close to that of Miss Ellison.

On behalf of the Charles Wolford Post 441, American Legion of Bluffs, Mr. Murdock presented the American Legion awards to Miss Nancy Mains as she possesses the qualities required by the Legion in making these awards. Virgil Huseman, son of Mrs. Luke Little, received the Legion award for the young man with those required qualities of honor, citizenship, courage and scholarship. He was president of his class for two years, president of the F.F.A. and a member of the National Honor Society.

Rev. Harold Dodson presented the essay awards from the Bluffs Methodist church in the contest sponsored by the church. The essay was to be on the general theme of the relationship of the young person to his or her church and what they could do for the church. There were six entries. The first place went to Miss Roberta Ellison and the prize was fifteen dollars; second to Janis Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Meier, the prize ten dollars, and third place to Miss Mains, the prize, five dollars.

PICNIC, PARTY FOR ROODHOUSE EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATES

ROODHOUSE — The annual eighth grade picnic was held Tuesday afternoon and evening at the William M. Gilmore farm, east of Roodhouse. The graduating class of 55 members, accompanied by William Russell and Mrs. Helen Wheeler, members of the junior high faculty, spent the time fishing and playing games. At the supper hour, soft drinks and sack lunches were served. A number of parents furnished cars for the trip.

A party was held in the large car port and recreation room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Strain for the graduates from the local eighth grade Wednesday night following the promotion exercises.

The time was spent dancing and playing games. Mrs. Strain was assisted by a committee of eighth grade mothers in serving the lunch. Their daughter, Ann Strain, was one of the graduates.

Chapin Alumni Welcome Grads Into Membership

CHAPIN — The Chapin High School Alumni Association welcomed this year's graduates of the school into membership Saturday night at a banquet in the high school auditorium. More than 200 association members and their wives and husbands, recent graduates and faculty members were present.

The Mary and Martha Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church served the meal.

Following the banquet, Verne Hopper of Jacksonville played several accordion selections and Mrs. Alden Allen gave a humorous reading.

Dr. Stewart McKinney of St. Paul, Minn., a 1903 graduate, spoke briefly, filling in for the evening's scheduled speaker, former Chapin principal Russell Hovey of Rockford, who was delayed en-route.

Hovey arrived shortly after nine o'clock and reminisced informally about his experiences in Chapin, where he taught for 27 years before leaving to enter the insurance business.

Hovey remained in Chapin Sunday, visiting former students and other friends.

Patterson Grade Graduation Held

PATTERSON—The eighth grade commencement from the Patterson School was held Tuesday evening, May 29th, in the school gymnasium. The class colors were red and white, the motto was 'Loyalty" and the class flower was the pink carnation. The class roll included Barbara Dee Hallock, Bonnie Elizabeth Reno, Sandra Jane Wyatt, Bernice Wyatt Sonia C. Fitch, Janet Leonard, Fred Surbeck, Robert L. Dawdy, James A. Hiatt, Sam Davidson, Gary L. McMillan and Kenneth Newton.

As Mrs. Lane, the music supervisor, played the processional, the class, their teacher, Principal Barnett, Rev. Earl Bryan, Spencer Lane, the speaker, and Carl Kemp, president of the school board, were seated on the platform, which was attractively decorated with spring flowers.

The invocation was given by Rev. Bryan, followed by the Class Prophecy, by Sandra Wyatt, and the class will by Sonja Fitch. A song, "American Hymn," was sung by the class.

The presentation of the American Legion Awards, by Roodhouse Legion Post, No. 373, followed, with the honors going to Barbara Hallock and Robert Dawdy. Honorable mention went to Bernice Wyatt and James Hiatt.

Presentation of school awards were given by Mr. Barnett, and the spelling award went to Janet Leonard and track awards were given to Fred Surbeck and Kenneth Newton. The basketball awards to Robert Dawdy, James Hiatt, Kenneth Newton, Sam Davidson, Fred Surbeck had been given at a previous meeting as had the manager award, to Gary McMillan, and the cheer leader awards, to Bonnie Reno, Sandra Wyatt, Bernice Wyatt and Barbara Hallock.

Mr. Barnett then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Spencer Lane, Director of Admissions at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, who chose as his subject, "How to be very, very popular."

Following the address, Mr. Barnett presented the class to the president of the school board, Carl Kemp, who presented the diplomas to the class.

Benediction was given by Rev. Earl Bryan, and the recessional was played by Mrs. Lane.

Thus marks the close of another school year at the Patterson Grade school, with the pupils going back on Thursday morning to receive their report cards. Members of the graduating class went on a trip to New Salem Park Thursday.

RETURNS TO ARMY DUTY IN VIRGINIA

CONCORD — Pvt. Charles E. Hamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hamm, has gone to Fort Lee, Va., after spending a week at the home of his parents. He was inducted into the army on March 6 and was stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for eight weeks. He will be in Virginia for eight weeks of schooling on supply handling.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Johnson and son Victor of Albion, Neb., were visitors at the home of Mr and Mrs. Robert McAllister.

Connie Nickel has returned home from Iowa City University, Ia., where she has been a student for the past school year.

Approximately one-third of the world's sugar is produced from sugar beets, two-thirds from sugar cane.

Attorney Speaks At Roodhouse 8th Grade Promotion

ROODHOUSE — Attorney G. K. Hutchens of Carrollton, spoke before the eighth grade class Wednesday night at promotional exercises held in the school gymnasium. Attorney Hutchens spoke on "Why We Believe in Education." He was introduced by superintendent Charles C. Barlow, who also presented the students to William H. Wolge, president of the board.

Contrary to custom, two other members of the board were invited to present the diplomas, Ray Campbell and James Orr, who had young people in the class.

Music for the program was furnished by pupils of the junior high school under the direction of the music supervisor, Mrs. Arthur T. Broche. Accompanying the children at the piano was a high school student, Barbara Barrow.

Charles W. Brooks, commander of the local American Legion post, made the awards as follows: Vicki Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Campbell, and John Michael Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henry. Runners-up who received honorable mention were Susan Newton and Philip Leroy Hopkins.

Invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. O. H. Phillips.

Centenary Thankful Pilgrims' Officers

The Spring Fellowship meeting held May 25th for the members and friends of Centenary Church who are over 65 or who have given 50 years of service to the church was attended by approximately 43 persons. This group decided to elect the following officers for the term of one year: Standing, left to right, Mr. Walter Patterson, treasurer; Miss Emma Hunter, secretary; Rev. C. A. Sullivan, vice president; Mr. Edwin Jackson, president. This group, after considerable discussion, adopted the name of "The Thankful Pilgrims." They made plans to meet informally on the second and fourth Fridays from one to five p.m. at the church. They plan to serve the church and the community by making cancer dressings and other worthwhile projects.

Literberry Club's May Breakfast At Southern Aire

The Literberry Woman's Club held its May breakfast recently at the Southern Aire Cafe in Jacksonville. The president, Mrs. Earl Myers, conducted a brief business meeting.

Each member of the club was assessed one dollar. The group voted to hold the June guest day picnic at the Literberry schoolhouse.

The Arcadia Woman's Club extended an invitation to members of the Literberry club to attend a tea May 23, at which a report was given of the state convention in Chicago.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Orville Foreman, guest speaker, discussed "What's Happening To the Bill of Rights in the United States Constitution?"

The program committee of the club suggested a tea for the May, 1957 meeting in observance of the 30th anniversary of the club's founding.

Health Official Addresses Lions Club In Waverly

WAVERLY—A steak dinner, prepared by the school cooking staff, was served at the regular meeting of the Lions Club, held in the school cafeteria.

During the business session Dr. R. E. Lee, chairman of the picnic grounds committee, reported the cost of constructing two new tables. It was voted to buy lumber with which members will make two tables that will be placed in the Lions' portion of the park.

Respect was paid to two deceased Lions. Bill R. Johnson, a former member of Waverly club, and Pat Knowles of Jacksonville, who had visited the Waverly club and taken part in activities here on many occasions.

Dr. C. F. Deatherage, the program chairman, introduced Dr. Franchi of the Illinois Health Department, who addressed the club on the use of sodium floride in drinking water as a means of preventing tooth decay.

A resolution to treat the Waverly water supply is now in the hands of the Waverly city council. Mayor George Romang and four members of the City Council were present to hear the address.

Robert Hughes was appointed program chairman for the June 4 meeting, which will be ladies' night. The season's last meeting of the Lions Club will be June 18. Installation of officers will be held.

Chapin Circle Names Officers

CHAPIN — The Mary Martha circle of St. Paul's Lutheran church met May 24 at the church. The meeting opened with devotions and announcements by the pastor, Rev. Matzke.

Mrs. Wilbur Tappenbeck and Mrs. Albert Swagmeyer gave a very interesting report on the district LWML convention they attended as delegates. Thirty-six members answered roll call with a Bible mother. The Circle will pay for the LWML song cards and clean the church on June 13th. It was also decided to serve lunch for the children attending Bible school. Committees for each day will be posted on the bulletin board in the church basement.

The following new officers were named: president, Mrs. Russell Werries; vice president, Mrs. Delbert Fricke; secretary, Mrs Carl Tiemann; assistant, Mrs. Alvin Weber; treasurer, Mrs. Loren Brockhouse and assistant, Mrs. Fred LaKamp.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer. The rest of the afternoon was spent socially. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Loran Fricke, Miss Eda Eckhoff and Mrs. Eugene Nienhiser.

Mrs. Carl Engelbrecht, Mrs. Wayne Brockhouse, Mrs. Robert Nergenah, Mrs. Fred Fricke and Frances Gaddis were guests.

Dedicate Hall

Kingdom Hall, 350 West Independence avenue, was dedicated Wednesday by Jehovah's Witnesses with a gathering of 116 persons in attendance. The speaker was Paul Lemmons, special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Hall was built during the past year, mostly by labor furnished by Jehovah's Witnesses.

Mr. Lemmons stated that "while the cost of this building was small compared to the 2 billion dollar temple King Solomon had built for Jehovah, both served the same purpose, that of carrying on the true worship of God."

At the conclusion of the dedication talk, Robert Ullrich, a full time minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, read a resolution to the local congregation. It concerned their preaching work: how they would continue to preach and hold high God's standard, and how they would continue to help others gain Bible knowledge. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The program continued at 8 p.m with the Bible lecture "Which Church Did Christ Establish?" by Paul Haman, official spokesman of the Watchtower Society.

Ray Hacker is local presiding minister of the Jehovah's Witnesses. He said the congregation is appreciative of all work which made the new hall possible, and the dedicatory program a success.

Ashland Invites Suggestions For 1957 Centennial

ASHLAND — Another meeting has been held to discuss plans for next year's Centennial, and anyone interested in the Centennial is urged to attend these meetings or send in suggestions.

Bill Gardner heads the committee which will plan and handle the Centennial parade. Other members of his committee are Eldon Elledge, Harry Trone, Jr., Paul Anderson and Darrell Walker.

Howard Douglass is chairman of a pre-Centennial committee whose objective is the establishing of three road signs, to be erected before January, 1957, on the highways entering Ashland. These signs will direct attention to the Ashland Centennial and after 1957 will serve as welcome to Ashland signs.

Lawrence Clemons has accepted the chairmanship of the Pet parade committee. This event will be one of the features of the Centennial for the young people of our community.

CARSON ROSEBUSH TO BLOOM

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Helen Cobb, left, 1108 South Main, Jacksonville, and Anna Jones, Arenzville, students of Holy Cross Central School of Nursing, examine the historic Carson rosebush, which was transplanted from Jacksonville two years ago.

The original of this pink moss rose, which is ready to burst into bloom, was planted in Jacksonville in 1825 by Catharine Carson, famed pioneer nurse and midwife.

The Catharine Carson Loan Fund for Student Nurses, started in 1950 in a gift from the Jacksonville Kiwanis club, is making nursing education possible for Miss Jones and other student nurses.

Miss Jones and Miss Cobb completed their preclinical preparation in South Bend on May 29. They are having a brief vacation with their parents before taking up residence at Holy Cross Central School of Nursing at Our Saviour's Hospital on June 10 to begin their clinical period of nursing education.

Meredosia Girls' Swimming Party A 'Real Cool' Outing

By MRS. PAULINE STEINBERG
Journal Courier Correspondent

MEREDOSIA—It was a hot afternoon, well over ninety degrees, when Girl Scout Troop 51 met at the high school gym on May 22. The girls planned an outing—a hike to the beach, swimming, and a wiener roast.

Came the big day—May 31—seventy degrees, sunny, but with a strong northwest wind blowing The Scouts gathered in the Meredosia park and loaded their lunches in a car driven by Jo Ellen Steinberg, who was life guard for the party. No one expressed the slightest doubt of the temperature or suggested that the affair be postponed.

The brisk hike to the beach kept everyone warm. However, several girls stayed in the water only about fifteen minutes. The hardy ones lasted half an hour, and all changed to dry clothes in a hurry.

Meantime, Mrs. L. L. Lathrop, one of the troop committee, had come out, and soon she and Mrs. W. G. Steinberg, the leader, had a small, hot fire going that felt wonderful. Before long, weiners were roasting, quickly followed by marshmallows washed down by soda pop.

The cold weather caused the outing to be an hour shorter than originally planned, but no one complained, somewhat to the leader's surprise. The girls rode back to town in the Steinberg and Lathrop cars.

Girls taking part in the swimming (?) party were Linda Lathrop, Linda McCormick, Bonny Klopfer, Donna Knight, Doris Edlen, Andrea Surratt, Nancy Whiteside, Barbara Lansink, Sally Griebler and Audrey and Betty Dunmire. One prospective Scout also went, Rosiamary Edlen.

4-H Club Activities

LITERBERRY — The Handy Helpers 4-H Club met Monday, May 28, with Martha McGlassen and Linda Mallicoat as hostesses. The meeting was held at the home of Linda Mallicoat.

Shirley Ginder called the business meeting to order with group singing. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Prudy Ginder, after which members answered roll call with "my most interesting school tour."

Reports of members were made of the requirements of their 4-H projects of the year. Linda Mallicoat and Jeanne Petefish gave talks and Mildred Tucker and Martha McGlassen gave demonstrations.

Bunco was played during the evening and refreshments of ice cream, cake, vanilla wafers and a soft drink were served to those present.

Shirley Ginder will be hostess for the meeting Monday evening, June 11.

The Tipp Toppers 4-H club held its regular meeting at the home of Jane Birdsell. After roll call "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by everyone.

A demonstration was given by Gale Harton on testing good brownies. Talks by Sue Secrist and Mary Ellen Lammers covered work progress for brownies and clean up time. Mary Ellen Lammers assisted Mrs. Vernor in demonstrating the making of a funny cake.

The group is to take a tour of Mrs. Tuckers Tuesday, June 5, 1:30.

Mrs. Howard Brown of the Red Arrow Sewing Service gave a sewing demonstration.

Jane Birdsell and Norma Seigriest played several duets on the clarinet.

Each of the girls brought a small dish of jello or pudding for refreshments.

CONCORD—The Concord Busy Bee's 4-H club were served an outdoor meal Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Nickel. The supper was furnished by Mrs. Nickel and prepared by Connie and Jimmie DeFrates, Joe Rayborn, Mary Bennett, Jerry Martin, Ralph Walsh and Patsy Schall.

Patsy Schall, president, had charge of the meeting after the supper, opening with the pledge of allegiance to the American and 4-H flag led by Peggy Caywood.

The secretary's report was given by Carolyn Hacker, also the roll call. Mary Rayborn reported that the proceeds from the bake sale were $14.38. Part of this money was used to purchase song and recreation books. Following a discussion the date of Monday, June 4, will be the first day for the sewing projects and the regular meeting will also be at that time in the Methodist church basement at 2 p.m. CST.

The meeting was turned over to Helen Maye, who called on Patsy Schall to talk on choosing a pattern and cloth and a demonstration by Carolyn Ragan on measuring ingredients. Mary Rayborn told of things to do before you sew a garment and Phyliss Moss on know your pattern, type and size.

4-H songs were sung accompanied by Marilee Joeckel and Martha Vincent and Faye Hacker were in charge of recreation. Connie DeFrates and Jerry Martin were new members.

MUTILATION PROBLEM

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Dr. Mario Gonzales Ulloa reports there are 278,000 Mexicans with facial mutilations, most of them so bad that the victim cannot find work and lives in one parasitical form or another.

Dr. Ulloa, a surgeon, says it is a social problem surpassing blindness in numbers alone. But he says, more can be done with the problem because most victims could be aided and returned to society through surgical reconstruction.

Tall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

Copr. 1956 by W. Edmunds Claussen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Too many people are interested in Frank Ude, a drifter who came to town with Emmett Cash, who apparently is in bad repute in Cashtown, the town his father founded. In the Alhambra saloon a man named Milo Hackett picks a fight with Frank, who comes out on top in the encounter.

* * *

XI

LILY ARNETTE was waiting for him outside the saloon.

Frank was on his way to Swenson's stable after his horse but he veered in his direction when he saw her. Coming up to Lily he thrust has hand into his jacket pocket. She lifted her face, showing him an amused smile. "You're going to the hotel, Mr. Ude?"

He tipped his hat, offering her his arm to cross the side street. So the Alhambra knew his name.

He said, "I'm not staying at the hotel. Still, it's a pleasure to walk with you."

Lily smiled softly.

She took her small handkerchief and dabbed at the edge of his lips, where Milo Hackett's fist had broken the skin. It was the only acknowledgment she made that he had been through the fight, though his face bore the black and blue marks of Hackett's thumping.

Her eyes were clinging to him closely; this time he knew there was no coquetry. "You knew Ed Rambaut. Were you with him when he died?"

It wasn't a question the way she put it. She knew! The idea of her sharing this knowledge ran through him the way a sharp blade would punish him. Where had she gotten the information? From Norring, or directly from Emmett Cash? Those last few moments of Rambaut's consciousness recrossed his memory. Rambaut had tried to say something—he'd spoken Lily's name with his final breath.

A sudden insight gave Frank the answer to a puzzle. Lily knew where Jonathan Yates was.

"I wouldn't know who you're talking about," he said quietly and touched his hat to her. She continued standing in the hotel doorway, watching him cross the main road and strike for Swenson's alley.

He stalked back to the smithy in a perplexed frame of mind.

* * *

THE big Swede was feeding his chestnut grain when he arrived. His manner had altered since Frank left the gelding and he gave him a thorny look.

"Man ain't got no way to judge you, except by the company you keep. There's two saloons in town. One caters to men I ain't ashamed to be seen ridin' beside. You were seen in the other place."

"You're talking about the Alhambra?"

The big Swede sleeved sweat and black grease off his forehead and nodded. "It's become a hole that some day we'll see closed."

The fact the Swede said the Alhambra had become a hole was not lost on Frank—it implied it had not formerly been one. Frank remembered the newer lettering on the saloon's front that covered old man Cash's name and he was certain the smith was one man in Cashtown still loyal to the old order. He gently rubbed the spots on his face that were turning blue. "If they keep doing this to strangers you'll soon see the end of the Alhambra," he said flatly.

But Swenson wasn't satisfied. He had heard of Emmett being inside the restaurant with Frank, and of them both helping Juan to La Tour's office. "You sure you won't work for a woman?" he asked finally.

"I told it straight. Neither the chestnut nor me will work for women."

"The kind of a woman ought to make a difference to a man."

"It doesn't."

Swenson pulled his chestnut away from the grain bin and gave him over. He spoke with a complete disdain. "You're not the man for this range. I thought at first you might be the answer to Rafter C. Climb on your hull and cross the hills. You got guts and a gun—and no manners. I don't figure Cashtown'll miss you."

He jogged thoughtfully between the straggly false-fronts feeling the town's unfriendliness around him. The sun's white glare was in his eyes when he first saw Emmett ride from the brush thickets at the edge of the town. He knew the sheriff was looking for Emmett, and perhaps every man in Cashtown would be happy to turn him in. Yet Emmett rode into the road with a reckless flaunting of his danger that Frank admired.

And then came Emmett's laugh, a free, unrestricted sound, filled with camaraderie.

"Ridin' the hills, Frank?" Emmett asked.

* * *

FRANK'S answer came spiced with a contempt he wasn't able to control. "Seems like they don't look on you neighborly in Cashtown."

Emmett hunched a shoulder. "That why you got the scars?"

"Partly. A fellow they call Milo Hackett asked too many questions."

"Norring's man," Emmett murmured with a dull hate to his voice. "The outfit's in the hills waiting for you, Frank. You struck the boys' fancy the way you stayed beside Ed Rambaut."

Then Frank asked a question he had long considered. "Have you got a cattle spread? Or is this a horse outfit?"

There was silence before Emmett answered. Then: "Drift along and you can have your look. We're camped in an old homestead that belongs to Jonathan Yates. Not much of a place, but string along with us and see how soon we pick up better quarters."

A Garden of Beauty; And It's Family Fun

A few cents for packets of seeds, a bit of planning by you and Dad and then your youngsters can enjoy the healthy atmosphere and the feeling of proud accomplishment of having a garden of their own. It's family fun, too, for just a little basic guidance by Dad and you is all your youngsters need. The result is a lush garden filled with fragrant blossoms and fresh, tasty vegetables that seem extra good because your children grew them.

You and Dad can take a piece of paper, draw plans for a small plot of ground and then subdivide it. As you proceed at the kitchen table, explain to your youngsters what you are doing and if you have color crayons to fill in the divisions they will be even more impressed by your skills. Have several packets of flower and vegetable seeds alongside so you can ask your youngsters what they think of having this colored flower or that vegetable along-side each other. The colors on the seed packets will perk up your children's interest and all youngsters are flattered and pleased when you and Dad ask their opinions.

When the simple paper planning is done, get a yardstick or tape measure and measure off the area you wish to use in your yard. Your children can help, even if they are inaccurate, and they thrill with pride as they work together as a family and see the stakes and strings go up.

The National Garden Bureau suggests a plot 4 feet wide by 6 feet long containing both flowers and vegetables. This is an easy, workable size for your youngsters. The rows can be planted four feet in width 9 inches to a foot between the rows. This makes it easier for the children to plant, weed and keep track of their garden.

The only basic work you and Dad need to do is to help point the way for your youngsters. They can help you with the small amount of spading necessary to break the ground—they can help you sow the seed (watch out, though, they love to throw that seed around) and you can show them how to keep the weeds from spreading. There is no large investment needed in tools for your children either— a yardstick, a ball of twine, a hoe for forming the rows, a rake to cover the seed and a watering can.

As the seeds begin to sprout, take the youngsters out and inspect the garden whenever you have a free moment. A mere five minutes gives them the encouragement they need to make their garden a good one. The hours in the fresh air and sunlight are invaluable and diverts their interest into healthy channels.

When the flowers blossom and the vegetables are ready to pick, the proud smiles of your children are reward enough in themselves. When the garden is in full bloom you will have a beautiful plot that makes your yard outstanding; and you can use the blossoms in your home for floral arrangements. Yes, it will be a productive, fun-filled summer with the whole family working and playing together because you and Dad helped start a garden for your children.
